Children's Aid Society Requests $1,200 Appropriation

The county board this morning saw a preview of the county's safety motion picture, "When Drivers Gamble."

Made through the cooperation of the Outagamie County Safety council, Appleton Exchange club and the county traffic squad, the picture is in color. It was filmed by R. L. Swanson, Wilson Junior High school instructor, who filmed the city's safety picture, "Handle Bar Hazards."

M. F. Ziehm, Hortonville, vice president of the county safety council, gave a brief resume of the work and aims of the safety council. The safety film shows what might happen when drivers take chances and is dedicated to those persons, killed and injured, who were riding with drivers who didn't think. The picture also shows what is being done through engineering, law enforcement and education to eliminate hazards and to reduce traffic accidents.

108 Dead, 51 Sailors Missing; Relief From Cold Is Forecast

Subzero cold again froze much of the middle west today but relief was approaching the plains states where rising temperatures were forecast for tonight or tomorrow.

The toll of known dead in the areas ravaged by extreme cold for this time of year and one of the worst Great Lakes storms in decades stood at 108, not including 51 missing sailors.

Little Hope for Lives of Crewmen Lost in Lake Gale

Valentine, Neb., with 16 below zero was the coldest spot in the nation at 6:30 a. m. (C. S. T.), official reports of the weather bureau showed. Lemmon, S. D., with 24 below, was the coldest last night.

Eighteen sailors were known to have perished in Lake Michigan during the week's storms. Hopes of finding the missing crewmen alive were virtually abandoned.

Crews of boats that rode out the gale termed the storm the worst in their experience. The oil tanker New Haven Socony reached East Chicago, Ind., yesterday covered with ice and extensively damaged.

Senator Burke to Join Republicans

Washington—(AP)—Senator Edward R. Burke of Nebraska said today that his first act upon returning to Omaha in January would be "to go before the election commissioner's office and change my registration from Democratic to the party of opposition."

Burke, who was defeated for re-nomination last April, quoted the following excerpts from a letter which he said Wendell Willkie received from him today:

"The question for all but the hide bound partisan to answer is in which group he can more effectively battle for the principles in which he believes."

"It has become increasingly clear to me that the Democratic party, despite splendid accomplishment, cannot be depended upon under its present leadership to stand fast for the things that appear to me to be essential for permanent well being of our country."

"Feeling thus strongly I can do no other than to disassociate myself from the party of which I have been a life long member."

Constance Bennett Files Divorce Suit

Reno, Nev.—(AP)—Constance Bennett, screen actress, filed suit for divorce today from the Marquise de la Falaise de la Courdrey, charging that the marquise deserted her Jan. 1, 1937.

Miss Bennett, eldest of the three daughters of Richard Bennett, and the marquise were married in 1931. He was the third husband of Gloria Swanson.

The couple has been separated for some time. Last reports had the marquise in France.

Miss Bennett eloped with Chester Moorehead in 1921; that marriage was annulled two years later. In 1924 she became the wife of Phillips Plant; she divorced him in 1929.

Northern Colony Head Succumbs at Madison

Madison—(AP)—Dr. August L. Beier, 56, superintendent of the Northern Colony and Training School, a state institution for mental deficient children located at Chippewa Falls, died at St. Mary's hospital here last night after an extended illness. He entered the hospital Sept. 15.

Dr. Beier was a graduate of Marquette university medical school. He joined the staff of the Chippewa Falls institution as an assistant physician in 1908 and was appointed superintendent by the state board of control in December, 1919.

RESCUE VESSEL REACHES BATTERED FREIGHTER—This was the scene as the fishing tug Three Brothers pulled alongside the battered lake freighter Novadoc preparatory to taking off her crew during a snowstorm off Pentwater, Mich. Seventeen crewmen, several of whom are visible here, were rescued. Two others were reported lost. The Novadoc went aground during a two-day gale that lashed Lake Michigan.

British Again Raid Italians at Taranto

Royal Air Force Planes Also Bomb Berlin During Visit of Molotoff

London—(AP)—From hard-hit Taranto, at the tip of Italy, to Berlin the Royal Air Force's bombers struck last night, pressing home the offensive which the British say has crippled half of Mussolini's battle-ships and given the empire's combined sea-air power prestige throughout the world.

At Taranto, where three battle-ships and four other warcraft of Italy's hoarded battlefleet were reported crippled by naval torpedo planes flying in from aircraft carriers Monday night, planes of the R.A.F. bomber command followed up. The ministry of information said that they successfully attacked both harbor and docks, and that all returned to their base (perhaps Malta or Crete).

In Berlin, British bombs burst in answer to Hitler's newest stroke of diplomacy. They gave Russia's Premier Molotoff his first taste of what an air raid is like. Moreover, the air ministry said that the raiders bombed a railway station, freight yards and other objectives in mid-Berlin, despite miserable flying weather.

There was evidence, too, of aggressive British preparation for defense of Far Eastern bases and possessions.

An air marshal, Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, was made commander-in-chief in the Far East with headquarters in Singapore and it was disclosed that reinforcements had reached British bastions in the Orient.

Germany Gets French Protest

Vichy, France—(AP)—The French government announced today it had protested to the German armistice commission concerning the expulsion of French-speaking residents from the province of Lorraine.

A communique declared the Germans had given French-speaking Lorraine residents the choice of being expelled to Poland or France.

Many observers considered the declaration a grave obstacle to the new French policy of collaboration with Germany. It was the first public statement directed against Germany since negotiations were begun on a basis for cooperation towards European peace, and observers said it might mark another change in German-French relations.

Eight Sentenced Under Draft Act

New York—(AP)—Eight theological students who refused to register for selective service were sentenced in federal court today to serve a year and a day in a federal prison to be designated by the attorney general.

The students were "conscientious objectors" from the Union Theological seminary. When they were indicted Oct. 21 for refusing to register in compliance with the selective training and service act they pleaded guilty.

The court accepted United States Attorney John T. Cahill's recommendation for sentence, while noting that the maximum term possible was five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Federal Judge Samuel Mandelbaum said that if at any time within the period imposed the defendants decided to comply with the act the court would be "only too happy" to moderate the sentences.

He added that he did not believe the United States attorney would object if he gave each of the men the opportunity to register "at this last minute" before sentences were imposed.

"I should be most happy," said Cahill.

The roll of students was then called. Each reiterated his refusal. The offense of refusing to register is a felony under federal law, and conviction or a guilty plea bars a defendant from voting or holding public office in almost every state of the Union. The students will be entitled to ask for parole after serving one third of their terms.

Expect Britain To Get Bombers

Washington—(AP)—Big bombers for Britain—and perhaps bombsights of a long jealously guarded pattern were reported today to be major items on a new administration program for increasing aid to England.

Official sources were uncommittal about the bombsight, except to stress that the army and navy had no intention of releasing the prized, new sighting mechanism which is rated as one of the country's most important military secrets.

There were authoritative hints, however, that an earlier and highly effective type of bombsight may be made available to the British.

On the subject of the big, long range bombers, official reticence was less marked. While formal confirmation was lacking, authoritative reports were that 40 giant long range bombers would be turned over to the British before the year's end.

Vote Sunday Movies But Have No Theater

Bryn Athyn, Pa.—(AP)—Voters in this Philadelphia suburb approved Sunday movies in the general election, but found out today it didn't count. The elections board said the referendum had been placed on the ballot in error.

It didn't make a great deal of difference, though, because the borough has no theaters.

Six Convicted of Plot to Get Control of Gigantic Fortune

Philadelphia—(AP)—A conspiracy by which a family group hoped to wrest a $20,000,000 fortune from 20,000 other claimants was crushed under a jury's verdict today—with six defendants facing possible sentences of 20 to 110 years.

Isaac Newton Sheaffer, Newark, Del., interior decorator, and five kinsfolk were convicted yesterday of falsifying family-Bible records to support a contention that they were the rightful heirs of the late Mrs. Henrietta E. Garrett.

Thus ended another sensational chapter in a world-wide fight for the millions her Quaker-husband, Walter, built with snuff at the turn of the century and left to her with the admonishment not to "let the scalawags get any of it."

But the widow, who spent her declining years alone with her pets and servants, failed to heed his advice. When she died childless 10 years ago, she had bequeathed only a paltry part of the evergrowing fortune.

Then began one of the greatest treasure hunts in modern history. Claims poured in from virtually every state in the nation and many foreign lands. Even the state of Pennsylvania seeks the estate—by escheat. Court hearings were begun two years ago.

Sheaffer based his claim on his contention that he was an illegitimate son of Mrs. Garrett—born before her marriage to the snuff manufacturer. Convicted with him were a cousin, Samuel Miller, Wormleysburg, Pa.; and four sisters, Grace Sheaffer, Penfield, Pa.; Mrs. Ellen M. Sheaffer Taylor, Penfield; Mrs. Mary L. Sheaffer Eckman, Bryn Mawr, Pa.; and Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Sheaffer Gassner, Glenside.

Isaac and Grace Sheaffer each are liable to possible maximum sentences of 110 years each; Miller 20 years, and the others 90 years each. All have been released in bail pending motion for a new trial.

White House Leaves Adjournment Matter Up to Congressmen

Washington—(AP)—The White House took the position today that the coming showdown on adjournment was strictly a matter for congressional decision.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, announced late yesterday that President Roosevelt had no major legislative recommendations justifying submission to the present session.

Mr. Roosevelt, he said, likewise had no special interest in any measure on which congressional action is still incomplete.

Democratic leaders have summoned their forces back to Washington for a vote next Tuesday on an adjournment resolution which they hope will terminate the present congress and send the lawmakers home until the new congress convenes in January.

Republicans plan to seek defeat of the resolution, contending that the "emergency" state of world affairs made continuation of the session desirable in the national interest.

QUESTIONED—Lawrence Mertz (above), 43-year-old former cook at a Pittsburgh welfare center, was held with other bail in Philadelphia for Pittsburgh police who said they wanted to question him in connection with the food poison deaths of 12 men. Mertz declared he had nothing to be afraid of. "I didn't do it," he said.

College Ave. Building Sold

H. A. Gloudemans to Remodel Godfrinon Property to Lease

Henry A. Gloudemans, 603 S. State street, today announced that he has purchased the Godfrinon building at 341 W. College avenue from George A. Schmidt and Alex F. Sauter, who recently acquired it from the Godfrinon estate.

Mr. Gloudemans said he bought the building as a personal investment and intends to remodel both floors and lease them. The front of the building will be modernized, he said, for either one or two stores depending on who rents the building. The second floor probably will be made into offices, he stated.

The late J. B. Godfrinon operated a wholesale grocery business in the building until his death about a year ago.

President Rejects Bullitt Resignation

Washington—(AP)—William C. Bullitt announced today that President Roosevelt had declined to accept his resignation as ambassador to France. Bullitt issued a statement saying that he had submitted the resignation in writing on Nov. 7.

The communique issued soon after his departure said:

"During his visit to Berlin on Nov. 12-13, 1940, chairman of the people's council and Foreign Minister Molotov had talks with the Fuehrer and Reichs Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop."

"An exchange of views was carried out in an atmosphere of mutual trust and led to mutual accord on all important questions of interest to Germany and the U. S. S. R."

Although it was stated authoritatively that little, if anything, beyond this communique would be disclosed about the conferences, informed sources indicated that it was now up to Turkey to decide whether she would join the forces creating "a new order" in Europe.

(As the Russian-German conferences began, there was widespread speculation, never confirmed in Berlin, that the talks would center largely upon the role of Turkey, Turn to page 13 col. 7)

Westminster Rites For Chamberlain

London—(AP)—The ashes of former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain were buried today beneath the grey stone floor of the nave of Westminster abbey, resting place of many of Britain's historic figures.

Representatives of the royal family and members of the British cabinet attended the ceremony, the Anglican church burial service.

The 40 minute memorial rites were carried out in an atmosphere of peace and serenity despite the persistent air raids which Chamberlain had been unable to prevent.

At the close of the ceremony, Mrs. Chamberlain, heavily veiled, knelt on the floor, took an object from her handbag and dropped it into the two foot square, purple lined crypt.

Prime Minister Churchill, clad in a long black coat with an astrakhan collar, stood intent among his cabinet ministers throughout the service at the graveside.

The duke of Gloucester, brother of King George VI, represented the royal family.

Italians Try to Halt Greek Advance; Captain Tells of Invaders' Defeat

Athens—(AP)—The Italians were reported today to be withdrawing large numbers of troops from the Yugoslav frontier and speeding them to southern Albania in an attempt to halt the Greek advance in that sector.

The shift in the Italian troop masses was regarded as an indication not only that the Italians are on the defensive but that the British and Greek air attacks on the Italian naval base at Taranto and other Italian and Albanian bases had held up the transport of reinforcements from the Italian mainland.

Advices from the front said the Greeks were now in a position to dominate the important road leading southwestward from Koriza.

A dispatch from Ioannina said the Greeks not only were systematically penetrating Albanian territory but were seriously threatening vital Italian communication lines and that an Italian retreat "on a major scale" could be expected.

Italians Defeated

Some 20,000 of Italy's finest mountain troops who marched gaily into Greece on Oct. 28 were cut to pieces and routed by a comparative handful of 2,000 Greeks in an eight day battle which began on the 30th, a wounded Greek captain declared today.

The captain, 37-year-old Panos Kyriakou, said his men toiled 54 miles through the Pindus mountains in a continual downpour of rain for two days to make victorious contact with the invaders.

The Italians were caught flat footed, he said, and from that moment the story was one of deadly Greek bayonet charges up craggy slopes of close quarter combats with rifles and machine guns in ravines.

Begin Re-Trial of Chicago Lawyer on Conspiracy Charge

Chicago—(AP)—The state prepared to present to a criminal court jury today the first testimony in the second trial of Harold Jackson, Chicago attorney charged with conspiracy to defraud the Monon railroad of $50,000 in a personal injury suit.

In the first trial Jackson was convicted and sentenced to six months in the county jail. He won a reversal in the appellate court.

Prosecutor James A. Brown contended Jackson was responsible for perjured testimony by witnesses in behalf of Rosemary Kiefer of Michigan City, Ind., for whom Jackson obtained the damage judgment.

The girl was injured seriously by an automobile near her home in November, 1937, and in the circuit court civil case witnesses testified the automobile was thrown out of control by a faulty crossing maintained by the railroad.

Pope Asks Universal Peace Prayers Nov. 24

Washington—(AP)—The Catholic hierarchy has pledged support to United States defense efforts at the same time calling attention to the appeal of Pope Pius XII for universal peace prayers on Nov. 24.

The day of prayer was cited at a meeting of the archbishops and bishops yesterday as "a day of universal prayer for the war-afflicted of all nations and for the establishment of just peace and the reign of charity uniting all men in brotherly love."

Official Deny Newest Type of Bombsight Will Go to London

Washington—(AP)—Big bombers for Britain—and perhaps bombsights of a long jealously guarded pattern were reported today to be major items on a new administration program for increasing aid to England.

Drenched With Blazing Gasoline, Woman Dies

Sheboygan—(AP)—Mrs. Albert Richardson, 29, died last night of burns received when she was drenched accidentally by a pantful of blazing gasoline which her husband threw from their automobile trailer.

Richardson, an oil rigger, was using the gasoline to clean the trailer floor. It ignited from an electric heater and Mrs. Richardson ran from the trailer.

Germans Report 8 British Ships Sent to Bottom

Claim 5 Merchant Vessels are Sunk By One Submarine

London — (U) — Royal Air Force fighting planes roared to battle off the southeast coast today, the air ministry announced, and shot down 13 German dive bombers and one fighter seeking to cross the channel for daylight raids on Britain.

In all 15 planes were destroyed, the ministry said.

The British said two of their own planes were lost in the fighting, but the pilot of one was safe. The fifteenth German ship brought down was a heavy bomber.

Early this evening four bombs smashed into a department store in a London suburb, taking hundreds of homebound Londoners and shoppers by surprise.

Berlin — (U) — Destruction of eight British merchant ships, five of them by one submarine and the rest by bombing planes, was claimed today by the high command in continuation of German's intensified campaign against vital British shipping.

Severe damage to another vessel was reported.

The time and place of the submarine's forays were not disclosed by the high command communiqué, but the sinking of 28,840 tons of freight vessels was reported.

In bombing-plane onslaughts against a convoy off Kinnaird head, "heavily protected by anti-aircraft," a cruiser and other war vessels, the high command said, a 6,000-ton ship was sunk and another was "severely damaged."

A later attack exploded an 8,000-ton freighter, apparently loaded with explosives or munitions, the communiqué said, "completely destroying it."

In still another attack, 225 miles west of Ireland, a long range bomber sank a 6,000-ton vessel, the communiqué asserted.

"British planes," it said, "made nocturnal flights over German ter-

Salvation Army Worker May Benefit From Will

Los Angeles — (U) — If George Baird, who makes $250 a week and room and board working for the Salvation Army, can prove he is temperate and industrious he may boost his income to $250 a month.

The will of the late Madeline Frances Wills, who was 81 when she died Aug. 18, bequeathed the $250 monthly to a George Baird, son of an old friend, whose whereabouts she did not know. She made it clear, however, he would get the money only if he did not drink or gamble and had been steadily and gainfully employed.

Try to Raid London

London — (U) — Two light formations of German planes stabbed at London today but British reports said all were turned back by defense fighters before reaching the capital proper.

A few planes which reached the edge of the London area headed around without dropping bombs.

The Royal Air Force reported it cleared the skies in less than half an hour.

The first wave of about a dozen bombers, escorted by three high-flying fighters, crossed the Kent coast and headed for the capital at the same time as another wave of about 20 planes approached from the mouth of the Thames.

Weather in the Straits of Dover moderated after last night's gale, one of the worst of the year, which hampered the activity of night raiders.

In the 12 months since the first bomb of the war dropped on British soil in an attack on the Sheerness islands Nov. 13, 1939, the government has reported 2,875 raiding planes shot down during assaults on the United Kingdom and shipping.

This represents an approximate loss of about 7,200 men. Royal Air Force defense losses in this same period were reported at 615 fighters, but 405 of the pilots were said to have been saved.

Bombing casualties in the year were reported at about 15,000 killed and 21,500 wounded, 75 per cent in the London area.

Quill and Scroll Society to Hear Reports on Convention

Reports on the annual Wisconsin Editors' conference which was held last month in Madison will be presented Monday afternoon by delegates at the regular meeting of the Quill and Scroll at Appleton High school.

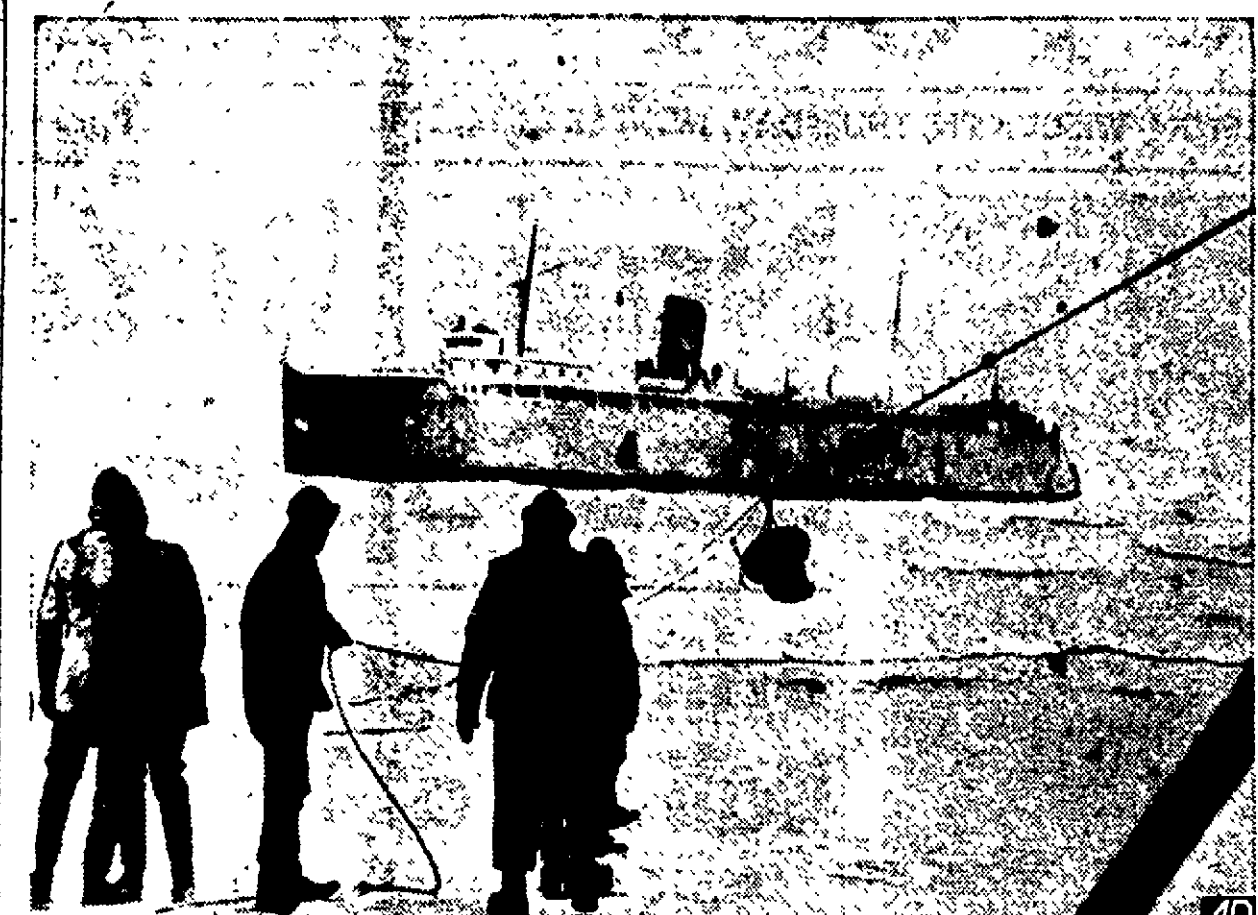

Phases of newspaper editorial work will be discussed by Tom Lettier, Janet Bixby and Elliott Jacobson. Representatives from the Milwaukee business staff will be Carl Goldbeck, William Koerner, Jerry Metrop and June Weisberger. Stanley Williams and Margaret Lally will report on the yearbook roundtables which they attended while Mary Fiedler, Fred Heinritz and Edward Reuter will discuss the problems of the business department of annual production.

Committees for the year have been announced by Beverly Olson, president of the local chapter, Quill and Scroll. Miss Esther Graef, mathematics instructor, and Miss Eleanor Treddinnick, commercial instructor, will be advisers to the business committee of Patterns of Stardust, annual literary booklet published by the society in cooperation with the English department. They will be assisted by Barbara Small, chairman, Goldbeck and Reuter.

Advertising by the publication will be managed by Miss Borghild Anderson, English instructor, Ann Smith, chairman, Natrop and Heinritz. Miss Anderson and Miss Arala Klumb, head of the English department, will supervise the editorial work. On the student committee are Miss Olson, chairman, Nancy McKee and Margaret Puth.

Miss Anderson is the faculty adviser to the motion picture committee. The committee in charge of selection is Miss Lally, chairman, and Dete Notaras. The place and menu committee for the annual alumni banquet will be sponsored by Miss Ellen Sweet, English instructor. Miss Fiedler is chairman and her assistants are Douglas Fox and Betty Hansen.

Invitations to the dinner will be sent out by Elaine Carlson, chairman, Koerner and Santhe Notaras. Miss Anderson is adviser. The program will be planned by Janet Jones, chairman, James Miller and Frances Wheeler. Bruno Krueger, head of the commercial department, and Miss Enola Brandt, Latin instructor, are advisers. Etta Manning will direct the foreign correspondence work and Miriam Carlson will take charge of the radio bulletins.

CAR FERRY AGROUND IN LAKE MICHIGAN STORM—The Pere Marquette railway car ferry City of Flint, with four passengers and a crew of 43, was run aground in the sands of the beach at Ludington, Mich., during a severe storm on Lake Michigan. It was feared that 65 mariners lost their lives in the storm. Here Coast Guardsmen are shown after they had attached a breeches buoy to the vessel.

Bombing at Taranto Boosts British Stock

New York — (U) — When Britain's Churchill said that the Taranto bombing of Italy's main battle fleet would have repercussions in naval affairs in every quarter of the globe, he was not exaggerating.

For it is more than a British naval victory, this reported crippling of half of Mussolini's hoarded battlefleets by Royal Navy bombers. It is above all evidence that Britain's superb fleet has an air arm which can strike with telling force in co-ordination with surface craft.

This becomes more obvious now that it is clear that the planes which bombed Taranto operated from two of Britain's remaining aircraft carriers. Incidentally, it is a vindication of this type of warfare, which lost much prestige with the sinking, earlier in the war, of the British aircraft carriers Courageous and Glorious.

The importance of the discovery that the British navy can fight effectively from the sky as well as from the waves needs no underlining in this total war between two great air powers and one great sea power.

World Wide Effect

It is pertinent, however, to follow the ripples from Taranto to other parts of the world.

The news could not have been lost on M. Molotov, Soviet Russia's premier and foreign commissar, who is on his way back home from Berlin today after having talked to Adolf Hitler, presumably concerning Germany's need for at least passive Russian support for a Balkan and Near Eastern land stab intended to outflank the British fleet in the Far East.

The British, indeed, did their best to keep Stalin's premier aware of their growing air strength by giving Molotov the first air raid experience of his life in Berlin last night.

Judging from what some informed Germans are offering today, Molotov appears to have given Hitler some reason to think that Russia will help to swing Turkey into the axis lineup in return for a Russian sphere of domination in between that allotted to Japan and that which Rome and Berlin have marked out for themselves.

Just how much Russia will do is yet to be shown, certainly, Stalin has made no open commitment. Moreover, it appears that no immediate military pressure is to be put upon Turkey.

The Germans seem to have convinced themselves that Russia believes Britain is done for. Yet this is highly debatable. It seems much more likely that Russia will wait for more decisive military developments in the European war before committing herself irrevocably to one side or the other. Russia's collaboration with the axis, then, will be measured by these developments.

Little is to be deduced from the German communiqué issued today, which says merely that the Molotov-Hitler conferences "led to mutual accord" on the important things in which both Germany and Russia are interested. It could hardly have said less.

But the Russians already have acknowledged British naval mastery in the eastern Mediterranean and now they are aware that the British fleet is something more than just a navy.

The Turks, however, must be heartened today by Taranto. It is the Turks who guard the Dardanelles and it is the Turks who hold the land bridge over which Germany may want to cross to the Near East and Suez. Taranto will stiffen the backs of the Turks and make it harder for Hitler to break their alliance with the British, even if Russia is willing to look the other way.

Taranto may have an effect even more immediate in the Far East. The Japanese, new partners in axis, are making military passes which indicate that they are about to penetrate to Saigon, in the tip of Indo-China, possibly in connection with Thai (Siam). That would put them on the flank of Singapore. Britain's great Far Eastern naval and air base, and it would put them in position to proceed to the Dutch East Indies.

But the British are sending Singapore an air marshal, the first of that branch to be chosen for such a post, to be their commander-in-chief in the Orient.

Now comes Taranto to show Japan what a team the British navy and the fleet air arm can make—and Japan, too, has an untested, if powerful fleet.

Gunboats on Way to Coast

Subchasers May be Held Up Because Of Damage by Storm

Chicago — (U) — The United States naval reserve gunboats Paducah and Sacramento headed out into Lake Michigan yesterday en route to the Brooklyn navy yard through the great lakes and the St. Lawrence river.

At Detroit, the two 220 foot boats will be joined by the gunboat Duquesne for the journey through Lake Erie and into Lake Ontario via the Welland canal.

The gunboats were a part of the ninth naval district flotilla ordered to the Brooklyn navy yard for repairs, after which they might be assigned to patrol duty.

The lake storm held ten of the training vessels—three subchasers and seven patrol boats—at Lurington, Mich. One subchaser was held at Milwaukee and one at Port Washington, Wis. The progress of those boats to the east coast might be delayed because of repairs needed as a result of the pounding they suffered in the Monday and Tuesday storms, naval reserve officers said.

The navy department ordered those boats to stand by until it was decided whether they should proceed through the lakes without repairs, be laid up for the winter, or undergo minor repairs in Chicago before proceeding.

Officers said the New York barge canal, through which the smaller craft were to sail, closes on Nov. 18 and it might be necessary to send them to the ocean through the Illinois waterway and Mississippi river.

Milwaukee Catholics Will Raise $250,000

Milwaukee — (U) — Archbishop Moses E. Kiley announced yesterday that the seventh annual Catholic charities appeal of the Milwaukee archdiocese would be held March 23 to April 6.

He said that the goal would be $250,000. Frank M. Surges, chairman of the Catholic charities council, will again be general chairman.

British Bomb Berlin as Nazi And Soviet Leaders Confer

Another gigantic split up in world "spheres of interest" was pictured by reliable quarters in Berlin today as the outcome of negotiations between Adolf Hitler and Russian Premier Vyacheslav Molotov.

With British bombs raining on the heart of Berlin shortly after Hitler and Molotov concluded their discussions, these quarters gave a description of the new soviet-reich accord.

Boiled down, the reported outcome of the Hitler-Molotov talks seems to indicate that Germany, Italy and Japan will not interfere with Russia if Russia does not interfere with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo triple alliance—in other words, a mutual "hands off" agreement.

Among this diplomatic farfare, London reported that Britain has struck another blow at Italy's big naval base at Taranto, following up an earlier attack this week.

British warplanes bombed the heart of Berlin, where Adolf Hitler was conducting secret negotiations with Russian Premier Molotov, London reported today, and struck another "successful" blow at Italy's big naval base of Taranto.

The British air ministry said R. A. F. bombers, raiding in the face of "extremely adverse weather," showered explosives on Berlin's Schlesischer railroad station and the Grunewald freight yards.

Dispatches from a British battleship off Taranto said royal navy bombers, attacking by moonlight, blasted at Taranto's inner defense in the first raid Monday night, leaving one great Italian warship aflame and two others beached or half submerged.

Aerial torpedoes and high explosive bombs crashed against the fascist men of war, the dispatches said, and sheets of fire leaped from the 35,000-ton Littorio—described by Italians as the fastest warship in the world.

Pilots reported that fires burst from the other damaged battleships, both belonging to the 23,622-ton Cavour class.

From London, it was reported that at least three of Britain's giant aircraft carriers are now operating in the Mediterranean, with the fleet air arm commanded by Rear Admiral Arthur Lumley St. George Lyster.

(Italy issued a denial of British claims that half the fascist capital ship strength was disabled, declaring the report was "fantastic.")

Meanwhile, an open flare of resentment against Germany's treatment as a conqueror was voiced by the French government today in a formal protest against the expulsion of French-speaking subjects from the province of Lorraine.

An official French communiqué said the Germans had told residents of Lorraine that the action was taken as a result of an alleged accord between Berlin and Premier Marshal Philippe Petain's Vichy government.

The protest marked the first open discord between the fallen French republic and Nazi Germany, and contrasted sharply with the recent elaborately staged "accord" meetings between Premier Petain and Adolf Hitler.

Soviet Russia's premier and foreign commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov, concluded talks with Nazi chiefs in Berlin today and turned homeward leaving the world wondering how Adolf Hitler might have profited from his visit.

His last night in the German capital was enlivened by an air raid alarm during which, Nazi officials said, British warplanes scattered bombs on the suburbs.

Shanghai sources saw indications, meanwhile, that the already shaky sovereignty of Indo-China was in danger of being toppled completely by Germany's new Far Eastern ally, Japan.

Reports from Shanghai quoted Chinese sources as saying that Japan was aiming at permanent occupation of all Indo-China.

On the Balkan warfront, Greek troops were reported to have scored new successes against the Italian invaders.

The high command at Athens said Greek troops had occupied new mountain positions on Albanian soil in the central sector of the battle zone.

German air raids on Britain during the night were hampered by bad weather.

Former State Pastor Dies of Heart Attack

Chicago—(AP)—The Rev. Hans A. Hanson, a Lutheran pastor here for more than 40 years, was found dead yesterday in his parked automobile, apparently of a heart attack. He was 77.

Born near Rochester, Minn., he was the son of the Rev. Osten Hanson, a pioneer Minnesota Lutheran clergyman. Mr. Hanson was educated in Red Wing, Minn., and held a Lutheran pastorate at Morrisonville, Wis., for 11 years' before coming to Chicago.

What Constipation Victims Suffer Is Delayed Elimination

WHY THIS STOMACHIC TONIC MEDICINE IS OFTEN NEEDED

When the bowels need help, the stomach often needs help too. When elimination of clinging waste matter and lingering acids is delayed, often you don't get full food from the food you eat. That's why you may suffer nervousness, sit up nights, endure the misery of indigestion. That's why you may drag out of bed in the morning feeling tired, rundown, incapable of doing your best work. That may be why you don't enjoy the fun of life and the thrill of relieving.

For real results, you've got to stimulate BOTH the bowels and stomach to carry on their normal functions. You can do it with ONE time-proven formula, Dr. Peter Fahey's genuine Alpen Krauter. Compounded from 18 of nature's smooth-working medicinal, Alpen Krauter is a real internal stomachic tonic medicine. It speeds digestion and increases the appetite. Alpen Krauter urges gentle removal of clinging, stale, old waste products that may make you feel "low" and played out. Ask for the original genuine Dr. Peter Fahey's ALPEN KRAUTER with laxative-plus action from your nearest Fahey Agent today.

Kaukauna V. F. W., Auxiliary Will Entertain Conference

Kaukauna—Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliary will entertain an eighth district conference of the organization Sunday.

V. F. W. business session will be held at the Lawrence street clubrooms, with auxiliary meetings at Park school. Most of the state department officers are expected to attend these meetings.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 at Hotel Kaukauna, at which time the new V. F. W. auxiliary banner will be dedicated. Those planning to attend the dinner are to make reservations with Mrs. Ed Ives or Mrs. Leo Nagan by tomorrow. On the dinner committee are Mrs. Jessie Birkenmeyer, Mrs. Marie Mertes, Mrs. George Egan and Mrs. Florence Luedtke.

Dancing will be held at the V. F. W. clubrooms in the evening.

Plans to initiate a class of candidates Dec. 12 will be completed at Kaukauna Elks meet tonight at Elks hall. A 6:30 dinner will precede the business session, with a social hour to follow. Standings in the membership contest, between old and young members, will be announced.

Mrs. Lawrence Ogilvie was hostess to the Tuesday Evening club at her home on W. Wisconsin avenue this week, with prizes at contract bridge going to Mrs. Earl Hilger and Mrs. Anthony Brussov. Mrs. Hilger will entertain the group Nov. 26.

Miss Adela Thelen, route 3, Kaukauna, entertained three tables of sheephead at her home Tuesday evening. Prizes were won by Miss Viola Wolf, Miss Blanche Gerend and Miss Beatrice Nettekoven.

$1 Investment to Net City $5,000

Jackson, Tenn.—Jackson paid $1 for a street car system in 1931. Now it appears the city deal will turn a $5,000 profit.

Because the owners of the private electric utility serving this area didn't want to be left with the trolley system after selling their other properties to the city and TVA, the street cars, tracks and so on, were thrown in for $1.

When the salvage of the street railway system is completed in the spring, City Engineer J. A. Gassell reports, "we shall have realized approximately $15,000 from the original investment of $1. When all costs of salvage and repairs are charged off, there'll be a surplus of approximately $5,000."

Except for the cars the salvage material was sold through various agents. A Cincinnati firm bought most of the cars and dismantled them. The rest, now used for lunch stands, soon will be Jackson's lone reminder of her street railway system.

Jackson's population in 1930 was 22,172. The city is now served by buses. The trolley system had less than a dozen street cars.

The great San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge has proved a financial success, resulting in toll rates being reduced several times.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

How To Relieve Bronchitis

Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Holy Cross Eleven Undeclared; Holds All Foes Scoreless

Kaukauna—Holy Cross griders have completed the season with one of the best records in the history of the school, according to Coach Bob Promer. In six Catholic conference games the team was undefeated, scoring 206 points and holding opponents to none.

The conference record shows Holy Cross 19, St. John's, Little Chute, 0; Holy Cross 13, Holy Name, Kimberly 0; Holy Cross 46, St. Mary's 0; Holy Cross 52, St. Mary's, Appleton 0; Holy Cross 27, St. John's 0; Holy Cross 49, St. Mary's 0.

The squad should produce some graduates who have something to say about high school football soon, the outstanding prospect being Dave Flanagan, captain and fullback. Other regulars were Pat Flanagan, D. Ristau, David Gustman, Richard and Mark Verhagen, Ervin Lucassen, James Kramer, Leo Eimmerman, Dick Oudenhoven and Bob Van Dyke. Substitutes were Eugene Vandehoy, Frederick DeBruin, George Foegen, James Egan, Arthur Nagel, Bill Gaff, Cornelius Hatchell, Wesley Wheaton, Henry Macs, Thomas Eting, Clayton Kieffer, Clyde Kieffer, Jim and Emil Giordana.

Seniors Drill For Class Play

3-Act Comedy Will be Presented Nov. 28 in Civic Auditorium

Kaukauna—A veteran cast is rapidly whipping "Oh Professor," high school senior class play, into shape, according to LaRue Smith, faculty director. The 3-act comedy will be presented Thursday evening, Nov. 28, in the civic auditorium.

The play's setting is in a private school for girls, with Robert Bolinske, who has had experience in oratory, extempore speaking and debate, taking the part of the professor, although in reality he has never taught before. He takes the part of one of the instructors who leaves the school. Marion Hopfensperger, who began her high school dramatic career with a part in the freshman play, has the leading feminine role, that of Pat Patterson, who has come to school from Paris.

Bette McCarty, who also was in her freshman class play and in Little Theater productions, plays Bertha, a peppy student. James McGrath, another forensic veteran, has the role of Dr. Aristotle, scholarly dean of the college. Lillian VendeYacht is cast as Fuff, a student with money attending with an eye for fun only.

Others in the cast and their roles are Margaret O'Connor, as Belle, another student; William Van Liesch, Professor Percival Courtwright; Verna Krueger, Mademoiselle Fifi; Peggy Brandt, Jean, another student; Jack Hahn, Jake, the janitor; Dolores Derriks, Miss Fredericks, the dean's assistant, and Sherman Rogers, Jimmy Anderson, who enters the school as a girl.

Family Reunion Is Held at Maple Creek

Maple Creek—The home of Mrs. August Scheel, 81, in the town of Maple Creek, was the scene of a family reunion last Sunday as her nine children, 17 grandchildren and six great grandchildren gathered at her home.

Those present were Mrs. Helen Thompson, Brighton, Colo.; William School and sons, William and James, and Mr. and Mrs. William Schmelz, Milwaukee; Mrs. Martha Schmelz and Blanche and Harold from Appleton; Mrs. Fred Baerwald and son, George, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schneider, New London; Miss Fern Krueger, Clintonville; Mrs. Francis Schwartz and children, Ardis, Vyril and Dawn, Northport; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Meyers and Dorothy and Jean, and Mrs. Clarence Krause, Crivitz; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Scheel and children, Louis, Helen and Arthur, Louis Lorge, and Paul and Gertrude Scheel, Maple Creek.

Kaukauna Power Plant to Begin Operations Soon

Municipal Project May be Ready for Work in December

Kaukauna — With brickwork on the powerhouse moving to completion, the city's new power project is expected to swing into operation about the middle of next month.

Lower rates for users of electric power have been forecast as one of the results of the development, which it is hoped will attract new industries to Kaukauna.

When completed the entire project will involve a cost of about $600,000. The Works Progress Administration gave an original grant of $232,000, to construct the tailrace, excavation and dam and to purchase the certificate of the state public service commission the city will be allowed to develop 2,400 kilowatts at the new plant, or more than 207,000 kilowatt hours per month. If the city has an outlet for the power it can ultimately develop 5,600 kilowatts. A 2,400 kilowatt generator is being installed in the power house, and the house base has been extended south to allow for another unit in the future.

22-Foot Head
A head of 22 feet will be available at the plant. Generation at 100 per cent water will give 2,400 kilowatts 88.5 per cent of the time.

Installation of a 3,200 horsepower waterwheel is being finished, with an engineer from Kaplan Automatic Waterwheel company, York, Pa., in charge. The workmen now are busy working on the dam below the Badger plant tailrace.

Completion of the job means the end of almost two years of work, which began after the city secured the right to 100 per cent of the flow below the Badger plant by trading the 32 per cent which came with Patten's mill to the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal company. The city acquired the mill property, along with the water right, at a tax sale in the summer of 1937.

Argentina Described At Rotary Luncheon

Kaukauna — Robert Radsch, New York lawyer visiting in Appleton, spoke to the Rotary club yesterday noon on conditions in South America. He devoted most of his time to Argentina, describing that country as in a state of transition from an agricultural nation to an industrial one. He commented on efforts of the United States to achieve political and economic cooperation with South America.

Lions Hear Talk on Cub Pack Organization

Kaukauna — Kaukauna Lions heard a talk by Ralph Sues of the Fox valley boy scout council on organizing a cub pack as the club met last night at Hotel Kaukauna. The Lions have voted to sponsor such an activity, with Joseph T. Sadler, Roman Berg and Norbert Becker on the committee in charge.

Movie Land Its People and Products

NEW PORTRAIT—Katherine Hepburn, who plays the role of Tracy Lord in the film version of the Philip Barry stage success, "The Philadelphia Story," which also stars Cary Grant and James Stewart, posed for this portrait before leaving the coast.

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—Recently I columned: "What is it about Robert Stack that prompts so many 'secretly married' rumors?"

In a letter from the East (where Stack is knocking ladies cold on a p. a. tour with my esteemed contemporary, Louella Parsons) comes a reply interesting enough to bear publication.

"I've been at this hotel—stopping place for the Parsons unit—for several days (the letter reads) and have had the opportunity of seeing Stack's fans wait in the lobby for hours. I've heard girls murmur ohs and ahs at his every appearance, and I've watched them tear at him for handkerchiefs, buttons, anything removable. I haven't witnessed such fever since Gene Raymond appeared in a Pittsburgh theater several years ago.

"Out of curiosity, I talked with some of these women. Their general comment was: 'Bob Stack is clean-cut, wholesome and American!' That word 'American' was repeated often—in fact, one elderly woman (too old to imagine herself infatuated with Bob) said: 'He's the type of boy every American mother would like as her son.'"

"Perhaps this answers your question. I feel that women adore Stack because he's the ideal hero of the moment—masculine and typically American, which is right in step with the times."

I'm not sure the letter answers my original query. But it is a fine summary of how the public, especially the feminine public, looks upon Bob. Last January I selected him as the best among Hollywood newcomers. Today that opinion is even more pronounced: Bob Stack, typical American boy, can be a new Wallace Reid!

A neat—and somewhat amusing—piece of hijacking is reported today from 20th Century-Fox. Seems a score of extras had been stationed on the roof of a building for a riot scene in "Western Union." Suddenly

Weather May Spoil Dedication of New Weather Bureau Home

Washington —(P)—The United States weather bureau has waited for 32 years for a new home and now it looks as if the dedication ceremonies may be spoiled by all things—the weather.

Should it rain tomorrow—and rain is just what the weatherman orders—officials frankly don't know what they'll do about the cornerstone laying. It being a difficult feat to lay a cornerstone from the inside out.

There seems to be only two choices:

1. Let all participating dignitaries get soaking wet.
2. Postpone the ceremonies. "We find ourselves," lamented one weather forecaster, "in the same predicament of the millions of Americans whose plans for picnics and outings have hinged on the whims of the elements."

Pupils Told How to Restore, Conserve Natural Resources

Editor's Note—Each day of National Education week from Nov. 11 to Nov. 16, The Post-Crescent will print an article prepared by a member of the Appleton educational system designed to acquaint readers with the function of schools and education in the American way of living.

BY R. L. SWANSON
Appleton Education Assoc. Member

Three hundred years ago a white-tailed deer stood on the banks of New England and looked up to see a ship under full sail plowing through the water on its way to a new land. The deer returned to browse again. In this ship were hungry men and women looking for food and shelter in a continent called America which was rich in minerals, forests, and soil. They set foot on a continent whose natural wealth and beauty exceeded all others—whose land surface occupied not more than 6 1/2 per cent of the world, but possessed 45 per cent of the world's wealth—whose virgin forests extended from the Atlantic to the Mississippi—whose prairies were a sea of flowers in the spring followed by a thick covering of buffalo grass—whose mountains covered rich deposits of lead, silver, and gold—whose rivers and lakes were filled with clean, sparkling water and game fish in abundance. America was endowed with an unequalled heritage. Such was the setting for the dramatic conquest of our outdo-

The newcomers converted the forests into homes, tilled the soil, and drained the marshlands. They dug into the earth to obtain its riches. Most of these riches were free. However, hard labor had to be expended upon them before they were available for use. This early settler furnished. Thus with the physical resources and much labor, as the original capital, America started on its way to supplying 62 per cent of the world's oil, 33 1/3 per cent of its copper, lead, zinc, and coal, fifty per cent of its cotton, and twenty per cent of its wheat. Because there was an abundance, conservation rather than conservation was foremost in the minds of these pioneers. Why conserve? What is the difference if a field is gullied or a forest is leveled? There is no end, so they thought; nature will replace the soil, plant more trees, and propagate the fish and game. Furthermore, conservation did not seem a necessity to them.

Resources Wasted
This lack of understanding and foresight has had its effects. In a short period of 300 years, nearly half of the original soil fertility of the nation has been lost. We have today, due to lack of vision, 670,000,000 acres of barren forest and abandoned agricultural lands in the United States. We have ruthlessly hacked down, and burned down, millions of acres of trees; not one-tenth of the old forest remains. The bowels of the earth have been gouged and robbed. Water resources have been exploited; animal life and fish life reduced to a small fraction of the original stock and, finally, in our great midwestern dust bowl, wind erosions in the form of dust storms has literally carried farms to the four corners of the earth. Waste has been a large factor in our use of those resources.

Wise use is proper use. There is still time to save our remaining resources from waste, to utilize them more wisely, and to rebuild those which are possible for man to replace. Techniques of conservation are well developed, but universal application of them is needed. Through the agricultural colleges, forest services, the department of agriculture, and conservation agencies, much progress has been made in the development of conservation techniques. But, in the end, individuals will save or bankrupt America. The farmer, miner, fisherman, hunter, lumberman, capitalist, and all who share in shaping public opinion, have a responsibility to help safeguard natural resources. Each individual is a responsible custodian of our own nation's fate as well as the fate of our children.

Each citizen should become so acquainted with the problems of conservation that he can help to decide the action needed to administer wisely for today as well as to administer wisely for tomorrow.

The schools of today are pointedly working towards this end. Through them the facts and the spirit of conservation are being instilled into the minds and hearts of young American citizens. Beginning with the early grades and continuing through high schools, pupils learn the story of the world of the outdoors.

They learn that valuable resources have been wasted; but also, that there still is an abundance of them to provide all the people with the material needs of life. They find that there are ways to save and enrich the soil; agricultural education in rural schools stresses the techniques of soil conservation. Pupils learn that forests must be replenished because they exert a very desirable influence on stream flow, water supply, climate, and the air which we breathe. They learn that water pollution is a major problem of this nation. They develop an understanding of the importance of clean, pure water. They learn that swamps and lakes are nature's storage reservoirs for excessive rains and that these swamps and lakes provide a source of underground water as well as a nesting place for waterfowl. They also learn about propagation of bird life and how bird life helps to keep in check the insects that would otherwise destroy it.

Finally, schools teach that nature does have a plan and that for man to disrupt it is to punish himself. From the very beginning of our nation's life, our social, political, and economic welfare has depended, to a large extent, upon our bounteous natural resources. We have learned, to our sorrow, that these resources are limited. We also have learned that if we wish to continue upon our present high standard of social and economic life that we must not only conserve the resources which are left but also must restore those which are replaceable.

Flush Poisonous Waste and Acid From Kidneys

GAIN IN HEALTH

If you aren't feeling just right—are nervous—have dizzy spells and occasional backache—study your kidneys and learn more about yourself.

Through the delicate filters of the kidneys, acid and poisonous waste are drawn from the blood and discharged from the body thru the bladder—sometimes these filters are less active than they should be because of excess poisonous waste and kidneys do not function properly—they need harmless stimulation.

One reliable medicine, highly efficient and inexpensive is GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES. This tried and true medicine should make you feel better in a few days—it's an effective diuretic and kidney stimulant that relieves the pains caused by gouty phases of sciatica, neuritis and rheumatic joint agony when irritated by excess uric acid.

So if you have such symptoms of kidney trouble as backache, nervousness, getting up two or three times during the night—scanty or smarting passage—leg cramps—moist palms or puffiness get a 35 cent package of this grand and harmless diuretic at any drug store—it starts the first day on its errand of helplessness.
Don't be an EASY MARK and accept a substitute—Get Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—the original and genuine. Look for the Gold Medal on the box—35 cents.

Remember? There's Christmas Shopping On Calendar Again

It's not too early, Postmaster Stephen Balliet believes, to remind residents of Appleton and vicinity that early Christmas shopping and mailing lightens the Christmas rush both for them and the post office staff.

During the holiday time, volume of mail increases about 200 per cent and it is impossible to handle this volume of mail efficiently and promptly within a few days.

"Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings, and letters a week or 10 days before Christmas, according to the distance," Balliet advises. "This will make it certain that they are received before Christmas day."

On and Off the Record With Unity and Disunity

Ambassador Kennedy claims he told the Boston Globe reporter who wrote up the recent interview with him that the entire discussion "was off the record." If he made that statement his wishes should have been respected. But the reporter says Mr. Kennedy merely designated certain statements as "off the record" and that these statements were withheld.

However, Mr. Kennedy did not deny the substance of what he was reported to have said. He claimed inaccuracies crept in.

The incident shows how statesmen droll up their utterances for the people. And it reveals how a drolled up statement, although it may be seemingly accurate, is not to be compared with the rougher version of candor.

Mr. Roosevelt says the European war is an effort to destroy our form of government wherever it may exist and that therefore England is valiantly battling to preserve American democracy. Mr. Kennedy's undolled statement rips a rapier right through Mr. Roosevelt's attitude. It runs parallel to what the Post-Crescent has reached from the outset. But what of it? If the President is correct, America should fight. If Mr. Kennedy is correct America will have no less sympathy for England but will not toss its all into the struggle.

So we come to the question of unity. What is it? And what is disunity? Mr. Roosevelt said on Armistice Day that those who declared there was no benefit obtained through America's victory in the last war were guilty of "an unpatriotic service." He asserted that our victory had borne fruit but he did not specify what fruit. Every war bears some good fruit. The draft law of 1917 cornered escaped convicts. The physical examinations exposed incipient tuberculosis and other physical ailments that could be and were repaired. But that fruit was not of victory since it would have been the same in defeat. Our conception of that last war and its results coincides with the opening paragraph of Mr. Willkie's Armistice Day address:

"Twenty-two years ago today a great conflict raging on the battlefields of Europe came to an end. The guns were silent. A new era of peace began and for that era the people of our western world—our democratic world—held the highest hopes. These hopes have not been fulfilled. The democratic way of life did not become stronger—it became weaker. The spirit of constitutional government flickered like a dying lamp. And within the last year or so the light from that lamp has disappeared entirely upon the continent of Europe."

If this were a mere debate we wouldn't care what was said or how anyone construed America's participation in the last war. But unfortunately it is of fundamental effect upon prevailing American policies. If our former war entry was right it is no less right to enter again.

There is an old saying that "Whom the gods destroy they first make mad" but before they become mad they must become light-headed. We believe America made a great blunder in entering World War No. 1. The fruit it promised died upon the tree. Misrepresenting that struggle, and the way in which we became parties to it, can lead to the light-headedness necessary to a repeat order. If unity under Mr. Roosevelt means joining the march along the light-headed course, we do not think much of unity. If disunity means constantly checking even the President when sentiment, fervor or ghost writers lead him astray then the word will ultimately take on a glow of warmth and loyalty.

The public should be glad of the misunderstanding between the reporter and Mr. Kennedy and remember that, fundamentally, the struggle in Europe is a struggle for business and dominance, a warm place in the sun. America's sympathies are naturally in England's favor because England does business on the up-and-up in comparison to the Reich. America may make reasonable gifts to England but disdains taking bonds that never can be paid. If we need a precedent for such a gift look at the tribute we are now paying Mexico.

The cold truth puts us on England's side because of our material interests. We need no misstatement of issues or exaggeration of the consequences to find our place.

But a people who could rise above the filth, stupidity and needlessness of that other war, as did our people, and overflow with courage, fortitude, self-sacrifice, generosity and compassion, have earned for themselves something steadier and truer than a ring in the nose or a Lorelei song by which to head them again to useless mutilation and calamity.

Wisconsin Highways and Defense

E. L. Roettiger, chief engineer for the state highway commission of Wisconsin, in a forthright statement for Wisconsin Counties, organ of Wisconsin county government, examines the Wisconsin public road system in relation to potential national defense needs and finds it wanting.

Now we are aware, of course, that highway officials like other bureaucrats are likely to exaggerate the importance to the public of their own phase of public affairs. It is very probable that were we to give the state and local highway officials of this state a free rein, they would build more, bigger and more expensive highways than we want or need. There is also the likelihood that "defense needs" will become a much overworked expression.

In the present instance, however, Mr. Roettiger's comment is timely and sound. To us in the Fox River Valley his unflattering references to the condition of Highway 41, the principal route through the Valley, appear especially well taken. We are keenly aware that although this section is the second most important economically in the whole state, it is served by what is undoubtedly one of the poorest and most ineffective through highways on the map.

Roettiger's point is clear and emphatic. Highway 41, as the connecting link between the two great industrial and population centers of Wisconsin, bears a vital relation to present-day defense needs.

The highway commission has long been prepared to take action to improve this important route—when highway funds are available.

Now everybody knows that if the state government would allow the highway commission to put its receipts into the highway system, as intended, there would be no question of availability of funds. The diversions from highway receipts in two years would be sufficient to rebuild Highway 41 on a modern basis.

We commend Mr. Roettiger's clear statement to the Republican state administration, which had something to say about highway diversion in its 1938 state platform, although it was knowingly silent in 1940.

Oleo in the Campaign

While the Progressives pounded Governor Heil on some early statements of his concerning Wisconsin's oleo law there is no immediate prospect of its repeal, and as we construe a later statement made by the governor he does not presently favor its repeal.

The oleo prohibition law cannot be upheld and yet it cannot be repealed. It cannot be upheld because it is in reality a barrier to interstate commerce. And it should not be repealed because numerous other states have enactments to suit what they think is their special interests and which also trespass upon interstate commerce.

The Roosevelt administration is alive to the seriousness of the danger to the free movement of American commerce by these repeated acts of states sincerely passed expecting to benefit their people and not accomplishing anything of the kind. The administration appointed a commission to make a survey of these barriers. That survey was an eye opener to most people, certainly to the Appleton Post-Crescent in respect to the extent to which the commerce of the country has been affected by these enactments. The administration's commission spared no words of condemnation. It sought to show that those intended to be benefited were not benefited at all. It is the same old trouble. The eyes must be lifted from the toes to gather a fair view.

But certainly Wisconsin would be foolish to now repeal its oleo law when it may use it as a lever. Let all states together repeal these barriers. That is the only just proposal under the circumstances.

But by the time this happy result ensues we may not care about an oleo law. Dairying has become so extensive in the south that the states that once wanted to ship up their fats and oils in the form of oleo may be themselves moved to putting the greasy stuff out of business. Our competitor is changing from oleo to the dairy industry of the south which is not an improvement for us.

Russian Spies

London newspapers say that the trial of Tyler Kent, formerly a clerk in the American embassy at London, and Anna Wolkoff, a Russian, was the most sensational of the war, but follow with the information that the proceedings were kept excessively secret, doors to the court room locked and guarded and heavy brown paper pasted over the glass panels in the doors. Witnesses were driven to and from the trial in closed cars with curtains drawn.

The court's denunciation, the only thing made public, characterized the conduct of the accused as reprehensible beyond description, detailing only that there was something involved about stealing documents, making copies of them and then sending them to Berlin.

One spy does not commit a nation but the number of Russians who have already been apprehended sending information to Berlin leads to something more than a naked suspicion that if the German and the Russian armies are not combined the German and Russian espionage systems are.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—For about 100 years, the vice president of the United States has been either a pure figure-head or else a trouble-maker in the family of his chief, the president.

Tom Marshall, vice president under Woodrow Wilson, is remembered only for his remark: "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar."

Charles G. Dawes, vice president under Coolidge, became famous when his alarm clock allegedly failed to go off and he arrived at the capitol too late to change a tie vote.

Charley Curtis will only be remembered because of his social war to place his half-sister ahead of Alice Longworth at dinner. And Jack Garner will go down in history because of his private refrigerator and his covert opposition to Roosevelt.

None of these vice presidents was an active worker for the head of his administration; many of them deliberately hindered it.

Now, however, for the first time in recent history, we have a vice president who, instead of being a sore-thumb, will be a right hand of the president. Wallace was trained under Roosevelt and can be counted upon to be a great asset, not a deterrent.

It is not supposed to be known yet, but already Wallace has discussed ideas with the president whereby he will work on three important problems. They are:

1. To act as liaison officer between the White House and congress. This is the most important job of all.

2. To act as a sort of ambassador-at-large in cementing Good Neighbor relations between the United States and Latin America, especially where congressional affairs are concerned.

3. To formulate plans for shifting the nation's industrial economy from armament to a normal basis, after the war is over.

These plans are not casual gestures; Wallace is very serious about them. Regarding the Good Neighbor program, for instance, he has been studying Spanish for months, and soon will visit Costa Rica, Mexico and Panama, in order to polish his Spanish further.

And regarding plans for shifting the nation's economy to a peace-time basis when the war is over, Wallace already has asked two advisers to draw up recommendations on this, particularly a plan to decentralize overcrowded industrial centers by a nation-wide low-cost housing program.

Aside from these, however, one thing is certain. Henry Wallace will not confine himself to calling the senate to order at 12 o'clock noon. He will be the most hard-working gentleman to occupy the vice presidency for many, many years.

Admiral Namura, who is expected to be the new Japanese ambassador to the United States, served for many years as naval attaché in Washington, where he became a genuine friend of U. S. naval officers. He was realistic, hard-boiled, but a genuine friend. Also he had a forthright sense of humor.

One illustration he gave of U. S.-Japanese relations is important to remember now. It shows what the Japanese think of us—perhaps with some justice.

"You in the United States," said Admiral Namura, "have been brought up on beauty rest mattresses. You have gramophones, radio, automobiles, plenty of good food. You don't want to fight."

"But in Japan, we have no beauty rest mattresses. To our peasants, a plain board is luxury to sleep on; while food in the barracks usually is better than that which a soldier gets at home. So our people are tough, your people are soft. That's why you won't fight."

Admiral Namura was referring not to a possible Japanese attack against the United States, but to the possibility that the United States might fight in the far eastern part of the Pacific to protect the Philippines or parts of China.

Admiral Namura, forthright, friendly, and honest, may find a different nation facing him today. However, his reports to Tokio should be a big aid in helping Japan and the United States to avoid wars, and really understand each other.

MORE G-MEN
Along with the speed-up in production of airplanes and tanks, there is a much less-heralded speed-up in the production of G-men.

J. Edgar Hoover is now turning out special agents of the FBI at the phenomenal rate of 40 a week. The training course has been cut down from 15 weeks to 7 weeks, but the work is more intensive. And according to Hoover, mass production brings no decrease in quality.

Formerly, the Federal Bureau of Investigation had only 900 special agents, but a recent Congressional authorization boosted the figure to 1,500. Hoover now has almost attained that mark, with 1,310 trained and 160 more to be produced.

One man who graduates from the FBI school represents 1,000 who have tried for admission and failed. "Anybody who has read Sherlock Holmes," says Hoover, "thinks he can be a special agent. We get all kinds. Even psychics, and people who think they can solve crimes by looking at the stars."

A young man trying to get work with the state department listed as his qualification that he had delivered mail from the Berkeley (Calif.) post office during six Christmas holiday periods. . . . Everybody who enters Justice Murphy's chambers in the Supreme Court is asked by his secretary to sign a guest book. . . . U. S. army officers were wide-eyed over General Calisto Carnas of Honduras, when he was visiting Detroit. He has only one arm. Nevertheless, he shot a Garand semi-automatic rifle and drove an armored truck up a 45-degree grade. . . . When a ghoster writes a speech for Nelson Rockefeller, Nelson rewrites it completely, saying: "That's not the way I talk."

Navy Secretary Knox's private office has been refurbished with a set of handsome leather pieces, made by the same company that makes to order the chairs used by the Supreme Court justices. Despite this exclusive government business, E. O. Hultquist, head of the company, supported Alf Landon in 1936 and Wendell Willkie this year. . . . The Veterans of Foreign Wars are up in arms over a recent front cover of a national magazine displaying a dog wearing a sweater knitted in the design of the U. S. flag.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

TOMORROW'S TROUBLE

I shall not anticipate
Shorl that must come.
I must hear, early or late,
Its prophetic drum.

If I think about it now,
I shall not be strong
With the courage of the bough
When the storm blows long.

So I shall take every day
And its gift to me.
For if sorrow comes my way,
So will Bravery!

A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—Add to the now-it-can-be-told stories:

Friends of President Roosevelt are saying that the President felt certain all along that the American electorate had no appreciable feeling for the so-called third-term tradition.

While no man actually had ever tested it (either by seeking nomination or election for a full term), they say, the President, an astute student of political forces, had twice in his own lifetime seen how politicians and the voters felt about more than two terms in office.

In 1928, Coolidge had been President for five and a half years, and there was no doubt in the minds of the political observers of either party that he could have been nominated and elected if he hadn't come forth with his memorable "I do not choose to run" statement.

Only 16 years earlier, F. D. R. had seen his own cousin, Teddy, lunge into a campaign that, had he won, would have given him 11 years in the White House. And Theodore Roosevelt, in spite of the fact that he split his own party and got embroiled in a three-way fight, polled more than four million votes, only two million less than Woodrow Wilson. If there was any voting protest against the third term bugaboo, where was it? Wilson received nearly 120,000 fewer votes than the Democratic ticket, headed by William Jennings Bryan, had received four years before.

Could Go Back Farther

If these things weren't proof enough to the F. D. R. friends that the anti-third term war was more a political expedient—in both parties—than a ballot factor, all the President had to do was to dip into political history. It's well known, too, that he has done more swimming there than in the pools at Hyde Park and the White House.

President Cleveland, for example, although he was elected only twice, ran three times and each time received a popular vote of from five to five-and-a-half million.

When Roscoe Conkling, in his prolonged feud with James G. Blaine, looked about for a suitable candidate to run against Blaine, he picked Grant, although only four years before, Grant had just finished his second term. Conkling, considered one of the great politicians of his day, didn't hesitate a minute over the third term issue and although Grant couldn't get a majority in the convention, the third term had nothing to do with it and Grant held his block of votes for more convention ballots than any one had done before him. It was compromise on Garfield by warring factions in the convention that finally broke the deadlock, not fear that the electorate would turn down former President Grant.

President Jefferson, generally cited as chief opponent of the third term, served only two terms himself, but without protest from the electorate, he "ran the government" for 24 years, even deciding the order in which Madison and Monroe would succeed him.

Lit 10 Possibilities
Political historians usually list 10 men who either could or might have been elected for more than two terms. They are Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Grant, Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, Wilson, and Coolidge.

The fact that they didn't was not important so far as the "third term tradition" is concerned. What is important is that in not one single instance is there a record that fear the voters would desert them because they wanted to stay in the White House was the deterrent.

In other words, friends of the President say, he had weighed all these things, long ago and decided that if there were any votes against him because he was running for a third term, the chances are 100-to-1 those votes would have been against him if he were only running for his second.

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

Sixty-five scamen from the Jervis Bay have reached port, most of 'em badly wounded, and the great 'em put up against a sea raider by the merchant ship, with her little pop guns, stirs the world. Just when the skeptics get to claiming that might is everything an episode like this comes along to make 'em eat their words.

That picture of the Jervis Bay rushing to her death into the powerful guns of the sea raider, and keeping the raider too busy to sink the convoy will live a long time, and the poets and painters are working right now on Captain Fegen, with one arm "almost shot away," keeping his guns blazing until he went down with his ship.

The British are getting their innings, and to Mussolini whose three big battleships were given the works by the British at Taranto, must have pictures of an overtime contest just about now.

Molotov and Hitler who talked three hours on opening day talked four hours more yesterday. Fresh replacements were being rushed to the interpreters late last night, but whether they can hold out much longer is problematical.

I'll bet those two birds could talk and a stretch without either one once saying, "you're right," or "I agree."

Did You Say Axes, or Axis?

Under the Capitol Dome

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Although the opinion is general among Madison observers that the return of the New Deal to power for four more years will have put a crimp in whatever progress Phil LaFollette's new party may have made in the last year or so, NPA associates here appear not the least discouraged.

As a new party leader, LaFollette's record is clear, it is pointed out. Although Brother Bob was caught in a tight squeeze, and could not avoid supporting the third term and the New Deal for another turn, Phil uttered not a word on the subject during the whole recent campaign. As far as the record goes, his faith in the NPA as the instrument for a national political realignment is as strong and as valid today as it was three years ago when he coined the name and its emblem at the stock pavilion mass-meeting of the LaFollette faithful.

However, Wisconsin recruits to the new party idea are mighty scarce nowadays. As the feeling grows that the Progressive party may have to give way in state politics to the Democrats, there are fewer advocates of the NPA, which proposes to carry the Progressive standard outside state boundaries.

The recent campaign was illuminating in that respect. While LaFollette said nothing about Roosevelt or the New Deal, his colleagues in the party, including Orland S. Loomis, praised the New Deal while saying nothing about NPA.

In fact, Loomis was asked by an interviewer during the height of the canvass what he thought about the new party idea. "I'd rather not answer that," he answered frankly.

In 1925, Progressives are pretty well agreed that Loomis, by his surprising strong run against Heil last week, has earned the right to the nomination again in 1942.

Loomis' run, incidentally, caused considerable surprise to the politicians who had backed Stafford in the primary, and who believed that Loomis would never prove to be a vote-getter. Incidentally, the Stafford men had privately figured that the way would be wide open for them two years hence, but now they are revising their opinions.

STATE WAGES
Heil's recent declaration in favor of bigger pay for state employees won't sit well with some Madison employers who have long regarded the state service as a strong rival for personnel. In clerical positions, particularly, Madison business and professional men over the years have found their employees constantly lured away by the bigger pay, longer vacations, shorter hours, iron-clad security and other advantages of the state service.

Where Heil's attention ought to be directed, if he wants to do something about correcting state salary schedules, according to many observers, is in the institutional jobs. Servers in the hospitals and asylums of the state government has been notoriously lower, for comparably harder jobs, than in the rest of the state capital. Disparities between capitol hill and university hill have also been a sore point in the state service for years.

CALLAHAN
Several school men of prominence in the state are known to be waiting anxiously for some word from John Callahan, ancient and veteran state superintendent of public instruction, about his plans for a reelection campaign, if any. His four year term will expire next year, and will be filled in the next spring elections.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

PHANTOM ULCER

In most cases of peptic (duodenal or gastric) ulcer there are periods of activity or increase in the severity of the symptoms alternating with intervals of quiescence in which the patient is comparatively comfortable.

In not a few cases of "stomach trouble" presenting many signs and symptoms of peptic ulcer X-ray studies fail to corroborate the diagnosis and the course of the ailment as influenced by the therapeutic test proves that smoking was the cause of the peptic ulcer complex. That is to say, a few months after the patient stops smoking all of the symptoms clear up—the phantom ulcer ceases to haunt the victim.

Don't ask me how you can tell whether your stomach trouble is of this nature. If the trouble isn't serious enough to warrant a trial of the therapeutic test on your own hook, it isn't worth writing to O'Doc Brady about.

Here it may be well to remind readers in general that it takes perhaps a few days to get "all the nicotine out of the system," just as it takes perhaps a few hours to get all of the monoxide out of the system in a case of carbon monoxide poisoning, but how long it will take to repair the damage done the body tissues, cells, organs by the poison, if the damage is irreparable, is another question. So this therapeutic test begins when smoking is finally given up and continues for at least three months if it is to be of any value at all. I'm sorry about this, believe it or not. But what did I tell you many and many the time? I have always urged temperance upon smokers, not only for the good of health but also for greater enjoyment or solace from the use of tobacco. And I have specifically defined the difference between temperate use and the excess of the tobacco hog. Moreover by sympathy is not the gush dispensed by some advisors — I have a monograph on the Tobacco Habit which is yours for the asking if you provide a stamped 3c envelope bearing your address—I give the service, you pay the freight. In the monograph I suggest remedies to aid in correcting the habit and its ill effects, but do not look for any remedy which can be administered secretly or without the victim's knowledge and earnest co-operation, for there is none in the monograph or anywhere else.

What are the symptoms of peptic ulcers? That, my friend, I hope, is strictly the doctor's business, and the layman, no matter how much he thinks he knows or how little he thinks an "ordinary" doctor knows, had better leave the question to the doctor.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Sick Headaches
I understand you have a very successful remedy for periodic sick headaches. I have suffered from them for many years, and have to count on being completely out of commission at least twice a month for a day or two. If you have anything, (MRS. L. T.)

Answer—Send stamped envelope bearing address and ask for monograph "Why Have Headache?"

Grape Seeds
When eating grapes it is dangerous or injurious to swallow the pulp with the seeds and all? Have often enjoyed standing beside the vines and shooting them into my mouth as fast as I could pick them (hull not included). Must I deprive my children of this fun? (H.W.E.)

Answer—The seeds are rather beneficial. No harm is done by eating grapes as you describe, as every one should eat them, including the children. No basis for years about grape-seeds causing appendicitis etc.

B Complex and Diabetes

Have diabetes, suffered for a long time from neuritis. On your suggestion started taking vitamin B complex. Doctor said nothing could control diabetes in high strung persons like me. Result, now need 8 units less of insulin than I required before I took B-complex, feeling fine, not so emotional or "feeling strong," no more neuritis pains. . . . My doctor said what the prescribed (brewers yeast) was just as good as the B-complex you suggested. . . . (A. K.)

Ans. — Your doctor was right—it doesn't matter what source of B-complex you prefer, as long as you get enough. Unit for unit, yeast is as good as any other source. Only you'd have to eat a lot of yeast to get the 900 international units of B daily which one with diabetes should take for a few months if he tries B at all. Supplementing the restricted diet with vitamin B has enabled many diabetes patients to get along with less insulin. But that is incidental. The main thing is that diabetes patients are likely to have unrecognized vitamin B and perhaps other vitamin deficiencies which must be corrected before the patient can make headway.

Soy Bean
Please tell me if the soy bean has the same properties as other dried beans. (P. R. A.)

Answer—Soy beans have higher nutritive value than other beans, mainly because of higher oil or fat content. The protein (nitrogenous or meaty material) of soy bean has biological value superior to that of other beans—it is complete, whereas protein in other beans is incomplete; that is, soy bean protein includes fair amounts of the amino acids essential for good nutrition, and protein, of other beans is wanting in some of the essential amino acids. More about amino acid thing (not soy bean particularly) in 90-page "Feeders Digest," a guide to right eating, for copy of which send 25c and stamped envelope bearing your address.

Beauty and You

By Patricia Lindsay

SERENE BEAUTY—Youthful Virginia Vale has a serene beauty which is free of pouting or frowning lines.

If we could see ourselves as others see us we most certainly would correct some of our facial expressions! Without realizing it we invite aging wrinkles by squinting, frowning, showing anger, feeling sorry for ourselves and in other ways.

If you have a couple of mirrors around look into them frequently when you are not intending to fuss with your face. Try catching your normal expressions as you go about your work or recreation. You'll find yourself straining to see something in a poor light or without your glasses. You'll catch yourself frowning as you concentrate on the bills of the month or a disturbing letter. Or perhaps you indulge in self-pity and that, my dears, causes your mouth to droop, wrinkles to appear in your forehead and around your eyes.

One of the best beauty habits a woman can adopt is to lift her face muscles frequently by smiling. Smile when you are alone. Smile when others are around. Watch yourself in the mirror as you smile. Note how wrinkles dim and your face looks several years younger.

About Wrinkles
The best thing you can do for wrinkles is to prevent them from forming! For once they do appear they quickly deepen and it takes a lot of treatment to make them disappear.

Keep your skin nicely lubricated and if it is very dry use a wrinkle cream at night before going to bed. But don't just pat it on your skin and hope for miracles. Massage it well. Palm your forehead from the center out keeping your eyes closed. For eye wrinkles use your two first fingers and rub firmly from nose out and upward. It takes a circular massage with the first three fingers and a rich cream to smooth out mouth lines. It takes more than that—the smiling expression I mentioned above and an uplifting masque treatment at least once a week. A chin band worn at night or for an hour or two during the day also helps to keep the face muscles firm and lifted. Any sagging muscles will cause a crop of wrinkles—so keep your face muscles lifted!

Frequent splashing with warm water followed by cold tends to tone the skin and muscles by stimulating the flow of blood to the face. Chill the water with ice if it does not run cold from the tap. You see the warm water opens the pores and the cold splashing closes them. By alternating them you are forcing the pores to exercise.

Always protect your skin from the elements by wearing a foundation cream or lotion when you go out.

Doubled on Hand With 2 Face Cards

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Last Thursday's Questions
Question 38: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	4 spades	Pass

You are South, and hold:

♠42 ♥AQJ863 ♦53 ♣AJ8

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. You have already told your full story. North obviously has a strong spade-diamond two suiter and an acute dislike of hearts. With the strength implied by his jump diamond bid, North probably would have jumped the bidding on the first round if he had had any sort of fit with your suit. You can stand four spades with your hand and have no right to experiment with any further bidding (20 points for five hearts or four no trump; 30 points for five clubs or five diamonds; 40 points for five spades; 50 points for any higher bid.)

Question 39: Neither side vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	Pass	Pass

♠A6532 ♥A104 ♦K83 ♣Q4

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. North's preemptive bid would be justified with as few as seven winners, altho, of course, he may hold eight. Hence your strength will be required to fulfill the contract, and there is no good ground for you to hope for a slam. (20 points for four no trump; 30 points for four no trump; 30 points for any higher bid.)

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 no trump	3 diamonds	Double	Pass

West's double on a hand containing only two face cards was based on his certainty that his side was better off than the opponents at a diamond contract. His partner had announced four honor tricks and he had one. With five honor tricks in the combined hands, the opponents could have four at most. West had four diamonds and his partner had shown three by the no trump bid; his side, therefore, had seven diamonds to six for the opponents.

West knew, furthermore, that a game at no trump was very unlikely to be successful, whereas the penalty South would suffer at two diamonds would adequately compensate for the loss of a part score.

Had North rescued at three clubs, the partnership might have saved a trick in the play, but such a bid would have been a leap in the dark.

West opened the nine of hearts, gummy covered with the jack, and East won with the king. The jack of spades was returned, South ducked, and West overtook with the queen to continue the hearts. On winning with the ace of hearts, East promptly cashed the 10 and led another spade. South put up the ace and led a club. East won with the queen of clubs and led his last spade. West winning with the king, a club was returned to East's hand. A club was returned to East's hand. A club was returned to East's hand.

At this point South's hand had been stripped of all cards except trumps. The 13th heart was led thru, and no matter how he played, South was bound to lose two trump tricks. In all, he took only three trumps and the ace of spades, for the substantial penalty of 700 points.

A Wedding Anniversary "Procession"

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are soon to give a party on our silver wedding anniversary. I don't want to have a second wedding and repeat our marriage vows as some people do, but I would like in some way to effect some sort of a procession with our original attendants.

But if we stand to receive our guests—which as host and hostess I suppose we do—then how can we have a procession with wedding music? Perhaps you know a way.

Answer: You can have a member of your family (a daughter perhaps) receive for you, and then make your entrance as you suggest. After your guests have all assembled the doors are opened and you walk in to the music of the wedding march in the order of the recessional, and take your place where you will receive. I agree with you about not repeating the service.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad, however, to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "Wedding Anniversary." Be sure to send a three-cent, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of this paper, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

Unwittingly many parents teach their children the "Mayflower Complex" by giving them expensive toys with which to ritz their playmates. Since they have not earned or created those toys, they are riding to fame among their associates on parental bounty instead of their own skill as boxers or swimmers, skaters or dressmakers. Notice the beautiful example of Bess today in contrast to Wilma in yesterday's Case Record. Bess will never be a cry baby wife for she has already learned to win attention by hard work and self-control.

CASE S-128: Bess C., aged 13, is a sister of Wilma in yesterday's case.

"How do I look?" she eagerly inquired when I saw her recently, and she prouetted gracefully to flare out her skirt.

"My goodness," I exclaimed, "where'd you get that pretty dress? You'll go broke spending all your money for clothes like that."

"I didn't buy it," she replied. "At least, I bought only the goods. I made it myself," and her cheeks flushed with the pride of accomplishment.

"You're joking!" I exclaimed with due incredulity. "Why, it takes a grown woman to make such fancy clothes."

"No, it doesn't," she corrected me. "And that isn't all. Come and take a look."

Then she led me into her bedroom where two more dresses were neatly spread upon the coverlet.

"I made them, too," she proudly informed me. "I'm taking them to the 4-H display next week. Maybe I'll get a prize."

This case is a good contrast for Wilma's of yesterday. Instead of using operative scars and physical ailments as her chief means of gaining public attention, Bess is learning to win acclaim by doing constructive things.

Yesterday she sent me a quarter section of a cake which she had baked. It was very good, too. Her 4-H club work, therefore, is fitting her for constructive citizenship.

She is being taught to earn her right to public attention. She is learning that the pay off in life is on what she DOES!

Show Off Children
The desire of children to show off, is a universal and perfectly natural.

But be sure you tactfully steer their thinking so they will try to show off their own creations and accomplishments.

Teach them how to play baseball and swim. Help them learn to ride a bicycle or dance and sing. Train them to bake good cakes and pies. Show them how to sew and skate; how to box and chin themselves on a branch of a tree.

Be careful, moreover, that you don't shower them with expensive gifts, as bicycles and ponies, doll buggies and clothes.

If they begin to "highhat" their playmates because of these gifts, you have begun a dangerous habit. They are beginning to boast about things which didn't cost them any effort or work.

You are enabling them to ritz their companions because of your attainments; not their own. They are getting acclaim and public attention which they haven't earned. They are, therefore, developing the "Mayflower Complex."

Beware the Mayflower Complex. Sometimes it is well to give a shy, timid youngster a highly desirable toy so that he can more quickly win the admiration of his playmates.

But never do so, even under such mitigating psychological circumstances, unless you are meanwhile teaching him to swim or skate or to do other praiseworthy acts by which he can actually earn the admiration of his mates.

Last year we bought a pony for our two older boys, but did so on a 50-50 basis. We paid half and they had to pay the other half. Now if they want to boast about their pony, that is their legitimate privilege for they worked and saved their nickels and dimes for a year to pay for her.

Need Common Interests For Successful Marriage

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I am engaged to be married to a girl and, while she is a splendid person and I love her very much, there are many points about which we disagree. We are always fighting about these and parting, and then making up again. While that doesn't seem to make much difference now, it would not be so good after we were married, and it makes me wonder if we shouldn't call it all off now and see if we can't find somebody else we could get along with better. Here are some of the things we disagree about: I enjoy swimming very much. She hates it. She likes dancing. I don't like automobiles. It bores her. She enjoys being alone. I love people and can't stand being alone. She is very shy. I am not. I have definite plans for the future with which she doesn't agree. As you see, our arguments arise from lack of cooperation. What about it?

Answer:
Well, of course, if you wait to find a girl who is an absolute rubber stamp of yourself and who has just exactly the same ideas and tastes and point of view that you have, you are slated to be an old bachelor. There isn't any such animal. The poet's dream of two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one is all hokey.

No Understanding Women
Especially can no man and woman ever be exactly alike in thoughts and desires. The difference in sex precludes that.

There is a man's world and a woman's world into which the other can never enter. No man ever understands why a woman acts as she does, nor does any woman ever comprehend why a man does the way he does.

No man knows why a woman cries when she is glad; why her idea of a perfect day is tramping the stores and looking at things she will never be able to buy; why she expresses her love by nagging; why putting on a new dress can change her whole attitude toward

Inflation, if Permitted, Could Crowd U. S. Into Bankruptcy

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON

Washington, D. C.—Perhaps this is again twanging the harp with one string, but here goes a third piece on inflation, high prices due to the nearness of war and this government's gigantic rearmament.

If the upward price swing usual in such cases is permitted, it could double or treble the cost of the war to the government. Considering the very high debt with which we start, that could bankrupt the United States.

I don't like to clutter up a column with figures, but it is absolutely necessary that our people understand this subject. The following little table shows exactly what inflation did to war costs to all belligerents in the World War. It compares what the war would have cost all if the 1913 purchasing power of the dollar had remained unchanged, or exactly how inflation worked to multiply war costs.

Country	Direct Cost in Currency	Direct Cost in "1913" cent	Ratio per cent
United States	$ 26,593,000,000	$12,212,000,000	217
Associated powers except U. S.	78,528,000,000	21,238,000,000	369
Central powers	41,774,000,000	12,428,000,000	336

Total for all belligerents $146,895,000,000 $45,888,000,000 320

—This is the evil we must avoid this time. Nothing government can do in raising taxes or cutting expenses can have a fraction of the effect to "pay as we go" and reduce the burden of war on everybody compared to what it can do to prevent this curse.

Remember, I am talking not merely about the increased cost of raising the armed forces. Many times more to be paid by Americans for the necessities of life.

How can it be prevented? There are several indirect aids and one very direct control. Inflation starts with the development of shortages in various fields. In war, price is no deterrent. Defense material must be had. So frantic bidding begins. It must be stopped before it starts, or not at all.

Since shortage in the face of desperate needs is the cause, that is where the cure lies. The first aid is a system of priorities. This means simply that some steering committee lists the most urgent needs and says to all suppliers: these needs come first. Regardless of any higher price offered, you mustn't supply anybody else until these are satisfied, except with our consent in case of hardship. This goes far to prevent inflationary bidding.

Other Measures Can Prevent Deadly Spiral

A second aid is increased production of the shortage items, even at the expense of less necessities demands, such things as shifting plants, supplies, machine tools and other machinery, and subsidizing high cost domestic production of shortage items such as chromium and other alloys.

A third aid is "substitution," such as the use of glass and black sheets instead of tin for containers. A fourth is "conservation"—standardization of types and designs, prevention of all kinds of waste, salvage and restriction of civilian use of shortage items except where absolutely necessary. A fifth is voluntary reduction of civilian consumption by frugality drives, which can be very effective.

Finally, if necessary, it is quite practicable simply to make it unlawful for prices to rise above those of some certain day except, in particular cases of hardship, with the consent of a price stabilizing commission. This is an extreme measure, but we should not shrink from it if this deadly spiral ever starts.

I do not mean to suggest that we need to do any of these things. But we must all understand the disease and be prepared loyally to support these proved cures if ever the necessity arises.

William Pickett, Jr., President of Class

William Pickett, Jr., has been elected president of the eighth grade of Wilson Junior High School. Other officers are: Ila Mae Culligan, vice president; Shireen Reiss, secretary; Lester Ulman, treasurer; and Annette Krause, cheerleader.

defense of Mr. Wilson's efforts to keep the nation at peace after the Lusitania had been torpedoed in May 1915 and a large section of the electorate felt that American rights were not being protected with sufficient vigor. Many people forget also that in December 1916, just a month after the election, Mr. Wilson sent his famous note on peace to the belligerent governments and that the stock market broke badly because of a belief that peace might be negotiated. It was in the latter part of January, 1917, when Germany decided to disregard all her pledges given to the United States by announcing a campaign of unrestricted submarine warfare against any and all vessels, neutral or belligerent alike, which were to be sunk without warning.

The United States government broke off diplomatic relations with Germany on February 3. It was only after President Wilson failed on account of a filibuster in congress in March 1917 to get authority to arm American merchantmen that a chaotic situation on the seas was produced out of which America in April 1917, through a vote of congress, formally recognized a state of war as having been thrust upon us.

It is important to recall this sequence because it may conceivably be repeated and there will be critics who will say Mr. Roosevelt violated his campaign pledge. The president has no intention at this moment of dragging America into the war, yet few persons in Washington official life can be sure that the United States will not be in the present war before it is over.

Invasion Of Rights
How will America be dragged in? Not by action of the government here, but by action of Berlin. A formal declaration of war by the United States or Germany would seem unlikely. Invasion of American rights and interests amounting to an "attack" would give provocation for American action "which would be a recognition of acts of war by Germany."

The most likely source of entanglement will again be shipping. This time the British are being blockaded more severely than last time. In 1917, the United States was insisting on the right of her vessels to go from one neutral port to another without being interfered with. Today there are few neutral ports—those of Ireland and Portugal for instance, being open to American ships. But when spring comes and British losses of shipping reach the danger point, will the United States insist on her right to ship food and raw materials to England? America has altered her local laws by forbidding American ships to carry goods to belligerents, but this has not altered historic international law which gives neutrals the right to proceed from neutral port to neutral port and from neutral even to belligerent ports if non-contraband articles are carried.

Arms Embargo
Since it would take a repeal of existing neutrality legislation to permit American ships to resume the carrying of goods to Europe, the prospect of change in this direction seems remote at the moment, but so did the repeal of the original embargo on arms seem back in 1935—the statute was actually repealed by our congress after the commencement of the present war—something undreamed of a few years ago.

If America insists on conveying her own merchant ships, the chances of involvement on the naval sector would seem plausible. But if Britain is being badly squeezed in the spring, the same argument for using the American navy and air force may arise then as was heard when the cry for the over-age destroyers began. The reasoning is that if Britain is beaten, America will have to fight the war on this side of the Atlantic some day and that it is better to keep the war in European areas even if America has to assist in that sector. This is not the contention heard now for naval cooperation, but it can conceivably be made by the administration if world events force the American people to some new decision in the spring of 1941.

The best answer at the moment to the question, "Will America keep out of war?" is that America wants to keep out, but Germany will have to decide whether she finds herself compelled in desperation to disregard American participation and its consequences in a final gamble for victory. Herr Hitler, who was somewhat of a factor in the last presidential campaign, will really decide America's war or peace problem and probably before another 12 months have passed.

In 1939 the United States leather industry used 25,000,000 cattle hides, 45,000,000 sheep and lamb skins and 16,000,000 calf skins.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with burning and burning sensations show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Religion in Home Is Seen As Safeguard of Democracy

The future of America lies at the hearthstone, the Rev. C. H. Zeidler, pastor of Trinity English Lutheran church, told Franklin Mothers club in an address entitled "The Value of Religion in the Home" yesterday afternoon at Franklin school.

Family worship was pointed to as one of the most important means of insuring a better country, for, he added, when home ties are loosened evil days are at hand. He stressed the fact that the decay of France, once a strong nation, can be attributed to the fact that she lost something of religion.

The speaker urged his listeners to teach religion by example, by practicing forgiveness, understanding, patience and fidelity.

Standing committees were appointed by the president, Mrs. T. E. Barkow, as follows: Sunshine, Mrs. Andrew Kangas and Mrs. Genevieve Cook; bake sale, Mrs. R. D. McGee, chairman; Mrs. Barkow, Mrs. J. D. Reeder and Mrs. John Harper; constitution, Mrs. Lee Lurie and Mrs. Oscar Radtke; publicity, Mrs. R. H. Kubitz.

Hostesses yesterday were Mrs. Russell H. Peterson, chairman; Mrs. A. D. Wilkinson, Mrs. Maurice Lewis and Mrs. J. Van Handel. For the next meeting Dec. 11 Mrs. Edward Jung and Mrs. Ray Spangenberg will arrange the program and hostesses will be Mrs. Edward Nadel, Mrs. Emil Drees, Mrs. J. Wolf, Mrs. Russell Earling, Mrs. Frank Schroeder, Mrs. Wilbur Krantzsch and Mrs. Clarence Greiner.

Clergymen In Study of State Bill

Appleton Ministerial association discussed the Wisconsin sterilization bill, following the reading of a paper on the bill by the Rev. D. E. Forbush, pastor of First Congregational church, at a meeting of the association Wednesday noon at the Y. M. C. A. The group decided to study it further when and if it comes before the Wisconsin legislature again.

Formation of a bowling team among the ministers was discussed and it was announced that those interested will meet at 10:30 Monday morning at the Y. M. C. A. alleys. A report was given on services conducted the first Monday of each month at Riverview sanatorium and the third Sunday at the county asylum.

Final plans were made for the union Thanksgiving services at 10 o'clock next Thursday morning at Memorial Presbyterian church at which the Rev. Mr. Forbush will speak.

Mrs. A. Pehlke, 827 N. Division street, was hostess to the reading circle of First English Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon at her home. The next meeting will be Nov. 27 at the home of Mrs. Ernest Sonntag, 614 N. Bateman street.

Sunday school teachers of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church will meet at a 6 o'clock dinner Friday night at the home of Mrs. A. Gebheim, 605 Seventh street, Menasha. The Christmas program will be discussed.

Thirty women attended the social gathering of Montefiore Ladies Aid society Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sol Blum, 314 N. Lawe street. The members sewed and knit during the afternoon. The next event for the group will be an evening party Nov. 27 at the social center with Mrs. J. Shapiro, Mrs. S. Shapiro and Mrs. Sam Myers in charge.

Mrs. Orville Selig was reelected president of Junior Women's Missionary society of Emmanuel Evangelical church at a meeting last night at the home of Mrs. John Fumal, 519 E. Roosevelt street. Mrs. Clifford Selig was elected first vice president, Miss Florence Schmidt was returned to office as second vice president, Miss Jeanette Radtke was chosen recording secretary, Miss Ruth Duval was named corresponding secretary again, and Mrs.

Delegates authorized the directors to consider group hospitalization plans for farmers after Frank White president of the Minnesota farm bureau, told them the plan had been successful in Minnesota.

Joseph Franzke, Jr., was elected treasurer.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Remedy at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a costly ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your drugist 2½ ounces of Pine, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough remedy. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easy. You're never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results.

Pine is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guarani, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Club Will Try To Reduce Acres Of Posted Lands

Conservationists to Attempt to Make Areas Available to Hunters

The Outagamie Conservation club will make an attempt to reduce the areas of land posted against hunting, it was decided at last night's meeting at the county courthouse.

Many clubs, it was pointed out, post their grounds rather than give the general public an opportunity to hunt their areas. These clubs will be contacted to work out a program whereby all sportsmen may have the privilege of hunting on land which now is posted.

The conservation club's annual hunters' party will be held Friday evening at the senior high school auditorium. The club last night voted to hold a date Dec. 7 at the Cinderella ballroom.

Dr. M. E. Swanton, who took movies while on a hunting trip in Wyoming, last night showed the film, "Rudy Breuting," who also made the trip, told of their experiences.

The club talked about the purchase of a motion picture projecting machine and decided to try out a number of projectors before buying one.

A new system for feeding pheasants this winter also was announced. The feeding hoppers will be laid out in route form and each week club members will be appointed to look after a route. Expenses of feeding operations will be paid by the club.

Mercury Will Climb Friday

Fair Tonight, Bureau Says; Thermometer at 27 in Appleton Today

The wind fell and the temperature rose in Appleton today as the last of the stories about Monday's storm, unprecedented in state history, were being told.

Fair tonight, with rising temperatures tomorrow is the forecast for this vicinity issued today by the Milwaukee weather bureau. The thermometer stood at 27 above at 12:30 this afternoon in the city, compared with yesterday's maximum of 23 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The 24-hour low was recorded at 3 o'clock this morning when the mercury slumped to 13 above.

As stories of heroism and tragedy in Monday's storm came to light today, it was reported that Arthur Leonard, former Appleton resident and the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Leonard, who lives in St. Paul, went duck hunting Monday. The bodies of his two companions were found last night, it was reported.

Mrs. Leonard and another son, Henry, Chicago, left last evening for Minnesota.

The Associated Press reported that Jacksonville, Fla., with 85, and Bismarck, N. D., with 19 below zero, were the warmest and coldest places respectively in the nation yesterday.

Dividends Tax Case Up in Supreme Court

Madison—(P)—Deputy Attorney General J. Ward Reitor and Assistant Attorney General Harold H. Persons will appear before the United States supreme court next week to represent the state in its appeal from a Wisconsin supreme court decision holding that the state could not tax the dividends of out-of-state corporations.

The suit, which was started by three foreign corporations, involves approximately $45,000, but the outcome of the case may result in the loss or gain of about $1,500,000 annually from the tax on other similar concerns.

The firms involved are the J. C. Penney company, the F. W. Woolworth company, and the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company.

Higher Farm Prices Needed For U. S. Unity, Wiley Says

Sheboygan—(P)—The farmer must be given "a more just share of the rewards of labor" if national unity is to be achieved now, United States Senator Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) declared in an address to the Wisconsin cheese-makers' convention here today.

"We must scrap our doctrine of scarcity. We must readjust our economy so that a surplus of butter or cheese is a blessing as God's intent is to be, and not a curse as our economic planners make it," Wiley said.

Wiley told the convention that "one of the great first lines of defense is found in the American farm."

"That line of defense, thank God, is well-equipped and is almost the only line of defense which is well-equipped," he said. "There may be dark days ahead, but there should never be starvation in America as there is likely to be in Europe. Ours is a land of God-given plenty, and ours must be an economic philosophy of abundance."

Dr. Cast New Kiwanis Head

Succeeds Schubert; Gehrke, Lytle Named To Offices in Club

Dr. G. C. Cast of the Lawrence college faculty was elected president of the Appleton Kiwanis club at its noon meeting yesterday in the Conway hotel.

He will succeed William E. Schubert.

Fred R. Gehrke was elected first vice president and A. James Lytle, Jr., second vice president.

Four directors elected at the meeting are Roland Nock, Dr. R. C. Joyce, Charles Bohl, and Carl H. Schoof.

The new officers and directors will be installed at the first meeting in January.

The Weather

Forecast for Wisconsin: Generally fair tonight and Friday; somewhat colder, north central and northeast portions tonight, rising temperature west and central portions Friday.

General Weather Conditions: Rain has fallen since Wednesday morning over the north Atlantic coast and light snow or flurries over sections of the Lake region and upper Mississippi valley, but generally fair weather prevailed this morning over most of the central and western portions of the country.

Cold weather continued this morning over all the central and plains states, and it is unseasonably cold over the southern states, but temperatures are moderating over the northern Rocky mountains and Canadian Northwest. Sub-zero temperatures were recorded this morning at many stations in the central and northern plains states.

Generally fair weather is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with colder tonight.

V.F.W. Bowling League Will Sponsor Banquet

Members of the Harvey Pierre post Veterans of Foreign Wars, bowling league and their ladies will attend a banquet at 9:30 tonight at Eagles hall.

The banquet is being held at a late hour because certain members have bowling engagements. Armin Scheurle, state department commander of the V. F. W., will be toastmaster. Carl Wagner is president of the bowling league and Max Buske, secretary-treasurer. Cards and dancing will follow the banquet.

The firms involved are the J. C. Penney company, the F. W. Woolworth company, and the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company.

Concerning the cheese industry, Wiley urged the delegates not to rely entirely on the government, but to cooperate locally to solve state problems.

He suggested: "That the per capita consumption of cheese and other dairy products might be raised through an intensive educational campaign which would stress the high food and health value provided by cheese at low cost."

That the marketing of cheese would be materially bettered by a careful study of the packaging problem—that "we must make cheese easy to handle and easy to sell in attractive containers."

That new types of cheese be developed and that more sales outlets be created outside Wisconsin.

That transportation costs must be reduced.

Wiley said that "at the present time the United States postoffice department is considering my proposal to lower the parcel post rates for cheese."

Gay Nineties Class, Teacher Re-Enact a Day at School

A fiftieth anniversary celebration was combined with an American Education week program last night at McKinley Junior High school and was featured by class of "students" of the gay nineties conducted by a teacher of the same period.

Edith Taylor, who taught at McKinley school shortly after it was built, conducted the class with the help of Dr. Eliza Culbertson, another teacher of the same period.

Members of the "class" were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ryle, Mrs. Conrad Verbrick, Mrs. Rachel Vanderlinde, Guy Marston, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McGregor, Richard Schwahn, Miss Clara Wittuhn, Miss Lydia Wittuhn and Herman Gotschew.

Parents of McKinley school children were given an opportunity to meet teachers and administrators before the program started.

Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, addressed the gathering after the Gay Nineties class was finished.

Audrey Kiser, "mayor" of McKinley school, distributed flowers to the former teachers and students. The school band, directed by Merriek Nelson, played and the girls' chorus, directed by Marion Grlach, sang. A community sing completed the program.

$10,000 Is Asked In Damage Action

Damages of $10,000 are asked by Henry Blohm, Seymour, from Otto Abel, rural route, Seymour, and the Mutual Automobile Insurance company of the town of Herman, Sheboygan county, in a civil suit which opened this morning in circuit court of Judge Joseph R. McCarthy.

The suit is an outgrowth of an accident on July 2, 1940, involving a horse-drawn wagon driven by Blohm and a car driven by Abel on Main street, Seymour.

Jurors hearing the case are Thomas Flanagan, Jr., Mrs. David Carlson, Alvin Fulcr, Gerald Galpin, Richard Graham, William Klumb, Jr., Mrs. Helen Rock, Austin Sacker, Mrs. Leo Schommer, Miss Margery Spector and Walter Spiermas.

35 Escape Injury in Train Derailed

Greenville, Ill.—(P)—Thirty-five passengers and the train crew of a Cleveland-St. Louis passenger train escaped serious injury today when the engine jammed the track and overturned, derailing three baggage cars and a passenger coach on the Nickel Plate railroad near Panama, 12 miles northwest of Greenville.

The tender of the engine and three baggage and mail cars left the track and slid down an embankment. A passenger coach was derailed but remained on the road bed and the Pullman-diner remained on the track.

At Charleston, a representative of the railroad, said the cause of the wreck had not been determined.

Knox Appeals For Unity in Defense Plans

Nation Will Not 'Appease Anyone on Earth,' He Asserts

Beston—(P)—Navy Secretary Frank Knox declared this country would not "appease anyone on earth" in an address today in which he called for unparalleled unity in building national defense and in preventing organized treason from within.

Speaking before the New England conference—jointly sponsored by northeastern governors and the New England Council, a regional promotional organization—Secretary Knox said that the next five years would "test our endurance as free men in a free country."

"Business in the next five years," he said, "is not going to be like it has been in the past. We've got to make sacrifices such as we never have been asked to make before. Profits will necessarily have to become secondary and national security first."

"We have the strongest fleet today that floats the seven seas," Knox asserted. "It is not only stronger, but thank God it's ready."

Fight to Finish

He termed the war an "irreconcilable conflict which must be fought out to a finish," and added: "Only our continent remains free from actual conflict and even over here, the shadows fall and we shall be kept free only as we attend to the first duty of national defense."

Knox said that in "organized treason" a weapon has been forged which attacks the spirit and morale of a nation. "Organized treason," he asserted, "has been a tremendous factor in the success of dictators thus far."

"To secure the United States against this new weapon will require an unparalleled unity."

Ralph E. Flanders, newly elected president of the New England Council, declared that it "would be a national scandal, a sign of gross mismanagement, if in the face of unlimited defense orders, we were unable to reduce unemployment to the vanishing point."

Koepek Low Bidder On Concrete Pipe

The Koepek Construction company yesterday offered the low bids on six sizes of re-enforced concrete storm sewer pipe and the firm's low bid will be recommended by the board of public works to the city council.

The Koepek company's bid follows: 12-inch pipe, 75 cents per foot; 15-inch pipe, $1.07 per foot; 18-inch pipe, $1.19 per foot; 24-inch pipe, $1.86 per foot; 30-inch pipe, $2.70 per foot; 36-inch pipe, $3.75 per foot.

The pipe will be ordered by the city as it is needed for the WPA storm sewer project this winter. Other bidders were the Badger Concrete company, Oshkosh, and the Wisconsin Concrete Pipe and Culvert company, Sheboygan.

Fined $5, Costs

Defer Second Draft Call Until After Christmas

Wisconsin's second draft call, which provided for induction of 485 selective service registrants into the army between December 3 and 9, will not become effective until January 3, 1941, Director Walter J. Wilde announced today, according to the Associated Press.

The army sixth corps area headquarters in Chicago, Wilde said, decided to defer the induction date because state enlistments in the national guard and regular army had exceeded expectations, and because selective service officials felt second call draftees would like to spend the Christmas holidays with their families.

This ruling does not affect the 278 men drafted in the first call which becomes effective starting November 22.

Wilde said the second quota may be enlarged shortly before induction day, but added that this would have to await confirmation from army officials.

Wilde urged selective service registrants who experience difficulty in filling out questionnaires to consult members of their county advisory boards.

The director said he had received reports that the draft boards were receiving questionnaires that had not been answered properly.

Errors on Them

Many questionnaires have been returned with incomplete information, errors, and other disqualifications. Faulty questionnaires must be returned to the registrants and this procedure consumes eight to 10 days instead of the five allowed by draft regulations, the director added.

It was reported today that the three draft boards in Outagamie county have now finished the assignment of draft numbers to the draftees. The first (Appleton) and second (Little Chute) district boards have each sent out questionnaires to the first 250 men on their respective lists.

In asking that draftees seek the help of advisory boards in answering questions, Wilde reported that in several cases registrants were not sworn.

"Selective service regulations provide that questionnaires must be endorsed under oath by the registrant and that such oath may be taken by a member or chief clerk of his local board, a postmaster or a notary public, or any federal, state or municipal officer authorized to administer oaths."

"Other questionnaires appear to have been made out with lead pencil, a clear violation of regulations which provide that they must in all cases be made out in ink," he continued.

Service Ready

"All these reports indicate clearly that registrants are not calling upon and getting the full benefit of the valuable service that is offered to them by the registrant advisory boards throughout the state."

"The governor has appointed a registrant advisory board for each county of the state," he recalled, "and it is to the best interest of the young men involved in the conscription program to take full advantage of their services."

The boards consist of judges and practicing lawyers, he said, in many counties associate members have been chosen.

"It is thus readily apparent that there exists throughout the state machinery for the rendering of skilled and essentially valuable counsel to any registrant who is in doubt about the method and means of his compliance, with selective service regulations," Wilde said.

It was reported from Chilton today that questionnaires have been sent out to the first 50 draftees in Calumet county and that this procedure is continuing at the rate of 25 a day this week. Calumet county registrants were advised to seek assistance of the following advisory board members in filling out the questionnaires: H. F. Arps, Judge G. M. Goggins, A. E. Madler, and Jerome Fox.

The three boards in Outagamie county today urged draftees to watch for information posted in the Zuekle building.

It Is Said ---

There's an early morning shift at the Appleton Vocational school these Saturdays.

The WPA enrollees and those recommended by the state employment service are required to put in 30 hours a week at welding and machine shop. Recent holidays have interfered with the schedule. So for three Saturdays, beginning last weekend, the men are "going to work" at 6 o'clock in the morning and remaining until noon.

Mayor Goodland this morning received a card from Captain H. J. Piette, commander of Company D now in training at Camp Beauregard, La., saying that "all the boys are swell." Captain Piette wrote that the company is getting ready to move into a new camp where "we hope to get out of the mud."

Relief From Cold Due in Middle West

Ludington, Mich.—The bodies of 18 members of their crews were washed ashore. The bodies of two hands aboard the pulpwood carrier Novadoc, aground off Pentwater, Mich., also were found.

Lake Erie fishermen feared that this season would be their poorest in 16 years because of extensive storm damage to nets.

Minnesota's transportation and communication facilities, disrupted by a blizzard, were rapidly returning to normal. The state counted 40 storm victims, 16 of them duck hunters.

Williston, N. D., with a reading of 17 below zero, was the coldest spot on the weather map yesterday. Various communities in Iowa reported below zero temperatures.

Ludington, Mich.—Searchers patrolled the shoreline in this area today for additional bodies of victims believed to have perished in Monday night's Lake Michigan gale which veteran navigators declared the worst in many years.

Hope was virtually abandoned of finding alive any of the 67 seamen aboard two large lake freighters and two fishing tugs presumed to have foundered in the stormy waters.

Thus far bodies of 18 sailors—16 from the crews of the 7000-ton William B. Davock of Cleveland and the 4200-ton grain carrier Anna C. Minch of Sarnia, Ontario, and two cooks from the Canadian pulpwood carrier Novadoc—have washed ashore along with bits of wreckage.

Coast guardsmen expressed belief that the lake, whipped into a fury by high winds Monday night and Tuesday, might hold forever the secret of the fate of the four vessels and the men known to have been aboard.

Rescues Cut Toll
If the vessels foundered unexpectedly, crew members on duty inside the cabins would have been trapped and only the bodies of deck hands could be recovered, guardsmen said.

Dramatic rescues yesterday cut the toll.

At Pentwater, 15 miles south of here, a fisherman, Clyde Cross, piloted his bobbing fishing tug Three Brothers alongside the stricken Novadoc and took aboard 17 seamen who had clung to the battered hull all Tuesday night.

Munising coast guardsmen and fishermen removed 42 seamen from the gravel carrier Sinaloa of the Tri-State Steamship Company of Chicago, which went aground on a reef near Escanaba, Mich. Eleven of the crew were hospitalized.

Fears that the New Haven Socony and its crew of 16 had foundered were dissipated yesterday when the 251-foot tanker, with compass and radio disabled and navigation charts washed overboard, reached East Chicago, Ind., after a 48-hour battle with waves that swept away the pilot house.

LINER QUEEN ELIZABETH SAILS FROM NEW YORK—The $30,000,000 British liner Queen Elizabeth, which sailed to New York eight months ago to escape the dangers of war, is shown as she was maneuvered into the Hudson river for a "mystery" voyage. ## Italians Try To Halt Gains Of Greek Army and passes, and of a panicky Italian retreat.

On Nov. 6, Greek reinforcements took over the job and the weary 2,000 got a rest.

Here is Captain Kyriakou's account of the savage battle:

"The encounter took place on Oct. 30 in the early morning on Mount Goumari, a peak 5,900 feet high, west of Mount Smolika and six kilometers (about 3½ miles) northeast of the town of Smarini.

"The Italians were taken completely by surprise. As soon as the first machine gun bursts were fired, the Italians were thrown back and started retreating in a northeasterly direction.

"A company of Greek cavalry under Captain Tavoularis simultaneously attacked Samarina (a Greek town in Epirus) and forced about 2,000 Italians there to leave in the from Michian today were attempting to remove the 2,600 ton Canadian package freighter, Arthur Orr, from the shoals near Waughoshance point where the went aground Monday. The point extends into Lake Michigan near the western entrance to the Straits of Mackinac.

Los Angeles—The boys at the chamber of commerce are sitting around wearing wide smiles and no coats. Times like this are worth all the kidding they take about "unusual" southern California weather.

While most of the country shivered, the temperature climbed to 84 degrees yesterday and the weather bureau said even higher readings could be expected this afternoon.

Cheese Industry Urged To Follow Quality Road

Sheboygan —(P)—Ralph Ammon, director of the state department of agriculture and markets, told the forty-ninth annual state convention of the Wisconsin Cheesemakers association yesterday that "the only road for the Wisconsin cheese industry is the quality road."

"In food merchandising, this is an era of ultra sanitation, an era of the cellophane wrapper, an era of government inspection and certification, an era of identification for the consumer," he said. "Can the cheese industry alone ignore this trend?"

Chimney Fire

Firemen were called to the home of R. Nock, 419 W. Spring street, at 6:10 last night to put out a chimney fire.

direction of Mount Smolika, taking the difficult pass which leads toward Distrato.

"A night attack launched by more battalions drove the Italians back north of Smolika and threw them into the ravine.

Foe Driven Back
"There the fighting continued for six days.

"At 1 p.m. on Nov. 5 I received orders to attack a height held by 400 Italians with full equipment. The height was taken, with the Italians driven back, leaving behind 64 dead and wounded and 27 prisoners.

"I was wounded in this engagement.

"On Nov. 6 the Italian retreat developed into a irregular flight. Up to 8 o'clock that night, we had taken about 800 Italian prisoners and killed about 1,100."

The figures given by Kyriakou did not cover the period since Nov. 6, during which the government has announced annihilation of the greater part of an Italian division.

Eight Dead and Four Missing In State Storm

day by conservation officers who used a Lansing, Iowa, fishing boat.

Nineteen lake freighters which weathered the gale on Monday and Tuesday have completed their runs to the Superior-Duluth harbor.

Tuesday's arrivals were the Crescent City, Harry Coulby, Nathan Leopold, Morton E. Farr, E. L. Ford, Price McKinney, Sonora, Robert Fulton, John Hulst and the J. E. Upson.

The George Humphrey, G. C. Pest and the J. E. McAlpine docked yesterday.

Today's arrivals included the W. L. Smith, Zenith City, Reiss Brothers, G. G. Crawford, Col. James A. Schoonmaker and the Alva C. Dingley.

Describes Storm

Milwaukee —(P)—From his pilot house 55 feet in the air in the big lake freighter, the Thomas F. Cole, Captain Robert W. Parsons had to look up to see the peak of waves that battered his boat and swept her "almost from one end of Lake Michigan to the other" on Monday and Tuesday.

Captain Parsons docked his boat in Milwaukee harbor Wednesday and said that "a miracle" and not skillful seamanship was responsible for the safe ending of a voyage that surpassed anything in the memory of Parsons' 30 years on the lakes.

He said that the storm which sank the ferry Milwaukee with loss of all hands on Oct. 22, 1929, was "just a summer breeze" compared to the big blow on Nov. 11-12, 1940.

British in New Raid on Italian Base at Taranto

one Cavour was "half under water," the other beached to prevent sinking and the Littorio still burning.

More torpedoes, the pilots said, smashed against the sides of two cruisers and two fleet auxiliaries.

"The Italians have described these British claims, already outlined in an official communique, as 'fantastic,' and insisted that only one warship was damaged seriously."

The naval bombers and torpedo planes swept off the aircraft carrier Illustrious and then power dived into Taranto's inner harbor.

The fliers said that their projectiles were launched almost point blank against the warships; that the Italians were caught completely by surprise, with most of the crews apparently ashore. Anti-aircraft resistance was described as "feeble."

The entire harbor was likened to a great sheet of flame. Some of the bombs fell on the suspension bridge linking the upper and lower basins, and it made a fiery arch over the blazing docks.

Deny British Report

Rome —(P)—British bomber formations, seeking out the seat of Italian naval power in an effort to deliver crippling blows, again attacked the strongly fortified fleet base at Taranto and raided the southern port of Crotone, the high command said today.

At the same time British announcements of the damaging of half of Italy's six battleships and two of her cruisers in a Monday night aerial attack were described as "fantastic."

On its own account the Italian air force was reported to have counter-attacked the British naval base at Belgrade —(P)—Reports reaching here today said an Italian warplane made an unsuccessful attempt yesterday to bomb British warcraft in the harbor at Salonika, Greece.

Greek bombers were reported to have attacked Koriza, Albania, and Italian troop concentrations in the area, while Italian fliers bombed Greek soldiers in the Lake Prespa region nearby.

Advices received here said the Albanian ports of Durazzo and Valona again were bombed Wednesday by the R. A. F. and oil stores and munitions set on fire and transports sunk. Other reports said the British also had bombed Baribologna, Italy.

Italian planes were said to have inflicted heavy damage and a number of casualties yesterday in raids on Ioannina and Larisa, Greece.

Alexandria, bombing a cruiser, and shot aerial torpedoes into a convoy in the eastern Mediterranean to sink one steamer and damage another.

(A British communique, describing the new raid on Taranto naval base, said docks and harbors were hit in a "successful attack" Wednesday night.)

The Italian communique said "some damage" was caused to dwelling, three persons were killed and 12 injured.

The bombs at Crotone, across the Gulf of Taranto, were said to have fallen into the harbor.

Wide land and air action on scattered fronts from Greece to the Sudan also were reported by the Italian communique.

On the Greek waterfront, the Italians asserted their troops had carried out successful local actions in the Kalibaki zone on the Greek left flank, while at the opposite end of the 100 mile battleline Greek attacks in the victory of Koriza were repulsed with the aid of the Italian air force.

While the world awaited concrete manifestation of the outcome of the parleys here, Germany and Russia lost no time in resuming their economic negotiations.

Karl Schaurte, head of the German economic delegation to the U. S. S. R., returned on Molotov's train to Moscow, as did the German ambassador to Moscow, Count Friedrich von der Schulenberg. The German delegation had been in Moscow for some time before Molotov's visit.

British warplanes lent a touch of excitement to the Russian statesman's last night in the German capital by raiding the city for the first time since his arrival Tuesday morning.

Urges Six-Day Week to Speed Production in Defense Program

New York—(P)—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of General Motors Corporation, suggests that American industry supplant the five-day with the six-day week as a means of increasing production "when the slack of unemployment has been taken up."

Addressing the Academy of Political Science last night, Sloan asserted the key to national defense "is the strongest, most virile, the most aggressive economy that the creative genius of America can devise."

"Output can be increased 20 per cent by working six days a week in place of five days. It seems clear that this should be the first step, if the point is reached when the slack of unemployment has been taken up and the increasing speed of industry has been utilized to the fullest practical extent."

He said the "penalty for overtime" should be canceled during the emergency to "encourage a longer work week."

Sloan said he saw inflation as the most striking economic danger today and warned that it must be faced "if we continue on the present road" of "economic fantasies," and that "the defense program serves to accelerate its coming."

"Probably the wage rate presents the greatest danger and the one hardest to control," he continued. "The principle is sound that the defense program should not be made the occasion for increases in wage rates that can not, generally speaking, be justified."

"The greatest source of inflationary danger at the moment is in the increase in wage rates and its impact on costs. It deserves the most profound consideration."

APPLETON, WISCONSIN, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1940

Richardson, M. U. Back, Tops Ground Gainers

Gaining 385 Yards
In Manhattan Game

Seattle—(P)—Jimmy Richardson, the "one man gang" from Milwaukee's Marquette University, soared from twelfth to first place as the nation's leading gridiron ground gainer with his sensational showing against Manhattan in last week's 45-41 track meet.

Figures released by the American Football Statistical Bureau show that it was no fault of Richardson's that his team lost. All he did against Manhattan was run the ball 175 yards and pass it 183 for a total of 358 yards of his team's 409 yard net. He threw eight of his team's nine pass completions, then angled down the fairway to catch the other one.

His total of 1,055 yards for six games placed him ahead of a couple of 1939 leaders—Johnny Knolla of Creighton and Paul Christman of Missouri. Knolla ranks second with 986 yards and Christman rose from eighth to third by booting his total offensive yardage to 980.

Al Ghesquiere of Detroit retained his lead as the top rusher with 752 yards in seven games, substantially topping Tom Harmon with 613. Harmon, for weeks the total offensive leader, tumbled to seventh in that classification.

With snow disrupting the air mail, no figures were received on Princeton's passing Dave Allardice, so on the basis of five games he drops to second place as a pass-offensive threat and Washington State college's wily Bill Sewell ascends to top position. Indiana's Hal Hursch is in fifth place in this department with 43 completions.

In the pass receiving department Al Vosberg, also of Marquette, has caught 14 for 421 for a 30 yard average, and last week caught five for 162 yards against Manhattan.

Fries Pounds 208 Game, 571 Series In Eagles League

Frank Fries banged a 208 game and a 571 series to top Eagles league keglers during matches at Eagles alleys this week. Team honors went to Adler Brau with a 968 game and Lutz Ice company with a 2,737 series.

Lutz keglers won two games from Miller High Life to protect their league lead. Paced by Fries, Adler Brau scored the only 3-game win of the evening, victims being Quella Signs.

High scorers included H. Wegner 192, F. Yelc 195, E. Jansen 194-548, D. Huhn 192-557, K. Strutz 202, H. Strutz 201, F. Kroiss 207 190-544.

Appleton Gridders Get Oshkosh Teacher Awards

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—Major letters in football were awarded to two Appleton gridders and one from Neenah who were members of the Oshkosh State Teachers college team this year. Those receiving a major letter included Don Heinrich, 1425 N. Appleton street, Appleton; Karl Kolb, 323 S. Mueller street, Appleton; and Eugene Voelckel, 401 Sherry street, Neenah. The college squad elected Gordon Gatzke, diminutive guard from Fond du Lac, as their honorary captain for the past season.

Reelect Eight of Nine Ball Club Directors

Amend Articles to Require Board to Select Officers

Stockholders of Appleton Baseball club last night amended the articles of incorporation to allow the board of directors of the club to elect officers and then re-named all the present directors except one. Five directors will serve one year and four two years. Thereafter all directors will serve two years.

Directors named for one year are David Smith, John Wissman, Joseph N. Garvey, Arthur Jones, and Elmer Honkamp. Directors named for two years are William Van Dyck, Charles Pond, George Oudenhoven and C.-O. Baetz. Jones replaces Charles Hopfensperger on the board.

The directors will meet next Tuesday evening to elect officers and organize for the season. The meeting opened with 199 shares of stock represented and 294 shares represented by proxies.

John Wissman, treasurer, read the annual financial report which showed the club has used all its capital stock and was in debt to the extent of $500. However, the report:

W. Feavel, J. Whitney Lead Western Circuit

W. Feavel, carrying a 34-pin handicap, posted a 239 game and J. Whitney, carrying a 48-pin handicap, registered a 621 series for high individual marks during Western league matches at Elks alleys last night. Stanford went into the league lead with a 3-game triumph over Washington. Team honors went to Stanford with a 939 game and Oregon with a 2,739 series.

made no effort to include in the assets value of the franchise and several other items that would offset part of the deficit. It was brought to the attention of the group that other teams also had lost money this year and that if Appleton had been able to play even part of the 11 cancelled games, it might have done better.

Elmer Honkamp, who has contacted the St. Louis Browns on a possible tieup, explained to the stockholders the general plan. No arrangements will be completed, however, until the board of directors takes action.

Clarence O. Baetz submitted the president's report and recommended several changes in the present setup among them establishment of a downtown office where baseball business could be centralized. The report was ordered accepted and placed on file for future reference.

Grassl Hits High Marks in American City League at Y

E. Grassl smashed a 224 game and a 578 series to set the individual pace during American City league matches at Y. M. C. A. alleys this week. Patterson C. A. alleys this week. Patterson C. A. had high team game of 1,022 and knotted with Wolf Shoes for team series honors at 2,851. Winning the first game by one pin, Patterson C. took two from Nolan Insurance to take a stronger hold on first place. Despite their top team total, Wolf Shoes dropped two games to Club Barbers. Petersen Press scored the only 3-game win, victims being Tinsler Motors while a 4-man Heckert Shoe team won two games from Sears Roebuck.

High individual scorers included J. Klimek with a 192 game and 562 series. L. Shebliski 197-544, F. Smith 192-531, A. Schink 209-514, J. Capitan 205-541, W. Lillie 202, A. Meyer 206-504, M. Sonntag 221 192-571, C. Kuck 219, J. Detry 198, R. Natrop 211, V. Klipstein 218, W. Koss 216-537.

Fox Valley Schools Set Track Dates

Also Arrange 1941
Football Schedule,
Elect New Officers

The 1941 football schedule and dates of the various spring sports events were agreed on at a meeting of Fox River Valley conference officials yesterday at Manitowoc. The conference also elected C. G. Stangel, Manitowoc, as president; E. J. Schneider, Oshkosh, as vice president; and Jake Stoll, Sheboygan Central, as secretary and treasurer.

The spring sports events were carded as follows: Relay carnival at Fond du Lac, May 2 or 3; track meet at Green Bay East, May 23 or 24; tennis meet at Manitowoc, June 6 and 7; and golf meet at Fond du Lac, May 24.

A committee will be named to study the long basketball schedule with a view to shortening it by playing Tuesday games during the last half the season and thereby making practices more or less unnecessary.

The football schedule will open on Sept. 26, the practice season opening on Sept. 1 next year. The only change affecting Appleton is that Oshkosh will be played on Oct. 10 instead of on Armistice day or the vicinity thereof as in the past. The Terrors will try to build up a natural rivalry with Manitowoc for the last week of the season.

The schedule follows:
Sept. 26—Appleton at North: Central at East; Manitowoc at Fond du Lac; and West at Oshkosh.
Oct. 3—East at North: Fond du Lac at West; Oshkosh at Manitowoc; Central at Appleton.
Oct. 10—Appleton at Oshkosh; West at Central; Manitowoc at East; North at Fond du Lac.
Oct. 17—Fond du Lac at Central; West at Manitowoc; Oshkosh at North; East at Appleton.
Oct. 24—Manitowoc at Central; Oshkosh at East; North at West; and Fond du Lac at Appleton.
Oct. 31—Appleton at West; Central at Oshkosh; East at Fond du Lac; North at Manitowoc.
Nov. 5 or 7—Central at North; East at West; Oshkosh at Fond du Lac; Appleton at Manitowoc.

Report Jimmy Wilson Already Signed as Manager of Bruins

BY EDDIE BRIEZE
New York—(P)—Boston college is 5-7 over Georgetown in Saturday's football headline. . . La Marbie's first official act as a pro was to accept a week's engagement to warble in a Broadway theater, beginning Dec. 26. . . Attention, Yanks and Giants: Both Hank Greenberg and Frank McCormick, voted the most valuable players in the two leagues, are products of New York's Bronx. . . Around here the boys think Jimmy Wilson already has signed to manage the Cubs, despite denials from both sides.

General Manager Of Cubs Announced

Chicago—(P)—James T. Gallagher, baseball writer for the Chicago Herald American, was appointed general manager of the Chicago Cubs today by President Phil K. Wrigley.

The Cub president announced at the same time that Charles (Boots) Weber had resigned as treasurer of the club and William L. Veck, son of the late Cub president had been named to succeed him. Weber will remain as vice president to serve in an advisory capacity to Gallagher and Veck.

Gallagher, a native of Lorain, O., is 36 years old and has been writing baseball since 1933. He attended the University of Notre Dame in 1925 and 1926 and worked on newspapers in Lorain and South Bend, Ind., before coming to Chicago in 1928.

He will join the Cub staff Monday. Gallagher said a new manager to succeed Gabby Hartnett whose dismissal was announced yesterday, will be signed before the minor league meetings at Atlanta, Ga., next month.

The appointment of Gallagher, and the changes in the positions of Weber and Veck, followed yesterday's surprise announcement that Hartnett's contract would not be renewed.

Hartnett was dismissed after 19 years with the Cubs as catcher and manager. Speculation on the identity of Hartnett's successor revolved around:

1. The report that Jimmy Wilson, catcher and world series hero with the Cincinnati Reds, already had reached an agreement with the Cubs following a surprise visit here last week.

2. A remark by Wrigley, who responded to a statement that Wilson would "make a good manager," by saying "I think so too."

3. The fact that a few days ago Billy Meyer, Kansas City manager, received permission from his employers, the New York Yankees, to negotiate for a major league position.

4. Other Wrigley assertions that "there are major and minor leaguers on the list," and "I don't want to be accused of tampering as all the men we've in mind are under contract."

Wrigley promised only that the new man would be picked before the winter baseball meetings starting Dec. 4.

As for Hartnett, Wrigley said "we are not blaming Hartnett—he has done everything he could, but we feel it is up to us to try and keep on trying to get the best possible combination of personnel to produce the best possible results."

He said that waivers would be asked on Hartnett, who is listed as a player-manager, and that if there was no response, he would be given his unconditional release.

Hartnett was decidedly surprised at the dismissal from his only major league stand since he came up from Worcester of the Eastern league in 1922.

"I had understood differently. . . but you can't bellyache or cry," he commented.

Wilson Denies Rumor

Philadelphia—(P)—Jimmy Wilson, 40-year-old member of Cincinnati's championship baseball team, says he is "very happy" with the Reds and is not making a bid to pitch the Chicago Cubs.

Asked if he was a candidate for the job left vacant by Chicago's dismissal of Gabby Hartnett, Wilson said:

"I would certainly give the matter deep consideration if I were approached but I certainly am not going to make any bid for the job. My connections and position with Cincinnati are the finest."

Reds Recommend Him

Cincinnati—(P)—It may seem presumptuous for one major league club to tell another who should manage its team, but that's almost what the Chicago Cubs situation stacks up to.

The situation is so obvious that if Phil Wrigley doesn't take advantage of the opportunity, Cincinnati fans believe he'd better devote himself exclusively to the chewing gum business.

Here is 40-year-old Jimmy Wilson, hero of the Reds' world series triumph, and there are the Cubs, needing a new manager. Jimmy has qualifications and what's more, he can get references from his present employers.

General Manager Warren C. Giles of the world champions says: "The Cubs would get as good as they come if they made Jimmy manager."

Jimmy would take to Chicago the fruit of 18 major league years, most of them as one of the top-flight catchers of the National league, five as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, and three as coach and stand-in catcher for the Reds.

WRIGLEY FIRES GABBY HARTNETT—Philip K. Wrigley (right), president of the Chicago Cubs, called Leo "Gabby" Hartnett to his office in Chicago, told him that his contract as Cub manager would not be renewed, and gave the announcement to reporters. Then he and Hartnett posed together just to prove that they were parting with no hard feelings. Wrigley said he had several men under consideration to succeed Hartnett.

Sophs May Start For Wisconsin

Badgers Unable to Work Outside; Drill
In the Fieldhouse

Madison—(P)—Five and possibly six sophomore linemen may be in the Wisconsin lineup when the Badgers meet Indiana in a Western conference battle here Saturday.

Because injuries to veterans have not responded satisfactorily to treatment, Coach Harry Stuhldreher, end Dave Schreiner and Pat Lyons, ends Dick Thornally and Lloyd Wasserbach, tackles, and John Roberts, guard, on the first string yesterday. Another sophomore, Bob McKay, may get the call at center.

The Badgers were unable to practice outside yesterday, and there was little hope that they would be able to for the rest of the week. The gridders limbered up in the icy blasts of Camp Randall, and then went inside the fieldhouse for practice on offense and defense.

The freshmen demonstrated Indiana plays, but the available area was too small to permit any satisfactory maneuvering.

the Kenosha Cardinals Sunday at State Fair park.

The Chiefs will be guests of the Marquette football team Saturday afternoon when the Hilltoppers play Michigan State and the Marquette players will be visitors at the Chiefs' game Sunday.

Baugh Regains Passing Lead

Breaks O'Brien's
Record of 21 Good
Tosses in One Game

New York—(P)—The race for individual honors in the National Football league is wide open in every department but forward passing in which Washington's Sammy Baugh is in a class by himself.

Baugh broke Davey O'Brien's one-game record of 21 completions in last Sunday's game with Brooklyn and is nearing the league season marks in completion, yards gained and efficiency. He has completed 91 out of 140 tosses for 1208 yards and 11 touchdowns. His efficiency is 65 per cent.

He is only 15 completions away from Parker Hall's record of 106 and 116 yards from O'Brien's 1,324 yards, both made last year. The Washington back also leads the punters with a 48-yard average and his runback of 84 yards on intercepted passes is the best in the league.

Tuffy Leemans, New York's veteran back, moved back into second place in ground gaining after being out two weeks with injuries. He gained 101 yards against Cleveland to run his total to 340. Detroit's Whizzer White is in front with 409.

Banks McFadden, Brooklyn rookie, dropped to third, with 331. Don Looney, Philadelphia freshman, regained pass receiving supremacy from Don Hutson of Green Bay by one reception, 36 to 35. Washington's Jimmy Johnston and Dick Todd are tied in scoring with seven touchdowns each for 42 points. Hutson is only one point back with five touchdowns and 11 extra points.

Victory Saturday Will Assure Stanford of Rose Bowl Invite

BY RUSSELL NEWLAND

San Francisco—(P)—Fourteen blondes and a redhead couldn't drag confirmation of this from Stanford, but—if the Indians whip Oregon State in their football game Saturday they probably will begin beating the bush immediately for a standout Rose Bowl opponent.

Alfred R. Masters wouldn't say "yes," but he didn't say "no," either. As athletic boss of Stanford football he will be charged with the duty of rounding up the other half of the New Year's day classic. And all that stands in the way is for his team to flash the "go" signal with a win.

Stanford, if it knocks off Oregon State, has another slambang rival waiting 'round the corner. It is California. The Bears have been getting tougher than their namesake every week.

Facts pyramid to this conclusion: With a win over Oregon State, Stanford could lose to California and still finish in at least a tie for the coast conference title. Washington, with a sweep of its remaining three games, could tie Stanford.

The ten conference members vote the western team into the Rose Bowl. Stanford punched out a 20-10 victory over Washington last week. In case of a tie Stanford would expect the confidence, the call over a team it already had defeated.

Official wells are dry on the subject of an opponent "if and when" Stanford lands in the Rose Bowl. At present there are Cornell, Minnesota, Texas A. & M., Tennessee, Notre Dame, Boston college and Georgetown among the bigger name colleges with unblemished records.

Boston college and Georgetown meet this weekend and one or both may be eliminated, depending on a tie. Notre Dame, Cornell and Minnesota are opposed to post-season contests, the first two by tradition and the latter because Big Ten rules prohibit it. Also there is the slight matter of completing the season undefeated.

This leaves the Texas Aggies and Tennessee, with two and three games respectively to play but both hot favorites to finish with perfect records. Tennessee lost to Southern California in the last Rose Bowl, which may or may not be an influencing factor in the ultimate selection.

Texas A. & M. by this sketchy process of elimination, becomes the best bet to wind up in the big bowl if Stanford gains the right to move into football's best producing gold mine.

Catholic Cage Loop To Have Eight Teams

Fond du Lac and Marinette Admitted To Valley Circuit

Little Chute — Eight schools will be represented in the Fox River Valley Catholic Basketball conference this season. They will include two newcomers, St. Mary's of the Springs, Fond du Lac and Lourdes of Marinette. The holdover squads are St. Mary's of Oshkosh, St. John's of Little Chute, St. Mary's of Menasha, St. Norbert of De Pere, St. Peter's of Oshkosh and St. Joseph's of Keshena. The new members were admitted into the conference at the pre-season meeting of the coaches and athletic directors at St. John high auditorium Wednesday evening.

The Rev. Joseph Becker of St. Mary's, Menasha, was elected president of the conference, while the Rev. Gerard Van Nuland of St. John, Little Chute, was elected secretary. Others in attendance were Bernard Le Roy, St. Mary's, Oshkosh; Nick Mikatinac, St. Norbert's, De Pere; Fred Trish, St. Mary's, Menasha; Jim McCarthy, St. Mary's of the Springs, Fond du Lac; Bernie Bongers, St. John, Little Chute; Bob Ladd, St. Joseph, Keshena; the Rev. T. G. Fox, De Pere, and the Rev. Everard McCormick of Keshena.

A discussion on long trips was held and after thoroughly going over the matter it was voted to count nine games official in the conference races, meaning that every team must play nine conference games to be eligible for the championship now held by St. Mary's of Menasha. The reason for this was that some of the schools have a single game scheduled per season with Lourdes due to the long trek. The longest jaunt would be 125 miles, Fond du Lac to Marinette.

A league schedule will be mailed to all newspapers. J. J. Kores of St. Mary's Menasha athletic staff will be in charge. All directors of conference schools will send in reports of their games weekly.

At the end of the season another meeting will be called and coaches will select an all-conference first and second team.

Officials who are agreeable to both coaches are eligible to referee otherwise only those who are W.I.A.A. registered will be allowed.

St. Norbert college again will hold an invitational tournament at the end of the season with eight teams participating unless the state tournament for Catholic schools is held there in which sixteen teams will compete.

The Catholic conference football trophy was awarded to St. John high during the meeting. The Rev. Joseph Becker, St. Mary's of Menasha athletic director, made the presentation to the Rev. Gerard Van Nuland, St. John athletic director.

The football conference was organized in 1931 with St. Mary's winning the championship. St. John of Little Chute won in 1932 with an undefeated season. In 1933, St. John and St. Mary tied for the title. In 1934 St. Mary again won. In 1935 and again in 1936 St. Norbert won the championship. In 1937, '38 and '39 St. Mary's of Menasha won the title, while this season St. John is in possession.

St. John high will open conference cage play with Lourdes high of Marinette at Little Chute on Dec. 3.

A. A. Stagg, Jr., Is Completing Most Successful Season

BY TED MEIER

Selinsgrove, Pa., —(AP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, Jr., son of a famous father, is gaining a little reputation of his own at Little Susquehanna University on the bank of the Susquehanna river.

Unless all signs fail, the Crusaders will wind up their season undefeated by beating Hartwick on Saturday, thus clinching Stagg's best year since he became coach in 1935.

Stagg, one of the "grand old gentlemen of football," does things many coaches would frown upon, but he has whipped a small squad which are not aimed at me but which were sent out without knowing in what direction they were headed. Know where your bullets are headed and don't shoot unless you see your target for what it is.

Six Appleton Students Get Viking Awards

Six of Nineteen Varsity Letters Will Go to Seniors

Six Appleton students have been voted awards for their football efforts at Lawrence college this season. Co-Captain Vince Jones, senior tackle, and Frank Hammer, junior halfback, will receive grid letters while Bill Nolan, Tom Nolan, William Hamlin and Chuck Rollins will get fresh numerals at the annual football banquet Dec. 5. Bo McMullin, head coach at the University of Indiana, will be the speaker.

Nineteen football letters, recommended by Coach Bernie Heselton and approved by the athletic board of the college, will be awarded. Of this number, four are seniors. Twenty-three men will receive freshman numerals.

The letter and numeral winners are as follows:

Seniors: Co-captain Vince Jones, Appleton; Co-captain Art Kaemmer, Kiel; LeRoy Lubenow, Sheboygan; Robert Romano, Milwaukee.

Juniors: Jarvis Lingle, Chicago; Robert MacIntosh, Milwaukee; Frank Nencki, Milwaukee; Perry Powell, Milwaukee; Dave Spalding, Menasha; George Stuart, Milwaukee; Frank Hammer, Appleton; Herbert Kirchhoff, Chicago.

Sophomores: William Crosssett, Racine; Larry Henkes, Racine; Robert Osen, DePere; Chapin Plummer, Batavia, Illinois; Clyde Rhodes, Mooseheart, Illinois; Lauren Smith, Madison; Boyden Supiano, Racine.

Varsity Manager: Charles Hobbs, Fond du Lac.

Kenosha Uses Tennis Shoes to Beat Yankees

Kenosha —(AP)—Coach John Reis outfitted his Kenosha Cardinal football players with tennis shoes between halves last night and the Cards scored twice on the frozen turf to defeat the New York Yankees of the American Pro league 14-0.

"Weenie" Wilson scored twice in the third quarter on touchdown sprints of 62 and 43 yards. The Yankees had trouble making their cleats stick in the hard sod. Carl Siefert kicked both extra points.

The score by quarters:

since they meet each other this Sunday, the situation is shaky.

As a result of this, and the upsets of last week, President Carl Storck announced last night he had invited representatives of the Green Bay Packers, Detroit Lions, Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants, in addition to the two current leaders, to sit in on the conference.

Green Bay — The air-minded Green Bay Packers, tied defending champions of the National Football league who year in and year out have set the pace in the use of the forward pass as an offensive threat, now may claim the postgraduate gridiron "aviation" championship, too.

At 12:15 this afternoon the Packer organization 40-strong — players, coaches, trainers and Green Bay Football corporation officers — left Chicago in two chartered airplanes for New York City where on Sunday they meet the New York Giants at the Polo grounds.

Step Ahead of Schedule

It was lunch in Chicago and it'll be dinner on Broadway as the Packers become the first professional club in history to go by plane for a game. The innovation may set some new precedent in football travel, just as the Packers established the pass as a dangerous and potent weapon in the early days of the post-graduate game.

Heretofore the Packers have traveled to New York for their annual game with the Giants by train. Coach E. L. (Curly) Lambeau, himself somewhat of a precedent-breaker when it comes to football

GRIDIRON GRINS

I KNOW WE BORROWED TEN YARDS, BUT COULDN'T WE PAY IT BACK SOMETIME NEXT WEEK?

AP Feature Service

Georgia Tech was playing Howard college in Birmingham, in 1911. The field was short and there was not room to punt from behind the goal.

Backed up against their goal, the Howard punter had a bright idea: he decided to borrow 10 yards from Tech, so he would have room to kick. The Tech captain consented, the referee approved, the ball was moved in 10 yards, and kicked out of danger.

Then, later in the game, Tech came in possession of the ball on Howard's 11-yard line and demanded immediate payment of the borrowed 10 yards. Howard didn't want to pay off in paydirt yardage, but Mister Referee said, yes. With 1 yard to go and 4 downs to make it, Tech came through with a touchdown!

Zwick's Experience Makes Him Favorite in Bout With Billy Miller at Neenah Armory

BY BILL DOWLING

Kaukauna—Returning to Wisconsin competition after a year in Utah and California, Phil Zwick, Kaukauna's globe trotting featherweight, has compiled a record in that time that means no good for Billy Miller of Chicago, who meets Zwick in the headline event at Neenah armory Monday evening.

Only extreme cautiousness on the part of most managers has prevented Phil from stopping a few more opponents.

"We'll admit finding good boys who risk their reputations against Zwick is tough sledding," a Los Angeles sports writer stated in his column.

The westerners were a little dubious of Zwick's ability when he appeared there for the first time. But Phil hauled out his scrapbook and pointed to wins, most of them by knockouts, over John McGrory, featherweight champion of England, and Jimmy Walsh, lightweight champion of the same country; Al Blotch and Herb Bishop, both holders of the Australian featherweight title (Blotch later fought Henry Armstrong in New York); Tommy Spiers, Scottish titleholder; Eyoa Rees, Welsh champ; Ernest Wheeler, Austrian champion, and Spike Robinson, best of the Irish featherweights.

Zwick's only setback came in his first match, against George Crouch, Phil gave his heavier opponent a "boxing lesson" during the early rounds, but lost the decision. He was then matched with Nick Peters, who had previously knocked out Joey Ferrando and stopped Mike Beloinse. The press favored Peters, but Zwick stopped him in the ninth, dealing Peters an "artistic pasting."

In a return match Peters, listed as No. 4 in NBA lightweight ratings and scaling 135, again went down before Phil, who only went 127.

After this triumph west coast promoters grew a little leery of match-

FIGHTS ZWICK — Here's Billy Miller, Chicago featherweight, who will battle Phil Zwick Monday evening in the windup of a fight program at Neenah armory. Miller is a youthful fighter who has been tagged with a lot of possibilities. He won his last appearance at Neenah beating Frankie Gaudes, Milwaukee.

ing their boys with the Wisconsin flash, as Zwick was billed, and Phil moved out to Salt Lake City. He knocked out Dick Diamond and Johnny Rogers in early rounds, and then was matched with Pee Wee LaSalle, the outstanding featherweight on the coast. Phil's "tethal right punch" brought him another decision. About this time Phil tried to get a match with Armstrong, but the latter was unwilling. He also contacted the managers of Joey Archibald and Pete Lello, and has letters showing these gentlemen wished to keep their charges as far away from Zwick as possible.

Before returning to Kaukauna he k.o'd Al Spina in the ninth, stopped Augie DeMille in the third, outboxed Eddie Marcus, who had a draw with Baby Arizmendi to his credit, and again stopped Spina, this time in the sixth.

Gossens Shaping Team for Valley Home Talent Season

Kimberly — Joe Gossens, manager of the Kimberly A. A. eagles entered in the Valley Home Talent league, has his squad out for regular drills to limber up for the coming season. The Papermakers should be a strong contender in the league as the team will be composed of the regular lineup and the former Vandenberg Boogard's eagles which will make up the 20 man roster.

The first squad will have about 10 players while the others will probably make up the B squad for preliminary games. First stringers will include Buck LeMay, E. Hoffkins, E. Vandenberg Boogard, E. Vandenberg Velden, Norb Gossens, Ray Hamann, Drek Van Dyke, Sven Bowman, and Manager Gossens.

For a number of years Kimberly has been playing independent ball, meeting all teams from all over the country which included Jesse Owens and his colored team in 1938. Last year the Papermakers entered the Wisconsin Michigan league and emerged as champions by defeating Ironwood by a score of 39 to 37 in an exciting game at the clubhouse March 3.

On March 17 at Hartford, Kimberly won the state home talent crown for the second time. In the semifinals they won over Elm Tree Bakers, Appleton, 42 to 41 and in the finals defeated Mill, 49 to 47. On Wednesday evening, Nov. 20, a meeting of league managers will be held at the clubhouse when eligible players will be approved and last minute discussions settled. Ten teams will make up the league with the league winners eligible to go to the Hartford tournament next spring.

More Than Half of 1930 to 39 All-Americans Are Still Familiar Figures in the Sports World

BY DILLON GRAHAM
Sports Editor, AP Feature Service
New York—It's only a short while until The Associated Press 1940 All-American college football team is announced and so now seems a good time to ask the question: What's become of the All-American players of the last decade?

How many are still in football or other sports? How many hold good business jobs? What percentage was attracted by the professional football boom? Our scouts have been busy checking up on these former headline grabbers.

More than one-half of the 110 are still in sports, as college or professional players, coaches or professional baseball players. Nearly one-third are coaches. More than one-sixth are in professional football now, while others played pro ball for some time. Around 40 are in business.

Many In Pro Ball
Seven of 1930's All-Americans are still in sports. Turk Edwards from Washington State is captain and tackle, and Ernie Pinckert, Southern California, is a halfback with the Washington Redskins pro team. Wesley Kesler, Ohio State end, is a Harvard assistant. Frank Carideo, Rockne's last Notre Dame quarterback is Iowa backfield coach. Marchmont Schwartz, halfback on that same team, is Stanford assistant. Wade Woodward, Northwestern guard, is playing pro baseball. Len Macaluso, Colgate fullback, at last reports was a professional wrestler.

Of all the decade's All-American teams, only the units of 1938 and 1939 have more members still in sport than that 1939 squad.

The All-Americans coaching also include Clarence Munn, 1931, Minnesota guard, now Michigan assistant; Vernon (Catfish) Smith, 1931, Georgia end, now Mississippi assistant; Ed Bock, 1936 Iowa State guard, now assistant at Iowa State; Carl Hinkle, 1937 Vanderbilt center, now a cadet and assistant freshman coach at Army; Bud Holland, 1937-38 Cornell end, now Lincoln U. assistant, and John Keller, 1935 Princeton guard, now Princeton assistant.

Joe Skladany, 1933 Pittsburgh end, works for an oil company but assists with football at Carnegie Tech. Averell Daniell, 1936 Pittsburgh tackle, is a Dartmouth assistant.

ant. George Barclay, 1934 North Carolina guard, helps at Oberlin. Larry Lutz, 1935 California tackle is a sheepherder who helps coach California freshmen. Ed Franco, 1937 Fordham tackle is a Fordham assistant. Ralph Heikkinen, 1938 Michigan guard, is a law student and line coach at Virginia. Bill Wallace, 1934 Rice halfback, is a freshman coach at Rice. George Sauer, 1933 Nebraska fullback, is head coach at New Hampshire. Nite Knick, 1939 Iowa back, is assistant at Iowa. Riley Smith, 1935 Alabama quarterback and for several years a Washington Redskins pro star, is assistant at Washington and Lee. John Vaughn, 1932 Texas Christian center, is North Carolina line coach.

Many High School Coaches
The high school coaches include Max Starevich, 1936 Washington guard, at Seattle; Larry Kelley, 1936 Yale end, at Peddie School, New Jersey; Budd Kerr, 1939 Notre Dame end, at Goshen, Ind.; Warren Heller, 1932 Pittsburgh quarterback, at Oakmont in Pittsburgh; Charles Hartwig, 1934 Pittsburgh guard, at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Joe Skladany, 1933 Pittsburgh end, works for an oil company but assists with football at Carnegie Tech. Averell Daniell, 1936 Pittsburgh tackle, is a Dartmouth assistant.

guard with the Detroit Lions; Don Hutson, 1934 Alabama end, and Bill Lee, 1934 Alabama tackle, with the Green Bay Packers; Ed Widseth, 1936 Minnesota tackle, with the New York Giants; and Davey O'Brien, 1938 Texas Christian halfback, with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Several In School
A half dozen of the All-Americans of the 1939 team still are in college and several have an excellent chance of being chosen again. They are Tom Harmon, Michigan halfback; John Kimbrough, Texas A. & M. fullback; Nick Drahos, Cornell tackle; Ed Molinski, Tennessee guard; Paul Severin, North Carolina end, and Harley McCollum, Tulane tackle. All are playing except McCollum, who is ineligible this season.

Milton Summerfelt, 1932 Army guard and William Shuler, 1935 Army end, are still in the military service. Fred (Buzz) Borries, Navy 1934 halfback is a lieutenant in the navy.

All of the other All-Americans—around two-fifths of the total—are business men scattered about the country.

Bulldogs Find Indians Tough Nuts to Crack

New London Loses Final Grid Tilt of Season by 20 to 7

BY AL BRAULT

New London—New London High school's last football game is over and Shawano won it yesterday, 20 to 7, at the city athletic field here.

It was a football game and it wasn't. There were no blares blaring and few spectators or students ventured out in the 10-degree weather to watch, although the sun shone warmly.

Snow blotted out the chalk lines of the gridiron and players slid helplessly on the hard ground. Scrimmages during the first quarter ended with both squads standing up for fear of losing footing. Backfield men on both teams changed footwear to basketball shoes for the second half and New London linemen appeared wearing gloves.

Shawano scored once in each of the first three quarters and the Red and White tallied in the last period against the Indian reserves.

Block Punt
The Indians tallied first on a blocked punt, Caldwell grabbing the ball out of the air on New London's 10 and racing over. Reed made good the kick. The second tally came right afterwards, early in the second quarter, when New London fumbled the kickoff and Shawano recovered on New London's 30-yard line. Reed carried the pigskin to two first downs and the real line. He passed to Dicke for the extra point.

New London never threatened and entered enemy territory for the first time near the end of the half when young Jim Bodoh, freshman, snared several nice passes from Pies to get down to the 33. However, they lost the ball and started again on the 45, Red Watkins taking another pass on the 24 but on the next try a pass was intercepted and the half ended.

Coach Charlesworth sent in most of the second string in the third period and in a sustained drive the Indians reached the 3-yard mark before the New London regulars returned to battle. They failed to stop Bodoh in a line plunge, however, and he made the score 20 to 0. Reed missed the kick.

Sends In New Team
After the third marker, Coach Cliff Dills sent in a new team of replacements against which Poepeke, Freuburger and Pies rolled up three first downs to the enemy 8 and then Pies tossed to Jim Bodoh on the line for the touchdown. Poepeke took the ball on a double reverse to plunge for the extra point.

Budding stars on both teams proved to be Martin James, understudy of Billy Reed, and freshman Jim Bodoh of the New London team. James ran the ball to several first downs and Bodoh did mightily well snaring some difficult passes. He did some fine running with the ball, too.

Fumbles were frequent in the cold weather and the ball changed hands several times in a few minutes. New London fumbled three and Shawano recovered them all besides one of their own. New London recovered two of three muffs by the Indians.

The Red and White made seven first downs to Shawano's nine but suffered only 15 yards in penalties to the visitors' 45. Shawano intercepted three New London passes to no special advantage.

The starting line-ups:

175 Attend Parent and Son Banquet at Clintonville

Clintonville — About 175 persons were seated at the annual Parent and Son banquet of the Clintonville Chapter, Future Farmers of America Tuesday evening at the dining room of St. Martin Lutheran church. The occasion marked the tenth anniversary of the founding of the local F. F. A. chapter.

The program opened with assembly singing led by Miss Mary Swanton of the public school music department. After a prayer by the Rev. W. O. Speckhard, the address of welcome was given by Lawrence Geiger, president of the chapter. Mrs. George Huber responded on behalf of the mothers and Henry Knitt spoke for the fathers. Members of the Future Farmers organization opened their meeting in regular form, each officer giving his duties and members responding to roll call.

Max Stieg, treasurer of the board of education, spoke on behalf of that body pointing out the advantages to the community from having the agriculture course in the high school.

Arnold Malotky, who with Eric Froemming received the State Farmer degree at Madison this fall, talked on the work of the F. F. A. organization. The two boys were presented with emblems by their instructor, E. A. Hutchinson.

"Ten Years of Progress" was the subject of a talk by Harold Mueller, vice president of the F. F. A. He reviewed the important events of the local chapter since it was organized ten years ago. Orville Huebner was the first president. During the ten year period, fourteen state farmer degrees and one American farmer degree have been awarded to members of the Clintonville chapter. Louis Mueller was the only one from here to attain the American farmer degree, which was awarded him at Omaha.

58 In Chapter
E. A. Hutchinson, adviser of the F. F. A. talked on the local chapter, which now has 58 members. He explained the work of the judging teams, which won superior ratings in the state contests held this fall at Madison. He introduced the teams, Laverne Flink, Ivan Korth and Harold Steenbock, crops judging; and Earl Knitt, Norman Yeager and Stuart Huber, cattle judging, and presented each member with a F. F. A. emblem.

Future farmer pins were awarded to 8 boys, Gordon Lichtenberg, Laverne Flink, Warren Mitchell, Roger Hanson, Theodore Schertz, Eugene Zeusk, Guy Fandry and James Johnson.

Green-hand pins were presented to 27 boys by Mr. Hutchinson. They are Joe Laux, Arthur Yeager, Ervin Reimer, Billy Zellmer, Bobby Prey, Lawrence Anderson, Reginald Schoenke, Donald Schwenke, Louis Gould, Reuben Behnke, Robert Olson, Roert Johnson, Roger Tellock, Duain Johnson, Arlyn Nelson, LeRoy Spitzberger, Owen Nelson, James Westphal, Lyle Hein, Reuben Rechl, Karl Speckhard, Merlin Tornow, Vilas Krueger, Roger Patrickus, Milton Kitzman, Stanley Olson and Glenn Behnke.

Pupils Will Stage Feast Day Program In Zion Auditorium

Pupils of Zion Lutheran school will present a Thanksgiving program at 7:30 Friday night at the parish auditorium.

A song, "My Own United States," sung by all the children, will open the program, which will continue as follows:

"Thanksgiving Day Is Near," kindergarten and first grade; "Grandmothers Thanksgiving," Joyce Lust; "Thanksgiving Lessons," second grade; "Thanksgiving Wishes," third grade boys; "A Sensible Boy," David Kortenhof; play, "Homework Blues," seventh and eighth grade; "What Mamma Said," Nancy Klitzke; "Baking a Cake," fourth grade boys.

Song, "When the Frost Is on the Pumpkin," school; "See in Maw Off," fifth and sixth grade; "Little Housekeepers," fourth grade girls; "Census Taker," eighth grade; "Cousin Imogene's Dinner," seventh and eighth grades; drill, "Pilgrim Meditations," fifth and sixth grade girls; song, "God Bless America," school; doxology, audience.

by the Curtain Call club, under the direction of Miss Ferne Schoenfeld. At 9:15 several educational films on Progressive Education will be shown in the gymnasium, with Superintendent Harley J. Powell in charge.

Everett Goli will direct instrumental music in the assembly room at 9:20, after which there will be a one act play, "Mushrooms Coming Up," by the Sendra Club of which Miss Rose Walters is the director.

Mrs. Orville Kuckuk and daughter Geneva returned home Monday evening from Fort Dodge Iowa, where they had visited since last Wednesday with the former's father, C. E. Wright.

Mrs. Aubrey Powell of Phelps is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John MacDonald.

Mrs. William Melzer Jr. was hostess to her sewing club Wednesday evening at her home on S. Clinton avenue.

Mrs. Winnifred L. Davis of the Wisconsin free library commission at Madison reviewed a number of books at the library tea held Wednesday afternoon at the Finney public library. The event was sponsored by the library board and the librarian, Miss Jane Kelly. Mrs. C. B. Stanley and Mrs. Carl Rosnow, members of the board, poured. Other members of the library board are Fred Ruth, Harold Olk, Harley J. Powell, Max Stieg and Mrs. W. H. Finney.

Illinois Has Way of Stopping Reference to Team as 'Suckers'

L. M. ("Mike") Tobin, University of Illinois publicist, became exceedingly wroth during his visit to Madison, Wis., for the Badger-Illini game.

Tobin, who still exults in all campus activities, made a tour of the Wisconsin fraternity and sorority rows to view the homecoming decorations. Several of the decorations depicted Illinois as a sucker or common branch creek variety of fish.

So when Tobin addressed the Wisconsin pep rally he could contain himself no longer. "Illinois never was known as 'Suckers,'" he shouted. "Its nickname is 'Illini' after a tribe of brave Indians. You know that some years ago, Indiana insisted on referring to Illinois as 'Suckers.' But our boys stopped that. They wrote Indiana that if it insisted in this insult we would retaliate by referring to Indiana as 'The Fancy Dances.'"

Two regular members of the Nebraska University football team have become fathers during the present season. Harry Hopp, alternate left half back, was blessed with a son just before the Oklahoma game and last week, prior to the Iowa contest, Royal Kahler, the big tackle, arrived at practice, elated over the arrival of a boy. So Maj. ("Biff") Jones, the Husker coach, is looking ahead 20 years when perhaps his son, Lawrence Jr., now starring for Taft school, will coach the second generation of Hops and Kahlers.

From the Monday Quarterback Club at the Morrison Hotel comes this incident from the Wisconsin-Columbia game as related by Badger Coach Harry Stuhldreher.

"Mark Hoskins threw a forward pass to our sophomore end, Schreiner, that was good for a nice gain. Back in the huddle our other end, Lyons, said to Hoskins: 'Mark, I was uncovered that time. Let's call another pass and this time throw it to me.' But Hoskins shook his head saying: 'I'm sorry, Gene, I've got the next one promised.'"

In the course of his talk Coach Stuhldreher exploded a bomb under the charge that modern youth is getting soft and can't stand the crushing pace of modern football. "Our records at Wisconsin," Stuhldreher said, "show that the boys who took examinations at the time of the World War for S. A. T. C. and Army service were found to be 75 per cent fit. Last September, similar examinations found the boys of today averaging 87.9 per cent."

And one more from Stuhldreher: "Our defeat at Columbia, 7 to 6, shouldn't be blamed on Fred Gage. It's pointed out that Fred missed the point-after-touchdown, that would have given us a tie but on this play the man who was holding the ball fumbled. Then Fred missed a field goal that would have won for us 9 to 7, but on this play the pass from center was wide. If it was one of Fred's kicks that was blocked ed for a touchdown but don't blame Fred. It was the failure of a blocker to hold out a Columbia man that resulted in the kick being smothered."

Denver University Coach Clyde ("Cac") Hubbard has stymied the Monday morning quarterbacks. Hubbard lets two members of the Denver Luncheon Club where football is rehearsed on Monday sit on the bench with him each Saturday and make suggestions. If Denver loses they share the speaking job at the next meeting.

"I thought we had all the worst of the breaks down at Indiana," Bo McMillin told Quarterback Club listeners Monday in the drawing star of his. "Gill I talked to a friend of mine who coaches a high school in Texas. This fellow lost eight straight games, all of them just seconds before the final whistle. In his final game with seven seconds to play and the score 0 to 0 his left halfback went 67 yards for a touchdown. The gun sounded as he went into the end zone. Well, this coach's boys lined up for the extra point. They tried to convert on a pass, the other side intercepted and went 103 yards for a touchdown, kicked the extra point and won 7 to 6."

This is contrary to the rules, but the referee allowed it and no one thought to challenge him.

Armistice Day guests at the Long Island-Campus football game were the soldiers, sailors and marines who came to the gate. They were passed on their uniforms and like the paying spectators got a chance to scramble for the red, white and blue footballs that were thrown into the stands. ... Ladies' day arrived in professional football when the Long Island Indians admitted escorted ladies.

Hilton Gridders Seek College Scoring Mark

Milwaukee — (U) — Marquette University football players worked on defensive formations yesterday, satisfied that their offense, which has run up 141 points in six games, is in running order.

The Hilltoppers play Michigan State in a homecoming game here Saturday and hope to repeat last year's surprise win over the state's Bobby Kemnitz' place kick gave the Marquette team a 17-14 victory at East Lansing last year.

The Hilltoppers have a good chance to top the university's all-time scoring record if they can score 33 points in their next three games. The record, set by the 1935 team, is 173 points made in nine games.

Marquette's freshmen will play the Ripon freshmen on Friday night after the homecoming parade winds into the stadium.

Roehm Bangs 245, 639 to Set Pace In Lutheran Loop

LUTHERAN BROTHERHOOD LEAGUE

A. Roehm drilled a 245 game and a 639 series to set a fast pace during Lutheran Brotherhood league matches at Elks alleys last evening. Best Teas turned in top team totals of 978 and 2,775 as they grand slammed Plamann Insurance for the only 3-game win of the evening and increased their league lead.

Among top marks were C. E. Sesser with 212 and 536, the Rev. F. C. Reuter 220-540, E. Rehben 525, H. VanBussum 539, R. Risse 195, A. Roehm 192 202 245-639, N. Brauer 200-548, Bud Huesemann 191 204-555, W. Lesselyong 234-563.

Good Advice

Frankfort, Ky. — (U) — Prompted perhaps by Kentucky's fame as a horse racing state, an Oklahoma woman who said she felt "lucky" wrote State Agriculture Commissioner William H. May for information on how to make a horse race bet. May wrote in reply:

"You say you feel lucky, and in this you are not alone. ... But pack your dreams in some far corner of your mind to be taken out from time to time and turned over as you would turn a priceless string

Star Midwest Backs Clash Saturday When Carls Meet Cornell

Mount Vernon, Ia. — The championship of the Midwest conference will be decided here Saturday as Carleton and Cornell clash in the last game of the season.

If Carleton wins or ties it will become the 1940 loop champion. If Cornell wins the game Beloit will automatically become the champion.

Two of the outstanding small college backfield men of the midwest will meet for the third and last time in the game. They are Gene Tornquist, 153-pound Cornell tailback, and Dick Raiter, Carleton's 154-pound left half. Both men are seniors and rank as outstanding all-around backs.

Loretta Giese High In Pot-o-Gold Loop

POT-O-GOLD LEAGUE

Loretta Giese walloped a 193 game and a 510 series for individual high marks during women's Pot-O-Gold afternoon league matches at Y. M. C. A. alleys this week. Quarters rolled 784 for high team game and knotted for team series honors with Nickels at 2,187. Quarters strengthened their hold on first place with a 2-game win over Dimes and Nickels pulled out of the cellar in sweeping their match with Pennies.

Match results:

Pennies (0)	638	644	633-1935

Kimberly Cagers Looking for Another Little Nine Pennant

Kimberly—Coach Hamann's high school cagers are out on the gym floor this week preparing for the Little Nine conference season which opens Dec. 6. With eight lettermen returning and a crop of new candidates to choose from, the Kimberly coach is looking forward to another Little Nine championship.

Before Little Nine play opens, Kimberly has two non-conference games to play with St. John of Little Chute. On Nov. 22, Kimberly travels to Little Chute and on Nov. 29 the Chuters come here. Last year St. John's won both of the games but not until overtime periods decided the final result. At Kimberly, one overtime period was necessary while at Little Chute two periods of overtime play gave the Dutchmen the win.

Four men who were with the team last year will not return this season. Q. Williams and J. Van Cuyk were lost through graduation last spring while J. Wynyard did not return to school this year. David Smith, another member of the squad, moved to La Crosse with his parents.

Lettermen returning are C. Gaffney, F. Vander Velden, C. Vander Velden, J. Gaffney, P. Smith, D. Larson, R. Willis, and F. Van Cuyk.

In an exhibition game here last December, Kimberly won over West Allis, a Class A school, 19 to 14. The visitors had class and showed fast offensive play. They worked the ball on the fast crisscrosses up the floor to the Papermakers free throw line but were stopped by the tight defense play of Kimberly.

Kimberly opens the Little Nine 1940-41 season at home with Coach Schroeder and his Hilbert squad furnishing the opposition. They wind up

Board Favors State Police Radio System

Resolution Ordered Sent to Governor Heil, Clerks of All Counties

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—The Winnebago county board of supervisors yesterday afternoon went on record as favoring state-wide radio system to be operated by the state government. Copies of their resolution which suggested that the radio system be state-owned were ordered sent to Governor Heil and the county clerk of each county in the state.

Supervisor John Tank, town of Algoma, told the supervisors that other states had found it quite satisfactory. The state probably would own the station, should such a system be established, and the county pay only for the maintenance and not the salaries of the radio operators.

Supervisor E. G. Sonnenberg, Menasha, stated that a state system would greatly benefit law enforcement and the capture of criminals and the recovery of stolen cars.

Supervisor L. W. Clark, Oshkosh, cast a dissenting vote, expressing the belief that it would lead to too much centralized power in the hands of the state.

The afternoon session yesterday dealt mostly with receiving the report of the pension department, submitted by Louis J. Howman, county pension administrator, and the discussion of the administration of relief and pensions in the county.

$155,000 For Pensions
The pension report showed total payments for pensions and relief to be $545,621.19, of which the county was reimbursed by state and federal funds the sum of $389,922.37. This made the net cost to the county to total $155,698.82. The amounts paid were for old age assistance, aids to dependent children, aids to the blind, and outdoor relief cases.

The board yesterday afternoon also approved the report of the equalization committee, apportioning to each district its share of the 1941 taxes. The equalization table was prepared by the state department of taxation.

The total estimated value of Winnebago county property was set at $114,942,615. The cities of Neenah, Menasha, and Oshkosh will pay on 70 per cent, or $80,085,150. The estimated value for each city and the 1941 tax apportionment is: Neenah, $18,651,535 or 16.27 per cent; Menasha, $15,151,390 or 13.12 per cent; and Oshkosh, $46,282,225 or 40.26 per cent.

The equalization figures for the various townships and their percentage to pay on the 1941 taxes is: Algoma, $2,154,640, 1.87 per cent; Black Wolf, $2,283,870, 1.98 per cent; Clayton, $2,201,705, 1.91 per cent; Menasha, $4,657,600, 4.05 per cent; Neenah, $1,545,065, 1.34 per cent; Nekim, $2,000,125, 1.74 per cent; Nepeuskun, $1,702,710, 1.48 per cent; Omro, $2,069,950, 1.80 per cent; Oshkosh, $2,929,065, 2.54 per cent; Poygan, $1,331,120, 0.94 per cent; Rushford, $1,982,620, 1.72 per cent; Utica, $1,826,410, 1.58 per cent; Winland, $2,073,815, 1.80 per cent; Winchester, $1,536,935, 1.37 per cent; Winneconne, $1,528,270, 1.33 per cent; and Wolf River, $1,460,185, 1.27 per cent.

The village of Omro has an evaluation of $946,750 or 0.824 per cent, while the village of Winneconne's figures are $826,590 or 0.719 per cent. The towns and villages will pay only 30 per cent of the county's taxes.

Reports On Airport

District Attorney Lewis C. Magnusen reported to the board on the progress of the purchasing of lands for the airport which the board voted 23 to 20, to buy in a special October session. The district attorney said that three pieces of property, totaling 214 acres had been purchased by the county, but the purchase of the remaining strip of 83 acres, the Adolph Runke farm, had been held up as the title was not clear.

The supervisors accepted the report of the trustees of the county asylum and county home. A discussion arose as to whether the policy of Racine county which had a special committee of the supervisors in control of the county home and asylum, was not a better plan than leaving it to a board of trustees. The discussion ended with County Clerk A. E. Hedke being instructed to write Racine county officials as to the success of their plan.

As a favor to those supervisors who desire to go deer hunting, the county board voted not to meet on Friday, November 22, and Monday, Nov. 25. The non-meeting supervisors were unsuccessful in their attempt to make their comrades who went hunting furnish a venison dinner for the county board.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and display advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street, and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for display advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or telephoned. Orders for classified advertising should be placed by telephoning 543 in Appleton, and the cost of the telephone call will be rebated. The Twin Cities office closes at 7 o'clock in the evening.

CREWMEN RESCUED FROM GROUND LAKES FREIGHTER—Seventeen members of the crew of the freighter Novadoc were rescued from the grounded ship off Pentwater, Mich., after they had clung to the ice-covered broken hull for 24 hours. Sailors from the stricken vessel are shown being taken aboard the fishing tug Three Brothers which reached the ship after earlier attempts in the stormy waters had failed. Two members of the Novadoc crew were reported lost.

U. S. Liberty in Danger, Graham Says at Neenah

Claims Europe 'Sold Out' in Address on Education, Defense

Neenah — "They sold out!" was the accusation flung at the people of Europe by Dean J. Clarke Graham, Ripon college, in an address last night at Neenah High school as he warned: "If liberty falls in America, it is because you and I and our children sold out as they did in Europe."

The people of Germany, Italy and Russia, who "laid their heritage of liberty on the altar, say that we in America can be divided and betrayed because we are money mad," the educator charged in his talk on "Education and National Defense" which was sponsored by the Neenah Teachers association in observance of National Education week.

"Liberty, a rare thing in world history, is in jeopardy," Dean Graham continued. "You may lose it tomorrow. But only on one condition—if you value something more than your freedom."

"Immigrants came to the United States, after the first few, because they were poor and wanted more worldly goods. It's a legitimate motive. We developed the west for land, not for freedom. The country prospered, and the immigrants were contented, and they may have thought that freedom produced prosperity."

"The last several years, however, has been a period of diminishing returns, a basic economic condition. But suppose those who came here began to feel the economic pinch, deprived of luxury, food and work. Then a demagogue came along and said he would show them the way to wealth. He'd be a spellbinder."

"Would they follow him? They might. That's what Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin did."

Money Charge Is True
Dean Graham told the small audience that Europe's charge that America is money mad is true, for Americans measure success largely by economics.

"If we value pleasure and worldly goods before we value freedom, we're going to lose our liberty, and those nations who have commanded their youth will conquer us because we are soft and they will be able to do it."

"Liberty is not for the individual but for the group. If labor unions are pitted against employers and vice versa, class against class and sections of the nation against other sections, we might sell our liberty to some demagogue who says 'down with democracy.' That happened in ancient Greece and Rome as well as France."

Graham told the audience that America's possibility of losing its liberty isn't inevitable. He contended that America is yet whole, sane and solemn, evidenced by the splendid love for America. I believe a wave of patriotism has swept over the United States. The war scare did one fine thing for this country; it mobilized our want for liberty."

Graham scored comic magazines and motion pictures for their bad effects on children. He said, "A million dollars was made last year from these comic magazines, which aren't funny and which are gross sensational trash, glorifying crime, sodomy and sex. These magazines are read by young boys and girls, and that's the kind of stuff that Hitler grew up on. You can't pour poison

Menasha Girl Scout Troop Gives Program at Sunnyview

Menasha—Girl Scout Troop 1, sponsored by St. Thomas Episcopal church, presented a musical program at Sunnyview sanatorium near Oshkosh Wednesday evening with Miss Helen Graef, assistant, directing. Miss Lucille Rusch, troop captain, also accompanied the group to Sunnyview.

The program opened with the singing of "America" after which a 2-part round "White Coral Bells" was presented. A hymn "Abide With Me" preceded the round "The Grasshoppers Three." Miss Lois Hardest and Miss Jo-Jo Quinn presented a comic novelty number, "The Germans Had a Picnic." The girls were dressed in costume for the selection.

A two part round "Kukeuro" followed after which the Girl Scout chant was sung. The hymn, "Thou Art the Way" preceded a 2-part harmony selection "Slumber." The program closed with the singing of taps.

Parents of Girl Scouts transported the girls to Oshkosh.

Party Is Planned
The intermediate Girl Scouts are planning a 6 o'clock party Saturday evening in the parish house. Refreshments will be in the charge of a committee which includes Jo-Jo Kimberly, chairman, Betty Terrell, Barbara Griffith, Rita Succs, Delores King, Mary Ellen Schmalz, Delores King, Mary Ellen Schmalz, and Marion Bodway.

Entertainment committee members are Audrey Steinfelt, chairman; Jo-Jo Quinn, Velda Reimer, Lois Hardest, Lois Merrill, Eva Brooks, Piza Stuart, Miss Marjorie McMahon is chairman of cleanup, assisted by Carol Lucille Swanson, Jean Eliss, Emily Reimer, Margaret Nash and Gloria Belle Schuyler.

Officers of the senior patrol which is to become the senior troop eventually are Susan Spengler, leader; Elaine Eckrich, assistant; Nancy Nelson, scribe and Geraldine Whaley, treasurer.

Miss Rusch will meet with the troop committee at 6 o'clock Monday afternoon in the parish house to make plans for the future.

Kloepfel Hits 670 In Banta Circuit
Menasha—Karl Kloepfel walloped a 670 series on games of 198, 234 and 238 for the top total in the Banta Men's league Wednesday at Hendy alleys. H. Weisberger counted a 250 for the best single mark.

High series included A. Zelinski 603, H. Weisberger 604, C. Vandenberg 620, V. Lynch 601, M. Hirte 629, W. Fellner 606 and H. Duerrwachter 629.

Menasha Junior High To Offer "Little Women"
Menasha—Menasha Junior High school will present the play "Little Women" under the direction of John Novakowski. Tryouts for the play will be held soon.

He criticized the motion picture industry, arguing that young girls' idea of being a lady is like the screen stars who can't stay married more than six months at a time.

The dean concluded: "Education isn't a way of making a living. It is a way of making life worth living." contending that "It isn't armaments and courage we need. We can purchase arms and we have plenty of young men with courage to give their lives for their country. We need ideals to make the country worth saving."

Gordon Albert, association president, introduced the speaker and guests, who included Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs, Aldermen James Anderson, Andrew Anderson, Carl Lechman and Harvey Nash; Leo Schubert and Charles Vette, board of education; Einar Neilsen, board of vocational and adult education; Emmett Wood, American Legion; Mrs. Arthur Haas, president, Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary; Emil Blank, commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and C. F. Hedges, superintendent of schools.

J. H. Holzman, Neenah High school principal, was chairman of the committee in charge of the meeting.

Neenah Coach Pares Squad to 30 Candidates

Neenah — Coach Ole Jorgensen today reported that he has pared a squad of more than 75 candidates for the Neenah High school basketball team to a working crew of 30 this week as the cagers swing into serious training for the opening game Tuesday night, Nov. 26.

The Neenah mentor expects to cut the squad again within the next week to about 25 men. Ivan Williams, assistant coach, will drill the second team.

Neenah will tackle Omro in its opening game in a non-league tilt. The Rockets will play Appleton Saturday night, Nov. 30, before they open their Northeastern Wisconsin conference season against Shawano Dec. 6. The Omro game will be played at Neenah while the next two contests will be away from home.

Coach Jorgensen is discouraging ideas that the Omro game is going to be a set up. Omro, he said, is playing independent ball this season, having dropped out of its league because the team was too tough for the rest of the circuit.

He also pointed out that in the regional tournament, Omro defeated the two tournament favorites, Beaver Dam and Mayville, schools much larger than Omro.

Neenah, defending conference champions, tilted in the regional tournament and semifinalist in the state tournament, is expected to be a contender for the league title again this year, although Shawano, according to preseason predictions, is conceded the team to beat.

The Rockets have only eight practice sessions left before they meet Omro. Captain Buxton Kettering, forward, hasn't reported yet because of an injury received in football. The other regulars are Richard Miller and Julius Hertzfeldt, guards; Charles Kettering, forward; Moyman, Haufe, Luka, Gottfried and Kuehl, first stringers from last year, are back.

Level Athletic Field At Menasha High School
Menasha — The athletic field at the new high school has been leveled and water mains have been installed. Street department trucks and graders and relief department labor were used for the work. Grass will be seeded on the field next year.

Additional loads of cinders have been placed on the quarter mile track although they have not been spread yet. The track probably will be ready for meets next spring. Diamond ball grounds and other play areas on the athletic field also have been leveled.

Junior Cagers Defeat Freshmen Team, 39-1
Neenah—The juniors humbled the freshmen, 39 to 1, to score their second straight victory in the Neenah High school basketball tournament Wednesday noon in the gymnasium.

James Gottfried paced the juniors with 10 points on five baskets, and Chris Lemberg scored eight points on four buckets. Elmer Kuchenbecker scored the lone point for the freshmen.

Examiner Will Meet Citizenship Aspirants
Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—Clerk of Court Edward C. Abell announced today that an examiner from the immigration and naturalization department of the federal department of justice would be here from Monday until Wednesday of next week to conduct preliminary examinations of applicants for citizenship and their witnesses. About 45 applicants are expected to be examined.

Questionnaire Sent To Next 25 Draftees
Menasha — Twenty-five additional questionnaires were sent out Wednesday by the draft board to registrars in district No. 5. Questionnaires have been sent to all persons holding order numbers 1 to 125 inclusive on the local list.

Doudna Reviews State Progress In Education

250 in Audience at Menasha Program in School Auditorium

Menasha—Edgar G. Doudna, secretary of the state normal school board of regents, Madison, reviewed the progress of education in the last 50 years and pointed out some of its needs today before an audience of 250 at the American Education week program sponsored by the Menasha Education association Wednesday night in the high school auditorium.

Doudna pointed out that he grew up in an age of absolute certainty. The public thought that answers to all problems had been reached or would be shortly. Today is a period of uncertainty. Everything is questioned, sometimes by force, and there even is a doubt as to whether freedom can survive. Citizens in those days were certain that this country was worth living in and if necessary worth dying for. The pioneer settlers also had faith in schools. They made numerous sacrifices to establish schools, confident that they could furnish the young people with all of the answers.

When Doudna was of high school age only one person in eight went to high school while now three out of four do. He pointed out that in Wisconsin alone the number of high school graduates has risen from 2,333 a year to 32,000 in the last 50 years. Today the opportunity for a high school education is taken for granted although in Europe many still are denied that privilege.

Methods Change
He commented on the technical growth of schools from the "lick 'em and learn 'em" age. Buildings have been improved until now many kindergartens are better equipped than some of the homes from which the youngsters come. The whole psychology of teaching also has changed. Formal discipline no longer is the problem it was and fear has no part in the relationship of student and teacher.

Reading in the old days was entirely oral from uninteresting books. Today even kindergarten youngsters have beautiful books, highest examples of typography, some of them printed in Menasha, and auxiliary material is plentiful. Doudna criticized academic formalism and the tendency toward fads. Literature offers an escape and an opportunity to understand the glories of this country, the difficulties of the early settlers, the problems of the Revolutionary war leaders. He suggested that literature might help create an appreciation of freedom.

In his school days, health was considered in the physiology class or else learned from the doctor book or almanac and he mentioned the strides made in school health, vaccinations, tuberculosis examinations, physical education. Similar strides have been made in art, music, arithmetic, grammar and other subjects. "Anyone visiting schools today can see what has happened in the last 50 years."

Discipline Needed
However, while some things are good, the schools do need some other things. He urged a return to discipline, not so much formal as self-discipline. Americans need that for they think not of their obligations but their rights. Decency in manners, dress, conduct, language, and respect for the rights of others also are needed.

"Perhaps we need a sense of humility. We don't know all of the answers. Political, economic, and social reforms alone cannot change the world without a spiritual regeneration," Doudna stressed the need for good examples, saying, "Youngsters watch what we do, not what we say. I'm surprised that young people are as decent, clean and fine as they are in view of some of the examples they get. Kind, understanding, human teachers, not pointing but leading the way, are needed."

F. B. Younger, superintendent of schools, presided at the meeting, and introduced Mr. Doudna and Miss Irene Harney, president of the Menasha Education association, who welcomed the guests. The school superintendent traced the development of American Education week which originated 20 years ago when draft figures revealed that 25 per cent of the population was illiterate, that many had physical defects, and that many were foreigners with little idea of American ideals. "Education for Common Defense" is the theme of the observance this year.

The Menasha High school choir sang three selections under the direction of Franklyn LeFevre. Richard Mattern played a trombone solo and Edith Elsted and Robert Beck played a saxophone duet while Lamar Folt played the piano accompaniments. The choral readers presented several humorous poems under the direction of Miss Betty Ann Johnson.

36 Receive Certificates in Leadership Training Course

Neenah — Thirty-six persons were awarded certificates of credit by the Rev. William A. Riggs, dean of the first interdenominational leadership training course sponsored by the Twin City Ministerial association, at the banquet program which climaxed the 6-week course. More than 100 persons attended the banquet in First Evangelical church which was featured by an address by Dr. Thomas Kepler, Appleton, who substituted for Dr. William J. Bell, Minneapolis, who was unable to keep the engagement because of weather conditions.

The Rev. W. L. Harms, president of the Twin City Ministerial union, and pastor of Whiting Memorial Baptist church, gave the invocation. Kenneth Kendall, director of First Evangelical church choir, led group singing after which Mrs. Elyner Anderson, Miss Eleanor Anne Stadtmueller and Mrs. Louis J. Howman expressed appreciation, on behalf of their classes, for the work of the instructors, the Rev. Gerald C. Churchill, Miss Florence Warner and Dr. Kepler. The Rev. Mr. Riggs also expressed the appreciation of the association and the school for the work which Mrs. Rhoda Abrahams, pastor's assistant at First Presbyterian church, did as school registrar.

Receive Certificate
Those who received certificates were Mr. and Mrs. William Zinke, Mrs. W. J. Peterson, Mrs. William Pearson, Mrs. Ed Mott, Mrs. Fred Kuehl, Mrs. Carl Kleopfel, Lucille and Lillian Cowling, Gladys Clapper, Mrs. E. L. Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Elyner Anderson; Mrs. William A. Riggs, P. J. Bylow, Miss Stadtmueller, Loren Grant, Dorothy Belleau, Harold Wilkes, Nathan Wauda, Mrs. L. Cyrtum and Vivian Marchhoff; the Rev. Roy W. Berg, Mrs. Berg, Mrs. Hugo Erdmann, Mrs. W. J. Harms, Mrs. W. Helms, Mrs. L. J. Howman, Grace Wauda, Lois Luther, Eleanor Wauda and M. S. Madison.

Dr. Kepler, in his address on "Things Men Live With," declared that one "Should be concerned not so much with what belongs to him but more with what he belongs to; not so much the labels he wears but more with the loyalties he possesses" as he pointed out that we have to live with ourselves in the very immediate present and we can do a great deal to mold and determine what kind of personality we will be to live with.

"We who belong to the religious background and tradition are the Christians who belong to a minority group; not the easiest group but the most worthwhile; the lonely figures in the center of culture. Socrates, Bruno, Jesus ... belonged to the minority group and today Socrates is known as the father of Greek philosophy, Bruno has a monument built in his honor and Jesus is the life and hope of the world."

Takes Courage
"To stand with the minority group takes the magic of courage," Dr. Kepler told his audience. "Not only do we live with ourselves but we live with hope and though we may feel safe by hope, we can be deceived; but nevertheless there are times when life is deepest and hope is deeper when there is tragedy. Out of hope comes creativity. We live too with our memories and the way we select our memories is more important than the ideals we are to choose for it gives us a kind of perspective. Life is never very easily lived."

"Jesus and his religion is true to the nature of reality and the way in which a person can live life at its best. The reflection of His light makes everything else worthwhile living for. We must live not just for today but today for tomorrow and the ideals which we cherish."

The Rev. Walter R. Courtenay, pastor of First Presbyterian church, closed the program with a prayer of consecration and benediction.

November Accident Count in Decrease
Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—Automobile accidents in Winnebago county for the first nine days of November totaled 13, in which 10 persons were injured and 19 cars damaged, according to Floyd L. Wright of the county safety council. The same period last year had reported 12 accidents leading to the injury of three persons and the damaging of 21 cars.

Since the first of the year 513 accidents have been reported, in which 15 persons were killed and 307 injured and 777 cars damaged. A corresponding period in 1939 had reported 457 accidents, with 11 killed, 261 injured, and 662 cars damaged.

Homemakers of Menasha to Hold General Meeting

Green Bay Man to Address Group on Interior Decorating

Menasha—The Homemakers club of the Menasha School of Vocational and Adult education will have the second of its series of five general meetings at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the vocational school with Harris Gibout, Green Bay, as speaker.

Mr. Gibout will speak on "New Trends in Interior Decoration." Music will mark the program also and a Thanksgiving tea will follow with the social and hospitality committee members in charge.

The first of the general meetings of the Homemakers club was held last September with a speaker on clothing and textiles. During the remainder of September and October, special groups meetings were conducted as study was held on subjects of particular interest to members of the groups. About 20 members make up the personnel of each unit.

The general meeting in January will feature a program on family relationships with a guest speaker. In March, a food and nutrition program is planned and in May, the subject for discussion will be consumer education.

Miss Amy Horn, member of the faculty of the Menasha vocational school, is in charge of the homemakers program and arranges for the general meetings with the aid of the program, social, hospitality and music committees which include members of the club.

100 Debaters To Appear in N.E.W. Meet

Tournament Will Be Conducted Saturday At Neenah School

Neenah—More than 100 debaters will participate in the annual Northwestern Wisconsin conference debate tournament Saturday at Neenah High school, Robert Ozzane Neenah debate coach and tournament manager, reported today.

Teams from nine schools have entered the tournament, the first conference tourney to be held in Neenah. They are Algoma, Clintonville, Kaukauna, New London, Neenah, Two Rivers, Shawano, Oconto and Kewaunee.

The tournament will be divided into A and B classes, the first for experienced debaters and the second for inexperienced debaters. Each school will enter a team in both events and the coaches will serve as judges.

The question being debated is "Resolved: That the powers of the federal government be increased."

The Neenah debaters are Robert Williams, William Miller, Marjorie Zeller, Carol Jean Falek, William Murphy, Laverne Blank, Meyer Burstein, Janet Jaeger, Maurice Webb, Patricia Doll, Milton Liess and Margaret Stahl.

Twin City DeMolays Outline Plans for 4th Annual Round-Up

Menasha—The fourth annual De Molay round-up of Winnebago chapter, the twenty-first anniversary of DeMolay in Wisconsin, will be held at 6:30 Wednesday night in the Neenah Masonic temple, "Dad" Isham, state DeMolay executive, and several other officials from Milwaukee will attend the round-up.

Invitations have been extended to neighboring chapters in the Fox River valley and to Masons, past members, and anyone interested in the work of the chapter. George Robinson and Gilbert Krueger are co-chairmen for the event. Plans for the round-up were completed at the chapter meeting Wednesday night in the Menasha Masonic lodge rooms.

The initiatory degree was conferred on five candidates last night. They were Jerry Winch and Dean Younger, Menasha, and Gordon Nooyan, Walter Handler and Don Haertel, Neenah. The members will have the De Molay degree conferred upon them soon.

Charles Brian, who attended the state DeMolay convocation at Kenosha last weekend, gave a short resume of the events that took place there.

Seeks Money to Build Dormitory

Would Give 4-H Club Members Place To Sleep at Fair

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh—A request for a $3,000 appropriation to build a dormitory at the Winnebago county fairgrounds so that "4-H club members would have as good a place to sleep as their cattle and sheep during the county fair" again was made of the Winnebago county board at its session this morning by Taylor G. Brown, secretary of the County Fair association.

A similar request was presented by the board's budget committee in its preliminary 1941 budget estimate submitted Tuesday.

The county board asked that a complete report of all insurance on the county-owned airport be included with the report to be filed by the aviation committee. Supervisor Roy Kittleson, town of Winchester, told the board that the insurance situation was being investigated by the district attorney.

Conservation Club Plants 500 Trees

Neenah—More than 500 trees were planted this fall by the Neenah High school Conservation club south of Neenah, it was reported by Duane Schimmel, committee chairman, at a meeting this week at the high school.

The trees included Austrian pine, white spruce, Norway spruce, black hills spruce and Colorado blue spruce. They were planted on the Cowling farm north of Old Glory farms. Other trees will be planted in nursery rows on the plot at Laudan field and later will be transplanted. Several American elm trees also will be planted at the field.

The next club meeting will be Dec. 3, and Arthur Rudebeck will be in charge. Swamp planting will be discussed.

D. Larsen Kegles 538 In Women's Pin League

Menasha—D. Larsen toppled the pins for a 538 top series in the Hendy Women's league Wednesday night. She had games of 170, 186 and 182. Best game was a 218 by Bea Kosloske while L. Currie hit a 216 game.

High series included Alice Rausch, 509, Leone Zenefski 506, L. Currie 523 and M. Alger 523.

Team honors went to the Lake Park keglers with an 865 game and 2,434 series. Meadowview team had the second high series of 2,398.

A daughter was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bork, 522 Washington avenue, Neenah, at Theda Clark hospital.

Takes New Stance

Statesville, N. C.—(P)—Did you ever see a mountain walking? Well, maybe not, but Southern Railway officials say they have plenty of evidence that one moved.

After two successive cloudbursts and floods, railway maintenance men found tracks near Point Lookout seven feet out of line.

Electric and telegraph poles over a long stretch of right of way also had moved. Officials could find no evidence of any slides.

Aid to Britain May Broaden Into Merchant Shipping Field

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—The question of aiding Britain seems about to broaden out into the shipping field. That would create new problems for this country and might involve even reconsideration of the neutrality act restrictions on American shipping. Some aid-to-Britain groups are talking about a public campaign for repeal of the restrictions.

For several months Britain has lost shipping at a fairly heavy rate, more than half of what it was during the critical winter of 1917 when we entered the previous war. The British expect this rate to go still higher for two reasons. First, the axis has found that air bombardment alone is not crushing England and apparently is turning more and more to the attack on shipping that almost brought Britain to her knees before. Secondly, Germany has been building a large number of submarines which are now coming into service.

Churchill has warned of the probability of intensified submarine warfare in coming months. He says it is a grave menace than air raids. The British have been putting heat on Erie in an effort, thus far in vain, to obtain the use of ports on the Irish coast.

British difficulties are increased by the fact that shipping must travel longer routes than in the previous war, Germany having closed off the entire continent of Europe.

Just as Britain has looked to the United States for aircraft, so she is beginning to look in this direction for protection against threatened shipping stringency.

The first moves to build British ships in America are being made. Probably our own shipbuilding facilities will be vastly expanded to provide additional ways for merchant ships destined for Britain.

This will be in addition to our own large construction program. As our own merchant craft near completion it is likely that demands will be heard to release this tonnage to Britain. Already the British have purchased a number of our old cargo ships. Our own navy has been requisitioning merchant shipping for conversion to transport use.

In all, there is comparatively little merchant tonnage that could now be turned over to Britain. Nevertheless transfer of registry will be urged for such as is available.

U. S. Shipping in War Zones Advocated Now

Furthermore, agitation is coming up for repeal of the restrictions in the neutrality act which keep American shipping out of the war zones. When war began, much of our active shipping was transferred to routes out of the danger

Munsche, Haerli Share Pin Honors

Neenah—Charles Munsche and B. Haerli shared honors in the Commercial Bowling league last night at the Neenah alleys, each rolling high series of 627. Haerli rolled high game of 244.

Official Draft Numbers are Announced by Local Boards

In order that Outagamie county registrants under the selective service act may know their exact call number in the three Outagamie county draft districts, the Post-Crescent will print the entire list of registrants and their order numbers over a period of days.

It must be remembered that the order numbers assigned to registrants are not the same as the order numbers drawn in the national lottery because all order numbers larger than the number of registrants in the district have been discarded. Thus a registrant whose order number was 2,743 as drawn in the national lottery finds that his order number in the First Outagamie county draft district is 533. The difference is due to the fact that some 2,000 numbers, drawn in the national lottery, under Order No. 1 and Order No. 2,743 were larger than the number of registrants in the district, and therefore have been discarded by the local draft board in assigning numbers to cards here.

Put in another way, Order No. 2,743 was the 525th number that was not larger than the total number of registrants in the district, and therefore became Order No. 525 in the district.

The numbers printed here have been carefully checked by the draft board and may be regarded as official. If your name does not appear in the list printed here, it will appear on a subsequent day.

The following order numbers have been assigned by the First district of Outagamie county, which includes only the city of Appleton:

- 1 158 Pomusk, Philip
- 2 192 Larson, Leslie L.
- 3 106 Kussmann, Emil A.
- 4 241 Belle, Everett John
- 5 2363 Danielson, Ralph Wm.
- 6 188 Gordon, David O.
- 7 120 Potter, Raymond H.
- 8 2914 Marx, Joseph G.
- 9 2670 Selig, Elmer F.
- 10 3048 Schulz, Edward M.
- 11 2451 Heegemann, Urban A.
- 12 2748 Kolberg, Wilbur R.
- 13 2688 Hens, Eugene L.
- 14 846 Moritz, Earl M.
- 15 2764 Ruth, Elmer LeRoy
- 16 161 Muenster, Orville A.
- 17 3011 Defferding, Robert C.
- 18 3294 Schabo, Jr. Elmer Carl

Move to Help Persons Prove When, Where They Were Born

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Can you prove when and where you were born? A lot of persons, required to present birth certificates for military service, for employment in various defense industries, particularly in national defense work, and other purposes can't, which is one reason for rushing a project recently begun by the state board of health in cooperation with various local units in Wisconsin.

So that all birth certificates filed anywhere in Wisconsin may be immediately available in both the county courthouses and the state capitol, the state bureau of vital statistics is hurrying a $700,000 project to index all the vital statistics certificates in the state, whether local, county or state.

The project has been underway for ten months in many localities, including Brown, Outagamie, Oconto and many other counties and cities. The project will be extended into other counties soon, according to Francis E. Kester, head of the bureau.

Kester points out that in all parts of the county registrars have been flooded with requests for birth certificates, many of them arising out of demands for proofs of age and citizenship for welfare beneficiaries. In many instances, vital statistics records were found inadequate or unavailable. Dr. Halbert Dunn, director of the vital statistics section of the census bureau in Washington recently discovered that, according to his birth certificate, the date of his birth was wrong by 18 months. Kester pointed out.

He said: "The recent rush of work has centered attention upon the fact that birth certificates for many people have not been filed. Some of these people are now attempting to file such records by what is known as the delayed filing procedure. However, the rush to file such delayed records and the use of questionable or unreliable information therein has jeopardized all birth records because it has subjected the worth of such records to doubt."

"Because of this the department will shortly advocate the use of better substantiating information for delayed affidavits; this information will consist of baptismal records, census records or any other data which will tend to prove the authenticity of the statements contained in the affidavit."

Another valley transportation matter before the utility body relates to the authority of the Appleton Town Taxi service to tow damaged vehicles with a wrecker.

NEW LONDON SMOKE EATERS—New London's fire fighting equipment consists of four units, two modern gasoline pumps and a steam pump capable of producing a combined total of 1,850 gallons of water per minute, and a general service truck carrying equipment, gas masks, chemical extinguishers, back tanks and miscellaneous tools. They are lined up before the fire house which is a part of the city hall. The steamer, once drawn by horses, can be hooked behind the service truck if needed. Up to 1924, a similar steamer was the only pumping equipment owned by the city and this one is being kept for sentimental reasons although it also has its utilitarian value. At the left is Chief Dan Rex. (Post-Crescent Photo.)

New London Fire Department is Proud of its Record, Equipment

New London—With a reminder of the old horse and buggy days still a part of its fire fighting equipment, the New London Fire Department boasts of as fine an outfit as found in any other city of its size in the state and points with pride to its record of no major flagrant fires since adequate equipment was purchased following disastrous fires in 1924 and 1925.

Housed now in the fire house which is a part of the city hall are a 1,000-gallon Buffalo pump purchased in 1934; a 500-gallon Four Wheel Drive pump bought in 1924; a Stoughton service truck which dates back to 1922; and a coal burning steamer capable of throwing 350 gallons of water per minute.

The Stoughton truck was originally a chemical carrying machine but was converted into a service truck in 1935 after the big pump had been secured. It carries five ladders, the longest a 50-footer, 400 feet of 2 1/2 inch hose, chemical and water tank extinguishers, firemen's boots and hats and other miscellaneous tools and apparatus.

The 1,000-gallon-per-minute pump carries a 100-gallon booster tank, carries 1,400 feet of 2 1/2-inch hose, 400 feet of 1 1/2-inch hose, several special nozzles, and other vital equipment. The FWD has a 90-gallon booster tank, 250 feet of 1-inch hose, 1,200 feet of 2 1/2-inch hose, 200 feet of 1 1/2-inch hose, and carries two big ladders.

Bad Fire In 1924
Only as far back as 1924 the only means of fighting fire in the city of New London was a horse-drawn coal-burning steamer and the Stoughton chemical truck, and the latter was secured only in 1922.

Then on New Year's day, 1924 catastrophe struck. Two city blocks of the main business section of North Water street was gutted by fire at a loss of $38,000. The blaze was stopped with the city's only pump, the steamer, with the aid of the Clintonville department. The steamer failed to survive the strain and was replaced by the present one. The need of adequate protection was realized and within several months the city owned the 500-gallon FWD pump. In May, 1926, eight stores counted a loss of about $20,000 when fire broke out again in the same business section. Since then, however, no fire has ever gotten beyond the bounds of its origin with the present equipment available.

The equipment is manned by 14 call men, paid volunteers, who leave their work at nearby shops and garages to fight fire at a moment's notice. They meet twice a month for study, practice, and rehearsal, and get paid a straight salary of $200 a year regardless of how many alarms they answer. The chief gets $400 a year.

Buzzer Alarms
An independent buzzer system extends into the home of every fireman and to his place of employment. Matt Nesbitt, city hall janitor and department engineer, is the head driver and is on duty at the fire house 24 hours a day and has a substitute every minute he's away. His apartment is just above the fire house and the entire city hall and municipal offices are wired with buzzer alarms. He has been on the job for 15 years.

When notice of a fire comes in by telephone, Nesbitt buzzes the firemen and the Borden Milk plant where the fire whistle is located. The whistle is automatically tripped by a separate, battery-operated circuit so that failure of city power lines will not interfere with the alarm. After the whistle is tripped, a Borden fireman or watchman replies by making it screech. The ward in which the fire is located is then transmitted over a bell system located near the whistle cord and the operator of the whistle responds.

Automobiles Equipped
Nesbitt drives the Buffalo to the scene of the reported blaze and other firemen follow, the first ones reaching the fire house taking the service truck. Others speed in their own private cars, most of them equipped with howling sirens and identifying emblems. Five of the men are qualified to operate the motor pumps. The four wheel drive is reserved for emergencies and is used exclusively on rural calls.

The department has been housed in the city hall building since it was built in 1896. Dan Rex became chief in March 1939, when C. J. Dean, still a member of the department, resigned after 12 years as head.

The city's fire protection is governed by a police and fire commission of five members who this year were allotted the average sum of $5,350 in the city's budget to spend for salaries and equipment. In addition the city pays yearly rental of $6,120 for hydrants located strategically throughout the city, and another $100 for periodical inspection of buildings. The commissioners are appointed by the mayor and the body is not responsible to the council within the limits of its budget.

Rudy Ploetz is chairman, P. J. Dornbach secretary, and other members are Fred Radtke, William Viel and Art Unger.

Smoke-eating Tradition
The call men are garage men or city department employees or commercial service men in the downtown district. The fire fighting spirit seems hereditary as a number of families have had firemen on the rolls of the department for several generations.

The group elects its own officers every year but the chief is appointed by the commission. Gerald Dent is chairman, Irving Ziebell, secretary, Dan Rex is chief, William Dent assistant chief. Others are Dean Nesbitt, Ralph Restle, Harvey Greenlaw, Arthur Freiburger, George Humble, Clair Rockaby, Leo Herres, Francis Burton and William Hall.

League Team Marks Broken
Cline and Learman Keglers Hit 942 for Single Game Record

New London—Team records were broken in the Business Men's Major bowling league at Prah's alleys last night. Dave's Service boosting their own series mark to 2,517 while Cline and Learman keglers took the team single away from them with a 942 count.

Contributing to the total mark were Dave Vandever with 533, Alton Hutchison with 520, Jack Mullarkey's 204 line was the highest toward the single game record. Daves beat Cline and Learman two.

Meiklejohn's Clothes took over the lead by one game when they took two games from Mick's Left Handers. Gordon Meiklejohn rolled 209 and 529 for the Clothes.

Young People's League
Three marks fell in the Lutheran Young People's league as the Juglers smashed new team highs of 579 and 1,670 and cleaned the Shakers three games for a stronger lead. John Restle of the Suzabella's opened up for a big 201 game to boost that mark to a new high. He totaled 436. The Suzabellas earned a second place tie with the Dodgers by beating them two games.

Plywood League
Tip Krohn banged a 222 single and 538 total for Lufts Yanks to lead the loop while the team plugged two games from Reepke's Cubs to hold the top. Elroy Stern added a 194 and 522 combination. Glen Hall scored a 200 line for the losers. Erv Fuerst collected a 519 count for Wally's Bees as they took two from Hank's Dodgers.

Deeds Office Receipts $848 During October

Receipts in the office of Stephen M. Peeters, Outagamie county register of deeds, amounted to $848.90 in October. Receipts for the same month a year ago were $815.50. During the last month there were 588 chattel filings and 635 document recordings as compared with 692 filings and 528 recordings in October of 1939.

Bad Weather Hampers Red Cross Drive
Volunteer Workers Will Make Canvass Of New London Homes

New London—Unfavorable weather has hampered the launching of the American Red Cross membership drive in New London, according to Dr. George H. Kopp, roll call chairman, but a corps of volunteer workers has been assembled by ward captains this week and the house to house personal canvass will begin as soon as the weather is favorable.

The workers who have received their Red Cross soliciting material this week are as follows: First ward, Mrs. George H. Kopp, captain, J. J. Kircher, Mrs. F. J. Pfeiffer, Mrs. Leo Meshke, Miss Mae Monahan, Mrs. J. W. Neal, Mrs. E. C. Zillmer, Mrs. R. C. Phillips, Mrs. Ida Fisher, Miss Grace Fleischer, Mrs. George Ross.

Third ward, E. C. Oestreich, captain, Mrs. William Marks, Mrs. Ralph Roberts, Mrs. Ralph Mortenson, Mrs. Rachel Herring, Mrs. Carl Pasch, Mrs. Chris Magelsen.

Fourth ward, Mrs. Oscar Nem-schoff and Miss Betty Morse, captains, Mrs. Walter Schoenrock, Miss Maxine Knapstein, Mrs. F. J. Murphy, Miss Marjorie Richter, Mrs. M. A. Borchardt, Mrs. James Edminister, Mrs. C. H. Kellogg, Mrs. Henry Hofman, Mrs. R. L. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Donald Barlow, Mrs. Harvey Greenlaw, Mrs. Frank Myers, Mrs. Walter Raschke.

Attorney J. V. Nemschoff is chairman of the drive on the entire north side of the city and has secured the services of Mrs. L. J. Polaski as captain of the Second ward and Mrs. Louis Kurzevski as captain of the Fifth. They will gather a group of workers this week.

The annual campaign also will be conducted in the various factories. The drive will continue until Thanksgiving day next Thursday.

Crew Begins Work on Street Decorations

New London—Erection of Christmas street decorations was begun yesterday by the city light and water department with the stringing of electric light wires on S. Pearl and North Water streets. Theodore Knapstein again will supervise the erection of evergreen decorations on lamp posts and it is planned to have the work completed by next Wednesday, Nov. 20.

New London merchants again will sponsor a home decorations contest. Three cash prizes totaling $20 will be awarded during the holiday season.

Considerable Damage In Wake of Storm

Chilton—Considerable damage was done in Calumet county by the terrific wind storm Monday and Tuesday. Many windmills were twisted and blown down, roofs and barn doors blown off buildings, windows and chimneys torn off from residences, trees uprooted and many split in pieces, telephone and telegraph and electric wires broken and poles broken off and many blown down. The large plate glass front in the Theodore Steudel Jewellery store crashed in Monday evening, two large plate windows of the Monumental Works building crashed into the building in Chilton and the smoke stack on the rendering plant was blown down. Much damage was done to cottages and homes along the east shore of Lake Winnebago.

ROMAN ROADS

Two thousand years ago, the ancient Romans were on the march. Armies were traveling far and wide to conquer new lands, and thus to add to the so-called "glory" of the Roman empire.

The center of power was in the city of Rome. From there it had spread through all of Italy. Northern Africa, Spain and Greece had fallen victims.

In the time of Julius Caesar, Roman power was made firm in the country now called France, but which then was known as Gaul. Caesar's forces crossed to Britain, and most of that island fell into the hands of Rome. The northern part, where the Picts lived, kept its freedom.

At one time the Roman empire stretched from Britain to Babylonia. It included Egypt, and had an area of more than a million square miles.

No such empire had been known before. It was more than twice the size of the empire built up by Alexander the Great.

We may wonder how the Romans were able to win so many wars. The answer is to be found in Roman roads and in the way soldiers were fitted out and trained.

The Romans built the best roads of their time. The highways were paved, and reached to far parts of the empire.

There is an old saying, "All roads lead to Rome." The saying might have been turned around to tell us that all roads also led away from Rome.

From the capital city, soldiers moved along the roads on the way to war. Some rode in chariots or were pulled in carts, but most of them traveled on foot.

Think of the difference in warfare in olden days! The Romans had no gunpowder, no rifles, no cannon. There were no bombing planes, no steel-covered battleships.

The arms of the Romans were made up chiefly of swords, spears and bows and arrows. The men wore metal helmets to save their heads from blows of the enemy.

The soldiers were drilled with greatest care. They knew how to follow orders, and were quick to do what was asked of them.

Sometimes a defeat was suffered by a Roman army, but this did not mark the end of the war. A new army soon was ready, and it usually succeeded in turning the defeat into a victory. So it came about that people feared the Romans, and bowed to their will. The lands around the Mediterranean were filled with people who were bound in a kind of slavery.

Yet the time was to come when the power of Rome would be broken.

After That Campaign, Both Sides Need Some Combing Out

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—The collaboration of Harold Ickes and Harry Hopkins with Kelly and Hague in the late campaign of the party of humanity has been noted and approved by a slight plurality, along with the mutuality of Fiorello La Guardia and the once abhorrent Mr. Flynn. These associations were equally embarrassing to all concerned, and the little flower's shame was such that in a moment of angry self-reproach he snatched his own conscience by the neck-tie and tried to throttle the small, still voice.

Yet, for the record, it should be noted that there were other alliances hardly less incongruous and that we seem to be developing here, in our two-party system, a condition somewhat like that which existed in France until Hitler came along and unified the funny race.

Of those who favored the candidacy of Wendell Wilkie this voter, at least, has come to realize since the campaign ended that he found himself yanking at the covers in the company of some types with whom he would not be found dead, much less in bed. It was unpleasant to receive letters of encouragement from malignant anti-Semites and to be called "one of us" by smug and stuffy individuals who obviously never did a lick of work in their lives and have strong ideas about the lower classes, indorsing my work "against unions."

One crazy man who reads Hitler and Streicher, and doubtless sleeps with a gun under his pillow, wrote to warn me of some foul international plot against my life and to assure me that my assassination would be avenged by the knights of some secret order. I had given no indication of any sympathy with his hallucinations, but he was against Roosevelt as a "tool" of the devils who dance in his own head, and therefore favored Roosevelt's opponents, including me.

A file of this correspondence, which I threw away from day to day, would be an interesting historical keepsake, but I am no librarian, and posterity probably will be better off without it.

But the lines crossed and recrossed in a great tangle of confused animosities and purposes which must have placed many others in very uncomfortable society.

Several Catholic clergymen came out for Wilkie, and thus found themselves on the same side with John L. Lewis, who, unquestionably, now, as before, has the support of the communist element in the C.I.O. If the communists voted for Wilkie they were ingrates, for they owed much to the New Deal, and if they didn't they let down the man who has and been their man in the American labor movement, although

The World of STAMPS

The second World War has collectors of covers agog again and at the moment first preference seems to be for those coming by trans-oceanic clippers.

Many private collectors are favoring covers bearing new stamps from European countries and insist that censor mark and post-mark be distinctly in evidence.

The proudest collector seems to be the man who can get his hands on covers from German-occupied territory where overprints or new issues add to the interest. Equally desired are envelopes from the Third Reich, especially when they bear some of the newer German stamps.

Strange to say these foreign covers are not particularly valuable.

"It's only when you insist on having a certain foreign cover that you're apt to pay a tremendous price for it," one big dealer comments. "Even so you may find later that the value of that piece has gone down. That will be when the war is over and censorship lifts to allow a flood of similar covers on the markets."

Some dealers, nevertheless, are gathering a few foreign covers out of the war areas and from other countries. These are not being placed in regular stock yet nor are they considered as important as first-day covers.

While excitement is growing over the purchase of covers, it doesn't yet parallel that of ten years ago when Civil War covers were hitting the peak sales.

As far as the dealers are concerned more importance is attached to the United States Marine Corps' official authorization of a cachet for the first time in history. The occasion was the 165th anniversary of the founding of the corps by the Continental Congress. The cachet was used Nov. 10 with appropriate cancellation aboard the U.S.S. Philadelphia.

Then, in New York, we discovered on the platform at one of the president's rallies Mr. Generoso Pope, the publisher of the ripest and most profitable Italian press in the United States, a political padrone of the Italian duce over thousands of Americans of Italian descent, and one who has worn with juvenile pride the honors received from the commander in chief of the fearless invincibles of Guadalupe and Greece. Mr. Pope is a Tammany man, as well as a Mussolini man, and in a terrible hour he found it necessary to indorse for a third term the man who accused his duce of stabbing a stricken neighbor in the back.

It is going to take some time to comb ourselves out.

Average College Girl Has Poise But Her Grammar Ain't So Hot

By JOSEPH A. RAWLINGS

Chicago —(4)—The average college girl of today has what it takes for a successful venture in business or the professions—poise—but she doesn't know her grammar, a career school official said today.

These conclusions were drawn by M. P. Nelson, co-director of the Career Institute, dedicated to the task of training college women for secretarial positions they hope to use as stepping stones for executive positions in business and the professions.

Only girls with two or more years of college work or its equivalent are eligible to enroll. They come from approximately fifty colleges and universities from all parts of the country and present what Director Nelson described as a "good cross-section of educational experience."

"On the whole," he asserted, "we find that college girls of today are very well balanced emotionally and socially, but English grammar is something they don't seem to have been concerned with since the days they were in the fifth, sixth or seventh grades."

English there made the core of the institute's curriculum, he added, but before the student begins to wrestle with the nouns, adjectives, pronouns and adverbs of her childhood days, she first undergoes a series of aptitude, interest and personality tests to determine in what field of business or the professions she would most likely succeed. The personality test is designed to tell whether the applicant is of the introvert type who could sit down and do a good job of research by herself, or an extrovert capable of meeting people in a job next to the top executive in a big concern.

County Board Votes to Keep All Officers

Supervisors Act on Damage Claims at Waupaca Session

Waupaca—The Waupaca county board which opened its fall session Tuesday morning has rejected all officers for another year. On the highway committee will be H. P. Lea, William Kramer and H. W. Wirth. P. O. Peterson will again be superintendent of the county farm and Mrs. Peterson the matron.

Hutch Johnson is to continue as pension administrator and the advisory committee remains the same. A. J. Perkins, Paul Rickett and A. G. Arnet. Paul Kluth will serve as trustee for three years on the asylum committee and Henry Habersat and Martin Steenbeck on the mediation board. Julius Frederickson will begin his eighteenth year as custodian of the courthouse and Mrs. William Sebald is again named to the child welfare committee.

Chairman L. W. Eastling stated "it is the fastest election I can recall" as in each instance the rules were suspended and the clerk directed to cast the ballot.

Referring to a claim for damages to property of A. N. Garrow of the town of Mukwa made by Mr. Garrow and his wife, District Attorney Paul Roman advised the board that unless such claims be made within thirty days following damages sustained, the statutes provide that a county board cannot act on the matter, cannot even consider it. The claim asserts the damages were caused by repairs and approaches made on a bridge in the town of Mukwa early in the summer and since the claim was not presented within the time required and there was no verification, the matter was dropped.

A claim filed by James Hanson of the town of Wyoming for damages amounting to $325 was carried into circuit court where settlement was made last Friday. Since there was no fund to charge the damages to, the bill was unpaid. In this instance the board suspended the rules and arranged to have the claim taken from the general fund. Hansen was injured when his car ran onto a rock on Highway G, near Big Falls on Nov. 23 1939. The car was wrecked and Hansen's arm and ribs were broken. He was incapacitated for six months.

The difficulty arose from the fact that two days later the rock was inadvertently moved two feet by a highway grader, the driver unaware that there had been an accident, or that claims had been filed. Judge H. J. Severson considered the matter of enough importance that he ordered the jury be taken to view the spot. He later suggested settlement and the cost to the county of $325 was agreed upon.

Thursday noon the supervisors were to have dinner at the county asylum upon invitation of Superintendent DeForest Hayward.

Claim Changes in Personnel Would Benefit Cut-Over Area

Post-Crescent, Madison Bureau—Contrary to the view expounded frequently by many persons and organizations interested in reforming local government organization in Wisconsin, a sub-committee of experts here today denied that consolidation of local governmental units would effect appreciable improvements in services or reductions in governmental costs.

The statement was made by a sub-committee of a survey organization created to study the problems of the cut-over counties of Wisconsin and to recommend rehabilitative measures to state and federal legislatures.

The committee concluded that: 1. "Increased efficiency in general administration can best be secured by choosing more efficient public officers. The officers chosen are a reflection of the people who elect them, and will be as good as these people, not much better, regardless of the system".

Change Wouldn't Help

1. "Changes of the forms of local government will not necessarily result in improvements of the substance. Therefore, it seems that the effort that will be necessary to expend in securing changes would be better spent in endeavoring to secure the best possible results from the present system".

The committee found that the cost of government in the "problem area" of Wisconsin, the 26 counties in northern Wisconsin which were once covered with timber but lost their natural wealth in the timber boom and have found nothing to replace fully the economic base of those days, is very little higher than that for the state as a whole.

"It does not seem that any very great reductions can be effected by increased efficiency in administration, which some think may result from changes in the form of government, or by consolidations of counties".

The committee also recommended that counties proceed to take title immediately to the millions of acres of chronically delinquent land in Wisconsin and to add them to the publicly administered forest areas for the development of future timber and forest resources in the state.

Dogs Love Moon

Danville, Va.—(4)—Residents here agree the hunter's moon is a lovely sight, but they wish their canine friends were less appreciative. Police have received scores of complaints this fall about baying dogs.

Waupaca—The Waupaca county board which opened its fall session Tuesday morning has rejected all officers for another year. On the highway committee will be H. P. Lea, William Kramer and H. W. Wirth. P. O. Peterson will again be superintendent of the county farm and Mrs. Peterson the matron.

Chairman L. W. Eastling stated "it is the fastest election I can recall" as in each instance the rules were suspended and the clerk directed to cast the ballot.

Referring to a claim for damages to property of A. N. Garrow of the town of Mukwa made by Mr. Garrow and his wife, District Attorney Paul Roman advised the board that unless such claims be made within thirty days following damages sustained, the statutes provide that a county board cannot act on the matter, cannot even consider it. The claim asserts the damages were caused by repairs and approaches made on a bridge in the town of Mukwa early in the summer and since the claim was not presented within the time required and there was no verification, the matter was dropped.

A claim filed by James Hanson of the town of Wyoming for damages amounting to $325 was carried into circuit court where settlement was made last Friday. Since there was no fund to charge the damages to, the bill was unpaid. In this instance the board suspended the rules and arranged to have the claim taken from the general fund. Hansen was injured when his car ran onto a rock on Highway G, near Big Falls on Nov. 23 1939. The car was wrecked and Hansen's arm and ribs were broken. He was incapacitated for six months.

The difficulty arose from the fact that two days later the rock was inadvertently moved two feet by a highway grader, the driver unaware that there had been an accident, or that claims had been filed. Judge H. J. Severson considered the matter of enough importance that he ordered the jury be taken to view the spot. He later suggested settlement and the cost to the county of $325 was agreed upon.

Thursday noon the supervisors were to have dinner at the county asylum upon invitation of Superintendent DeForest Hayward.

Oklahomans Claim Tall Tale Honors

Tulsa, Okla.—The Burlington, Wis., Liars' Club, which annually choose the world's champion prevaricator, has some competition now. The Liars of the Oklahoma village of Osage have challenged the Wisconsin story tellers to a "lie-telling session with no holds barred."

"To prove we rate in the championship class," says Glenn G. Cates, of the Osage team, "here's one of Osage kindergarten pupils:

"I was getting dinner one day when I accidentally dropped a very sharp knife. It cut our old cat's tail off up close, clean as a whistle. He looked so exposed and embarrassed that I decided to build him a new tail of wood. I threaded the tail stub and made matching threads on the wooden job and screwed it on. The cat looked proudly at it a moment and then scampered out into the yard.

"The next thing I saw was our old cat hiding behind a tree near which all the rats in the neighborhood passed. When the rat stuck his head out our cat would switch his tail and knock the rat dead."

"The next morning the cat had everything organized. He had another cat sitting on a fence as lookout, 16 cats dragging off the dead rats, 150 digging holes to bury them in and 25 more covering them up. A pussy was keeping score."

Auto Damaged When It Strikes Canal Bridge

A car driven by Roman Ciske, 24, route 1, Menasha, was damaged when it struck the canal bridge on S. Oneida street about 6 o'clock last night. Ciske was driving south at the time, according to a report given police.

Crooked Teeth Apt to Cause Many Ailments in Childhood

Madison — "Crooked teeth may interfere with normal digestion, affect eyesight and hearing, predispose to throat and sinus trouble, slow up school progress and frequently distort personality development," the state medical society said in a health bulletin today.

"The whole contour of a face depends on well spaced teeth. The child with only teeth buckles and frequently distorted personality development," the state medical society said in a health bulletin today.

"Several faulty habits contribute to the development of badly shaped mouths and teeth. Sucking the lower lip out, pushing the upper lip and teeth out, and drawing the lower lip in. This results eventually in malocclusion."

"Never place the baby on his face in the crib or allow him to suck a pacifier. Young bones are soft and easily distorted. Thumb-sucking, persisted in beyond the third or fourth year, pulls the upper teeth over the lower ones and produces the unhappy result known as buck teeth."

"Mouth breathing shortens the upper lip and makes the upper teeth project beyond the lower set. As a consequence, the nose is often from infancy to adulthood with present undeveloped except for the bridge. The possibility of adenoids should seldom be overlooked. Proper always be investigated and the of-home supervision and periodic vis-child becomes a chronic mouth breather.

"Until further research has disclosed more conclusive findings, it is safe to follow five general rules for preventing tooth decay:

1. Control of mouth acidity by limiting sweets and pastry carbohydrates that tend to adhere to the surface of the teeth with consequent decomposition.

2. Proper intake of vitamins A, C and D together with calcium and phosphorus.

3. Thorough chewing with enough hard food to provide exercise for the teeth. It is a mistake to give sieved and mashed foods exclusively to the baby, after the first teeth have erupted. The early production of zweiback stimulates circulation of the gums and exercises jaws and teeth.

4. Cultivate a happy frame of mind. It is interesting to note that high-strung, emotionally sensitive children show a greater predisposition to dental decay than more phlegmatic children. Perhaps this is because their nervousness has an inhibiting effect on digestive processes and affects metabolism. For this reason dentists caution against nagging children, allowing arguments to occur at mealtime, or permitting excitable children to listen to over-stimulating radio programs just before the dinner hour."

Children's Mistakes Are Laid to Parents

De Pere — "John W. Roach, chief of the state beverage tax division, asserted Tuesday night 'a lack of sympathetic understanding between parents and their children is responsible for many of the law violations committed by youths.'"

Addressing the Catholic Women's club, Roach said:

"The question of good citizenship causes us to reflect that many parents do not have the complete confidence of their children. The fault probably lies with the parents and this lack of mutual understanding sometimes causes the children to make mistakes which mar their lives."

Infant Dies

Hilbert — Joyce Margaret, five weeks' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Schmitt, died at 10:30 Tuesday morning, at their home, following a short illness. Survivors are the parents, one sister, Jean, and one brother, Arnold.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 Friday morning at St. Mary's church and burial will be in the parish cemetery. The Rev. Theodore Kolbe will conduct the services.

Wilsonian Is Given First Class Rating

The Wilsonian, student newspaper at Wilson Junior High school, has been awarded a first class rating by the All-American Critical Service of the National Scholastic Press association of Minneapolis. The previous year, the paper was given a third class rating.

Our poultry — will be picked from all high class poultry dealers. This poultry is dressed and drawing intestines (out). WE GUARANTEE THIS SALE! STOP IN AND ENTER OUR CONTEST, AND WIN THIS LARGE TURKEY!

When better poultry is raised HOPFENSBERGER BROS., INC. will sell it.

HOPFENSBERGER BROS., INC. have purchased the finest pen-fattened turkeys in the State for your Thanksgiving.

These Scientifically PEN FATTENED TURKEYS ARE Noted for Their Delicious Flavor

and have more percentage of meat and breast than the ordinary raised turkey.
In other words they have LESS SKIN, BONE AND FRAME, which of course gives a LARGER PERCENTAGE OF MEAT.

Because of the larger proportion of meat and less skin, bone and frame, the meat per pound will cost you less to serve than the ordinary turkey. Do not be misled by seemingly lower priced turkeys that have a larger percentage of skin, bone and frame. The reason that ordinary raised turkeys are big, bony and have large frames, is because most of them have to work and hunt for their daily food.

AFTER ALL YOU ARE INTERESTED IN HOW MUCH EATABLE MEAT IS ON THE TURKEY, WHEN SERVED AT THE TABLE.

These PEN FATTENED TURKEYS — like all other Hopfensberger Poultry are thoroughly dressed and drawn when killed. There is no gall left on the liver and all intestines are removed, which will eliminate the economical housewife's paying for waste which will be found on round dressed poultry with just the feathers off. REMEMBER the ROUND DRESSED TURKEY COST you MORE to SERVE, REGARDLESS OF THE PRICE you PURCHASE THEM AT.

In addition to our fancy turkeys we have also made a wonderful purchase on DUCKS, GEESE, CAPONS and CHICKENS, from farmers that specialize in fattening poultry. Therefore it will pay you to place your orders for your Thanksgiving Poultry NOW and be assured of the BEST SELECTION THAT CAN BE HAD.

New Jan Move

NEW JAP MOVE

Seen Against French Colony

Observers Believe Nippon Aiming at Full Occupation

Shanghai—(P)—Foreign circles pressed belief today that Japan was preparing for another move in the near future against French Indo-China, possibly ending the sovereignty of that French colony. Chinese newspapers commented that Japan was aiming at permanent occupation of all French Indo-China. Chinese reported new Japanese demands on the colony included the right to land troops at the southern port of Saigon, circulation of Chinese military yen throughout the country and "loans" of 500,000 China dollars a month to exports to Japan.

Foreign sources lacked information whether such demands had been presented but several developments did point to other Japanese move against China in the near future.

Already Have Bases
The Japanese already have air bases and other military

Foreign officials saw another immediate source of danger to China in the current tensions in Thailand (Siam). It was held that any serious clash between the two might be used as a Japanese pretext for landing troops and "storing order."

Thus squeezed by Thailand, the west and Japanese military and naval forces on the north coast, it was believed possible that China would surrender if

Some colonial leaders, including French movement of Charles de Gaulle, and were yielding to Japan, are gaining Saigon, but they lack the necessary to put up a serious fight.

Troops On Islands

In preparation for further Japanese forces have been treated at the islands of Hal-

Formosa since midsummer certainly have been enlarged by the addition of troops drawn from the South China province of Kwangsi and the Yangtze valley.

In addition, as far as is known there are some 15,000 troops from Kwangsi province at Haiphong, Indo-China province, 6,000 garrisoned there since the Sept. 22 agreement between Indo-China and Japan. Chinese newspaper reports

Enlarge Naval Base
Batavia, Netherlands East Indies.—The commander-in-chief of the Netherlands East Indies navy in a cryptic announcement said that enlargement of the base at the Soerabaja naval station on Java's northern coast, is complete and indicated that the base was large enough to accommodate

(The Netherlands' large ships are two 8,350-ton based in the East Indies. (The announcement indicate that accommodation capital ships at Soerabaja visited, although Britain no capital ships in the Orient.)

Legal Advice Bad, Plea of Prison Inmate

Tigerton Man Blames Troubles on Drinking And Faculty Counsel

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Edwin Dahlman, 29 year old former Tigerton resident now an inmate of the state prison at Waupun where he was sent upon conviction of forgery, told a strange story to the state pardon board which held hearings on applications for clemency in the state capitol today.

Dahlman formerly was a truck driver in Tigerton, then went to work as a collector for an Appleton credit clothier, and finally got a job in a Menasha industrial plant, when his troubles began.

According to the story told the board today, through an arrangement with his mother, both she and her son wrote checks on a single account in the mother's name. The son contributed a part of his earnings to the checking account, and checks with his signature had been honored over a period of several years.

But one evening after drinking, he told the board, he confused his accounts and cashed a check at a Menasha lunch-room in excess of the funds on deposit.
The bank turned the check over to the district attorney for collection. Dahlman saw a lawyer, who was unable to get the prosecutor to drop the charge of forgery which he filed, although the bank was willing to do so. Then, upon the advice of the lawyer, he pleaded alcoholism as the cause of the irregularity. He claimed that the attorney advised him that he would get a penalty of a 30 day commitment to an Oshkosh institution specializing in liquor cures, and that he consented to the plea to clear up his troubles in a hurry.

Without his knowledge, however, he told the board, the commitment papers specified the state hospital for the criminal insane at Waupun, where he was incarcerated for a month. And upon his release, he was brought into court at Oshkosh and again charged with forgery.
Then, again upon the advice of the attorney—who was described in the petition to Governor Heil as "youthful and inexperienced"—but against his own judgment, he pleaded guilty.

He was sentenced, last March, to serve one to two years in the state prison.

"Hullabaloo" Opens Saturday

OPENS AT APPLETON THEATRE FOR A FOUR DAY ENGAGEMENT

"Entertainment personally recommended for young and old" says Al Kopulos, manager.

Tune in on the Big Broadcast of F-U-N! Frank Morgan, Virginia Grey, Billie Burke, Dan Dailey, Jr., and Ann Morris, appearing in the new broadcasting comedy, "Hullabaloo," which opens at the Appleton Theatre, Saturday, Nov. 16. This hilarious comedy will run for four consecutive days.

LOCAL MERCHANTS JOIN IN MAKING MOVIE SUCCESS

Many local merchants join with the Appleton theatre and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in bringing to theatre patrons an advance test showing of "Hullabaloo" starring Frank Morgan, as the "Nut of the Air Waves." The decision to select Appleton was made by M-G-M executives after it was found that this locality was typically American and that local persons made up a good cross section of theatre patronage. Represented in this section are over 20 merchants ads filled with bargains and values for you to take advantage of. Also in these ads are many names taken at random from the city directory. If you find your name in one, come to Appleton Theatre Box Office and receive a free ticket to "Hullabaloo." These free tickets are given to you through the cooperation of the merchants ad where your name appears. The Appleton Theatre in bringing you this super musical comedy, continues in their policy of bringing you only the finest entertainment available. Remember read every ad in this tabloid as you may be one of the lucky ones to obtain a free ticket to the show of shows "Hullabaloo" featuring Frank Morgan and lovely Virginia Grey.

That Frank Morgan's secret ambition is to become a singer? He gets his first chance to warble for the film microphones as Frank Merriweather in "Hullabaloo."

job with a comfortable income makes for one of the most hilarious films to come from Hollywood in recent months. Romantic interest in the film centers about a triangle consisting of Dan Dailey, Jr., who last appeared in "Dulcy" with Ann Sothern, Virginia Grey, recently seen in "Golden Fleecing," and Ann Morris, remembered for her work in "The Women." The film also serves to introduce several promising newcomers. These include Kay St. Germaine, well-known to radio audiences, and Virginia O'Brien, who was featured in the hit coast show, "Meet the People," and who specializes in singing torch songs in a deadpan manner. Little Leni Lynn, youthful soprano, gets her first chance at a Hollywood singing role, and Charles Holland, Negro tenor, stops the performance with his rendition of an operatic aria. Others in the large cast include Nydia Westman, whose characterization of the heiress to a patent medicine fortune is responsible for many of the film laughs, Donald Meek, Reginald Owen, Curt Bois, Larry Nunn and Barnett Parker. The new comedy was directed by Edwin L. Marin.

"Hullabaloo" Establishes Record for "New Faces"

Virginia O'Brien, Charles Holland, Kay St. Germaine Among Talented Singers Seen on Screen for First Time in New Frank Morgan Comedy

The greatest list of newcomers to make their bow in a Hollywood production in months were brought together to appear in "Hullabaloo," coming to the Appleton theater Saturday for an engagement of four days.

Louis K. Sidney, formerly producer of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer radio show, "Good News," gathered these youngsters together, determined to give them a screen break in his initial motion picture production. From radio, Sidney chose the already popular Kay St. Germaine, who sings the current hit, "Handful of Stars," in one sequence of the production. Virginia O'Brien, dead-pan blues singer, hails from "Meet the People," the sensational stage show presented on the coast. Third on the list is Charles Holland, Negro tenor, who took the musical world by storm when he appeared on a Red Cross Benefit show last June.

In addition to these three are two youngsters whose screen appearances have been brief, and who are given new opportunities in this production. One is Leni Lynn, the little schoolgirl from Passaic, New Jersey, whose schoolmates donated their pennies to send her to Hollywood. Miss Lynn gets her first chance to sing in this film.

The other youngster is Larry Nunn, formerly of radio, who was introduced to screen audiences for the first time in "Strike Up the Band," starring Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland.

The cast of "Hullabaloo," in addition to these, includes Frank Morgan, Virginia Grey, Dan Dailey, Jr., Billie Burke, Nidia Westman, Ann Morris, Donald Meek, Reginald Owen and a long list of screen and radio favorites. The film was directed by Edwin L. Marin.

THE INSTALLATION OF A ----

GORDON DETOXIFIER

For the Treatment and Examination of Acute and Chronic Disorders

According to the Gordon instrument, and the system of examinations which is assisted by an x-ray of the colon, the causes of diseases manifest themselves through reflex pathology in specific areas of the colon. Every patient, who is examined and treated by this method is delighted with the accuracy of the system. Not only determining their symptoms and effects, but proving to them recognizable facts and preliminaries to the causes of their trouble. Authorities from all schools of healing contend that more than ninety per cent of all chronic diseases are directly traceable to the improper function of the colon; most frequent contributing cause of hyperacidity, high and low blood pressure, ulcers of the stomach, appendicitis, skin troubles, female disorders, prostatic disorders, rectal diseases, asthma, hay-fever, sciatica, rheumatism, lumbago, arthritis, as well as heart involvements and many other pathological conditions, too numerous to mention.

VISIT OUR NEW CLINIC

Visit our new clinic with larger quarters. We are proud to give Appleton a new type of clinic for the purpose of a system of diagnosis in colonic therapy. You will find all the latest equipment and nurse attendants at all times.

If you are suffering from any ailment you should avail yourself of the services of my health clinic, in which I have two trained technicians to assist in conducting the examination and treatment, so that I can give you the greatest possible assistance that one may secure.

As we can handle only a limited number of consultations and treatments per day, it is necessary that appointments be made in advance. I suggest that should you decide on an examination, be sure and make your appointments, as early as possible, as our time is being well filled.

M-G-M SCORES ANOTHER BIG HIT!

The Story of M-G-M's New Musical Comedy "Hullabaloo"

When Bob Strong (Dan Dailey, Jr.), professional golfer, champion, promises to marry Wilma Norton (Ann Morris), he discovers that she wants to make a business man of him. Her father, Arthur Norton (George Lessey), owner of a large broadcasting network, makes him vice-president. Bob's troubles start from the first day when he draws an assignment to think of a program idea for the Perkins Pill Co., owned by Clyde Perkins (Donald Meek), and his widowed and flirtatious sister-in-law, Lulu Perkins (Nydia Westman). However, on that first day, Bob meets Laura (Virginia Grey), anxious to get a radio tryout, and Frank Merriweather (Frank Morgan), impressed with his "one man show" act, Bob signs Merriweather for the Perkins' show. Merriweather, too much of an artist to spoil his broadcast with commercial announcements, gives late "tuner-inners" the impression that men from Saturn are attacking America. The sensation that ensues costs Merriweather his job. This makes Bob hopeful of getting fired, but Wilma, insisting that accidents will happen, foils his purpose. Merriweather, returning to his elaborate hotel suite which he hopes he'll be able to pay for, awaits his date with Lulu, which he hopes will lead to his marrying into the Perkins millions. Lulu appears and Merriweather proceeds to make love to her in the manner of her favorite movie star. The tete-a-tete is rudely interrupted by a knock on the door. In bursts Orlene (Connie Gilchrist), his divorced wife whom he hasn't seen in thirteen years. With her is Laura, who turns out to be Merriweather's daughter. Arlene has come to collect back alimony. There is another knock on the door. This time it is Sue (Sara Haden), Merriweather's second divorced wife, with her daughter Judy (Loni Lynn), also looking for alimony. Then Penny (Billie Burke) Merriweather's third divorced wife, shows up with her son Terry (Larry Nunn). Lulu faints. While the ex-wives wrangle, the kids, sensing their father is broke, decide it's their duty to find him a job. Laura goes to see Bob. He discovers that she shares his interest in golf. He tells her he is engaged to Wilma Norton and she accuses him of allowing Wilma to remodel him into a business man. The two make a date for dinner. Wilma, learning of the romance, arranges to have Laura kidnapped that evening. Her plan goes through and Bob jumps at the conclusion that Laura ran out on him. Perkins, more and more furious, threatens to tear up his radio contract. Then Bob prepares a symphonic hour, billed as "music as

"HULLABALOO" ONE MAN RADIO SHOW!

You Have to Keep Cool to Film a Panic

Mapping out a planned panic, showing a city street in confusion, automobiles rushing hither and thither and pedestrians running wildly to and fro, was one of the problems faced by Director Edwin L. Marin in filming the new Frank Morgan comedy, "Hullabaloo," coming to the Appleton Theater Saturday for an engagement of four days.

Although on the screen this "panic" has all the qualities of a spontaneous affair, great care was exercised in planning the route of each pedestrian and each wheeled vehicle in order to avoid danger of accidents.

In cases of this kind the director, assistant director and helpers get together with chalk and blackboard plan out the scene. These markings are then placed upon the sidewalk and street where the scene is to be filmed.

Crowd of 500 Extras
In "Hullabaloo" a crowd of 500, each individual coached in his particular role, was used. It took a crew of ten assistant directors to keep the "panic" in order. In spite of the intricacies of the shot, beforehand planning resulted in the entire scene being filmed in a single day and without mishap.

"Hullabaloo," the story of behind-the-scenes in radio, has a large cast headed by such favorites as Morgan, Virginia Grey, Dan Dailey, Jr., Billie Burke, Nydia Westman, Ann Morris, Donald Meek, Reginald Owen, Charles Holland, Lenu Lynn, Virginia O'Brien and a number of other popular screen and radio stars. The film was directed by Edwin L. Marin.

That Virginia O'Brien developed her dead-pan type of torch singing by accident? She was so frightened when she tried out for a role in "Meet The People" that she looked that way. They made her stick to it for regular performances.

Hit Revivals Of Yesteryear Feature Show

A collection of songs, ranging from popular to operatic, will be heard in the new Frank Morgan comedy, "Hullabaloo," opening Saturday at the Appleton Theater for an engagement of four days.

The songs include Stephen Foster's popular, "I Dream of Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair," sung as Foster intended it should be, by Lenu Lynn, and given a modern touch by the new torch-singing "find," Virginia O'Brien. Kay St. Germaine, radio favorite, sings the current hit, "A Handful of Stars." In the operatic department, Charles Holland, popular Negro tenor, sings an aria from "Pagliacci." Other numbers include the Ted Lewis specialty, "When My Baby Smiles at Me," and another hit of yesterday, "We've Come a Long Way Together."

"Hullabaloo," a story of behind-the-scenes in radio, has a cast including Morgan, Virginia Grey, Dan Dailey, Jr., Billie Burke, Nydia Westman, Ann Morris, Donald Meek and Reginald Owen.

Virginia Grey Dancing Again

Virginia Grey, who was discovered for the screen as a dancer, gets her first opportunity to dance before the cameras in "Hullabaloo." Miss Grey, a child star, left pictures to study dancing and for a time taught the art at a Hollywood theatrical school. She returned to the screen as one of the Glorified Girls in "The Great Ziegfeld."

Famous Negro Tenor Makes His Screen Debut in "Hullabaloo"

Charles Holland, famous Negro tenor who flashed across the musical horizon when he appeared over a national radio hookup for a Red Cross Benefit Show during June, 1940, makes his screen debut in "Hullabaloo." During the course of the production, Holland, in his role as a bellboy, sings two popular operatic arias. In this screen production he joins a cast including Frank Morgan, Virginia Grey, Dan Dailey, Jr., Billie Burke, Nydia Westman and a host of screen and radio favorites. The film was directed by Edwin L. Marin.

Off the Record

Billie Burke was born in Washington, D. C., on August 7th. The daughter of a famous English singing clown, William Burke, she followed him to the stage when she was fifteen. Her long and successful career stands as one of the most brilliant in the annals of the stage and screen. The widow of Florenz Ziegfeld, Miss Burke retired to devote her attention to their daughter, Patricia. After a period in retirement, however, she decided to resume her career and signed a long-term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.
